White House source of Agnew deal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House suggested the secret bargaining that resulted in Spiro T. Agnew's resignation as vice president and acceptance of a felony conviction, Attv. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson says.

President Nixon approved each major step in the negotiations, Richardson told a nationally televised news conference Thursday.

The plea bargaining was set in motion by White House counsel J. Fred Buzhardt, who telephoned Richardson to suggest he meet with Agnew's lawyers, the attorney general said.

Buzhardt did not indicate whether he was acting for the President, Richardson said. However, Nixon had been informed previously of the investigation of his vice president.

"The President was kept fully informed at all times," Richardson said. "He fully approved each of the major steps that were taken in the course of the negotiations."

Nixon was "concerned as all of us were with the potential consequences of a prolonged and agonizing trial of these issues of fact," Richardson said. The President set no limits on the bargaining, he said.

Richardson said that Nixon was told the substance of the allegations but asked not to be told the details because he felt it inappropriate.

"I wish to urge consideration and compassion. . . for the vice president who has rendered a high service by resigning and relieving the nation of a long and potentially disastrous period of anguish," Richardson said.

The attorney general spoke to reporters the day after Agnew resigned, pleaded no contest to income tax evasion and was placed on probation and fined $10,000.

The Justice Department agreed not to press other charges involving bribery and extortion as part of a deal for Agnew's resignation and no contest plea

However, a spokesman for the Internal Revenue Service said it is virtually certain IRS will file civil suits to try to collect Agnew's unpaid taxes.

The investigation of Agnew began as part of a federal grand jury probe into alleged political corruption in Maryland.

Richardson said U. S. Atty. George Beall in Baltimore decided on July 3 that the charges against Agnew were so serious that the attorney general must be told.

The bargaining between the Justice Department and Agnew's lawyers began after Buzhardt's telephone call in September. The negotiations broke down in failure, then resumed last Saturday and an agreement was reached Tuesday.

Nixon to name his choice tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon decided today on his choice of a successor to resigned Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and will reveal his selection in a television address to the nation at 9 p.m. CDT, the White House announced.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon reviewed potential candidates Thursday during an overnight stay at Camp David, Md., narrowed the list down to five, and made his final choice Friday morning.

The President will speak from the East Room of the White House before an audience of Congress members, the Cabinet, the Supreme Court, some agency heads and representatives of the diplomatic corps

Ziegler said Nixon intended to notify the vice presidential nominee "shortly before his address to the nation."

Connally's office in Houston refused to confirm or deny the report.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott returned to the Capitol from a 40-minute meeting with Nixon and said he anticipated a mid-day announcement on an Agnew successor

Asked whether House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford would be the nominee, Scott said "Watch my head," and then shook his head no

Shortly after returning from an overnight stay at Camp David, Md. Nixon called Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and House GOP Leader Gerald Ford of Michigan to his office

The White House said Nixon wanted to discuss the procedures to be followed in the Senate and House in handling the nomination, which requires majority approval by both bodies

Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson also was a morning visitor to the White House, but a spokesman said he was not seeing Nixon

Rejecting the notion he must name a "caretaker" vice president, Nixon was said by sources to have narrowed substantially the list of possible Agnew replacements

There are no precedents for putting the 25th operation the untried machinery of the 25th Amendment for replacing a vice president and Senate leaders had no pressing for joint hearings

But after a conference between Speaker Carl Albert, House Republican Leader Gerald Ford and other leaders from both parties, it was decided [illegible]

Conferees agree on weapons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate-House conferees have dropped specific overseas troop reductions from a $21.3-billion compromise weapons authorization bill.

A Senate-approved amendment to reduce overseas forces by 40,000 by next June 30 and by 110,000 by Dec. 31, 1975, was eliminated from the final version of the annual military procurement legislation.

Retained was a reduction in U.S. forces in Europe by the percentages, if any, by which U.S. NATO allies fail to offset balance of payments trade deficits with the United States.

The bill now goes back to both houses for final action on the compromise.

The bill's $21.3 billion total is only $600 million less than requested in President Nixon's budget for weapons systems research, development and procurement.

It provides $1.1 billion for military aid to non-U.S. forces in South Vietnam and Laos, and bans any aid to North Vietnam.

In setting the annual military manpower ceiling, the bill would require by June 30, 1974, cutting 43,000 men from the 2,233,000 budgeted overall active strength of the armed services. The Senate earlier had voted for a 156,100-man cut; the House had proposed a 13,000 reduction.

In major weapons decisions, the conference committee:

—Restored $75 million of the $100 million cut by the Senate from the administration's $473.5 million research and development request for the B1 bomber.

—Restored $330 million cut by the House from a $918.5 million procurement request for the F15 fighter.

—Restored $29.3 million cut by the Senate from advance procurement authorization for the Navy's sea control ships.

—Approved a $70.1 million Senate authorization for additional procurement of the A70 attack plane.

—Denied $30 million in procurement authorization for the A10 attack plane and increased research authorization by $15 million.

The Navy's accelerated development schedule for the Trident submarine and new long range missile, involving $1.5 billio this year, was approved earlier by both the House and Senate and was not at issue in the conference.

Soviets walked tightrope

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger today said while the Soviet Union has not been entirely helpful during the Middle East war, it has not acted with such irresponsibility as to endanger the world detente.

In a 50-minute news conference Kissinger also indicated that the Russian attitude concerning support of the Arabs does not now warrant shipments of major U.S. arms such as tanks and planes to Israel.

He said that if the Soviets should act in a manner deemed irresponsible by the United States, the Nixon administration would take appropriate steps. He declined to detail what this might mean.

What he did say was: "When we make a judgment that (Soviet) activities are irresponsible, we will make" the U.S. response clear.

In other matters discussed at his first news conference in Washington as secretary of state, Kissinger also said the pace of discussions with Western Europe over declarations of principle for security and economic matters is continuing at an acceptable pace.

He said that he expected conclusion of the declarations "within a reasonable time."

Discussions continued into this morning at the White House, State Department and the Pentagon on the issue of providing major American arms to replace Israel's losses.

By late Thursday night, it was learned, the only action taken had been the drafting of contingency plans for transfering planes and tanks to Israel.

One such possibility involved moving U.S. Air Force F-4 Phantom jets to Israel from American bases in Europe. These would be replaced by planes being produced in the United States.

While these contingency plans awaited a final decision, preparations were made to send Israel tons of ammunition as a "quick fix" after it was determined the first six days of fighting had reduced stockpiles to serious but not extremely dangerous levels.

Some officials said sending the shells now also was a response to the continuing shipment of Russian equipment to Egypt and Syria.

The Soviets, Pentagon sources said, had flown at least 80 AN-12 Cub transport planes to Syria carrying antiaircraft missiles, antitank rockets and other arms.

The shipments to Egypt were fewer, the sources say.

No official would discuss the matter publicly.

Israeli jets hit Syrians

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israel claimed its tank forces backed by warplanes smashed forward inside Syria today as Jewish civilians reoccupied all but one of their settlements in the war-pocked Golan Heights.

The Egyptian command reported its Soviet-supplied jets blasted two Israeli command posts and two radar stations in the Sinai while Egyptian naval forces in the Gulf of Suez destroyed an entire Israeli flotilla.

Neither side reported heavy tank action in the Sinai Desert but Israel said artillery duels resumed at dawn. Egypt claimed its forces were digging in to stay on the eastern bank of the Suez Canal.

Syrian communiques claimed fierce tank battles raged "along the entire front line" but did not pinpoint where the battles were taking place. Israel claimed Thursday night its forces had punched six miles beyond the cease-fire lines, drawn when Israel seized the Golan Heights in the 1967 war, and were battling down the road to Damascus.

Damascus reported Israeli jets were strafing and bombing deep in Syria and claimed a dozen raiding warplanes were shot down in the Damascus area alone. Intelligence sources in Washington expressed belief that the Syrian kill claims were bloated.

The Israeli state radio reported that civilians returned to 26 of the 27 Golan settlements evacuated when hostilities erupted Saturday in the 1,250square-mile area in Israel's northeast corner.

The tank forces were "continuing to smash their way forward," the broadcast said, without saying how far they had advanced.

Israel claimed Thursday that its tanks had crossed the Golan Heights cease fire line with Syria and moved six miles down the road to Damascus.

"Israeli forces in the Golan Heights took up their initiative of attack from yesterday," the first Israeli communique of the day said. "The Israeli air force this morning resumed its extensive support for the land forces."

Israel said nothing about the dawn position of its armored force, resistance by the Syrians or how far the Israelis planned to push toward the Syrian capital, which is 40 miles north of the 1967 cease-fire line.

Syrian communiques ignored the claims of Israeli advances, saying only that ground fighting resumed at the "front line" while its jet fighters and antiaircraft batteries shot down six Israeli planes between 6:30 and 7:10 a.m.

Gen. Haim Herzog, the Israeli state radio's authoritative military commentator, said Thursday night that there remained between the Israelis and Damascus two Syrian defense lines and a "bristling" military complex around Qatana, 16 miles southeast of the city.

As the fourth Arab-Israeli war went into its seventh day, Israel claimed that its missile boats sank two Syrian boats in a battle at the approaches to Tartus, on the Syrian coast. The Israelis said all their boats returned safely.

Syria claimed that its boats sank three Israeli boats and its air defense brought down an Israeli helicopter.

At the United Nations, the Security Council resumed its Middle East debate Thursday night after Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim urged the deadlocked body to do something to end the fighting.

Agnew case mishandled says Clark

DALLAS (AP) — Former U.S. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark has criticized Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson's handling of charges against former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

Clark suggested in a speech to students at Dallas County Junior College on Thursday that Agnew bartered the nation's second highest office to stay out of jail.

The former Lyndon B. Johnson administration official called Richardson's recommendation for leniency an unprecedented move. He noted that U.S Dist. Court Judge Walter Hoffman said he would have assessed Agnew a prison term had Richardson not asked otherwise.

Clark said people should be sad for the nation, for Agnew and Agnew's family because of the former vice president's conviction on a charge of income tax evasion.

"But can we only give compassion to people who have known power and fame?" he asked.

Calling greed "probably the greatest affliction of this country," Clark asked "What does it mean when the President of the United States made $200,000 a year from the taxpayers and so arranges his tax return that he pays $810 in taxes one year and $700 another?"

He said former President Harry S Truman gave his presidential papers to the United States because he thought the papers belonged to the people, while Nixon gave his nine-years-as-vice president papers to the people for a couple of hundred thousand dollars in tax deductions."

Kidnapers bargain for release of 51 prisoners

MEXICO CITY (AP) —The kidnapers of an honorary British consul and a wealthy industrialist have demanded $200,000 ransom and safe conduct to North Korea for 51 prisoners in exchange for the hostages' freedom.

There was no immediate response from the government.

In a note to a local television station, a group calling itself the "23 of September Communist League" said Mexican-born British honorary consul Anthony Duncan Williams and industrialist Fernando Aranguren "have been condemned to death" if the demands are not met.

The communique, left Thursday night, set a deadline of 4 p.m. —5 p.m. DCT — today and demanded that the prisoners and money be delivered to the Guadalajara airport 400 miles northwest of the capitalm

Williams and Aranguren were kidnaped Wednesday in different parts of Guadalajara.

Williams' family said his wife received a handwritten message from him late Thursda saying he had been treated well. "I don't believe we will have problems as long as we comply with the wishes of these men," the note said.

The kidnapers also demanded publication on front pages of newspapers and on radio and television broadcasts of a "call to the nation" which they said they would supply.

The communique said a representative of the Cuban Embassy should witness the release of the prisoners, who were said to be in nine jails across the country. The representative is also to certify payment of the ransom and insure that a government representative accompanies the prisoners to Pyongyang, the North Korean capital.

When their arrival in North Korea is confirmed by radio and television, the kidnapers said, the two hostages will be freed.

The demands were similar to those made by kidnapers of U.S. Consul Terrance G. Leonhardy in Guadalajara last May. In that case, the kidnapers demanded and received $80,000 and the release of 30 prisoners who were flown to Cuba. Police later announced the abductors' capture.

'Plumber' Krogh first to be indicted by grand jury in probe of Watergate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The wide-ranging investigation of the special Watergate prosecutor has produced its first indictment — a charge that the former boss of the White House plumbers lied to the original Watergate grand jury.

In a proceeding that lasted barely a minute Thursday before U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica, a grand jury delivered an indictment against Egil Krogh Jr. It charged that on Aug. 28, 1972, Krogh lied under oath when asked about the activities of E. Howard Hunt and G. Gordon Liddy. Krogh, 34, did not appear in court. A spokesman for the prosecutor's office said he probably will be arraigned next week.

Meanwhile, on Capitol Hill, the Senate Watergate committee was told by Frank Mankiewicz, political director of Sen. George McGovern's 1972 presidential campaign, that Republican dirty tricks created "an unparalleled atmosphere of rancor and discord within the Democratic Party."

After hearing Mankiewicz and Rick Stearns, another former McGovern campaign aide, the committee recessed until Oct. 30, when it will continue its probe of political espionage during the 1972 campaign.

Mankiewicz said the purpose of the GOP sabotage effort appeared to be to "create within the Democratic Party such a strong sense of resentment among the candidates and their followers as to make unity of the party impossible once a nominee was selected."

The staff of special prosecutor Archibald Cox has been presenting evidence on the activities of the so-called plumbers unit to a special grand jury empaneled last Aug. 13

Krogh has pleaded innocent to charges of burglary and conspiracy, returned on Sept. 4, by a Los Angeles County grand jury that investigated the break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist

The federal indictment returned Thursday said that Krogh was called before the grand jury investigating the break-in at Democratic National committee headquarters and asked about the activities of Hunt and Liddy while they were on the White House staff

Krogh was their immediate supervisor

A government memorandum released at the Pentagon Papers trial discloses that Hunt and Liddy had engineered the September 1971, break-in at the office of Dr. Lewis Fielding, Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

The new indictment said that Krogh was asked if Hunt and Liddy had made any trips to California while on the White House staff

It quoted Krogh as saying Hunt had made none and that Liddy had made only one, which was to inspect "some customs matters" related to narcotics enforcement

Each of the two counts in the indictment carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

A bill went to Congress Thursday to authorize the court to extend the term of the original Watergate grand jury for up to one year if it needs the extra time to complete its business.

In a letter to House Speaker Carl Albert, Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson noted that the grand jury's 18-month term expires Dec. 5, and can be extended only by Congress.

Paperweight curio is imbedded spool

BY CAPPY DICK

A spool of thread that appears to be imbedded in a solid rock is an illusion any boy or girl can make. Today's fun project directions tell how to do it.

The first step is to find a flat stone. Wash it to remove any particles of sand or soil.

Next, cut an empty thread spool in half. Do this with a saw after locking the spool securely in a vise.

The third step requires some painstaking effort. You must glue half turns of thread to the halves of the spool (Figure 2), creating the impression on each half that thread was wrapped around a whole spool. Incidentally, only one half of a spool is needed to form one rock "imbedment." The second half can be used for a duplicate "imbedment."

When the glued threads have dried, trim off any straggling ends of thread, then glue the spool to the flat surface of the rock as shown in Figure 1. This completes the project.

Temporarily, store it with decorations in hearty wrapping paper.

Nearly as many afghans as years

Emma Klausner, a resident of Family Heritage Home, Neenah, will mark her 96th birthday this December. A lifelong resident of Neenah, she recently completed her 89th afghan, quite a record for the nonogenarian.

A judge in Grays Harbor, Wash., made a decision recently that won't bring smiles to the faces of distaffers. Superior Court Judge John W. Schumacher ruled that the three Wishkah Valley High School girls who turned out for their school's football team can be barred from league play.

There has been a craze developing recently for building with beer cans. This past summer one couple returned from vacation to find the entire front of their home covered with the offbeat decorating material. Even more unusual, perhaps, is the home of one Rocky Junior Esquire, a dog belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Tim Buntin of Nashville, Tenn. His dog-sized house is completely made of the cans. But Rocky is used to the unusual. He was born on a houseboat.

Past presidents honored by VFW Auxiliary

The 25th anniversary of the Past Presidents Club was marked when members of the VFW Auxiliary met Tuesday at the clubhouse. All past presidents took over as officers for the evening and the history of the organization was read by Mrs. Clare Peske.

The Ladies Auxiliary to Harvey Pierre Post was begun in 1935 with 47 charter members. Rose Brown was the first president.

The Past Presidents Club was organized in October of 1948 at the home of Trudy Hoffman who was then Auxiliary president. Thirty of the 37 past presidents are still living.

As a president completes her year with the auxiliary she is taken into the club with some little said when the club meets in spring.

It was announced during Tuesday's meeting that the Chicken Bar B Q will be from 11 a.m. through 6 p.m. Oct. 28 at the clubhouse. Open to the public, the event is chaired by William Merkel and Ed Sloane.

Veterans Day will be celebrated with a 6:30 p.m. dinner and a dance Nov. 10 at the clubhouse.

The annual bazaar will be Nov. 14 with luncheon served from 11:30 to 1 p.m. Mrs. Ed Sloane is chairman of this event which is open to the public.

A flag was donated by the auxiliary to Xavier High School.

Members are urged to save coupons for Southern and Northern colonies.

Fifteen members attended the King Birthday Party during which time games were played and lunch served.

Past Presidents Club will meet at 8 p.m. Thursday at the home of Mrs. Walter Vandertie.

Items will be accepted until early in November and Mrs. Marzani will pick up donations which cannot be delivered.

Named to a committee to plan a Nov. 29 Christmas party at the Hyland House were Mrs. William Koch, Mrs. Sophia Kuehl, Mrs. Stuart Black and Mrs. Fred Mason with party reservations to be made to the latter.

Serving as hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Herbert Fassbender and Blanche Gerend.

BPW, NSA to hear Hicklin

Dr. Fannie Hicklin, a professor at the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater (UWW), will address a joint meeting of Appleton Business and Professional Women's Club Fox Valley Chapter National Secretaries Association. The meeting will include dinner at 6:30 p.m. preceded by a 6 p.m. cocktail hour at the Embassy Motor Lodge.

Dr. Hicklin will speak on "Extra Social Perception." A graduate of Taliadega College with a major in modern languages, she received her M.A. from the University of Michigan in speech and her Ph.D., from the University of Wisconsin in speech with emphasis on the theatre. She has studied at Hampton Institute, Cornell University and has done post-doctoral study at UW.

A high school teacher in Mississippi and South Carolina, she has taught at Tuskegee Institute, Alabama A and M University and UW. At UWW, she is a professor of theatre and speech communication. Besides directing plays and Readers' Theatre, she also has directed for the past seven years children's plays that have been taken on tour into elementary schools in southern Wisconsin and northern Illinois.

The Fred Fellowship at UW was awarded to her in 1962-63. She was named distinguished teacher of the year at UWW in 1970, the first woman to receive this award.

Chinese fare to be menu at dinner, theatre party

Mrs. Lowell Peterson will be the chef behind the dinner theatre party planned for 7 p.m. Oct. 27, in the fellowship hall of Memorial Presbyterian Church.

"A Haugner Musical Production," the evening's musical offering, will be directed by Mr. and Mrs. John Haugner and will feature Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Orbison, Julie Haugner, Ralph Buesing, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Jacobs and Mrs. Dan Sparks.

Mrs. Peterson learned the art of Chinese cooking while she and her husband lived in Okinawa. Entrees will include spring rolls, chicken-almond and pork sweet sour.

Sponsored by United Presbyterian Women, the event is under the chairmanship of Mrs. Dale G. Williams. Serving on the committee are Mrs. Carl Schroeder, ticket sales; Mrs. Jack Rudolph, decorations, Mrs. Francis Conrad, posters; Mrs. Leigh Hill, set up; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ester, publicity, and the Couples' Club, servers.

When Seuqitna chapter of the Questers met Monday evening, the program revolved around Johnny Appleseed. A film and a display prompted discussion of old carnival glass with appie pattern.

The group voted to purchase and designate planting of a tree from the City's Applefest program.

The chapter also approved a contribution to Winnebago Mental Health Institute where a museum will be opened next summer.

Old pewter, lamps and quilts are program topics for upcoming meetings.

The November meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Edward Deschler Jr.

Bicycle tips for parents

The bicycle boom is on. For the last couple of years bicycle manufacturers have had a hard time making enough bikes to meet demand. Everybody's riding — kids, teens and parents. And it's money well spent. Kids need the exercise, and it gives them inducements to get out of doors and away from their TV sets. The same is true of adults.

But their child's first bicycle poses a problem for many parents. How are the kids going to learn to ride? For a few extra dollars, they mistakenly believe, they can accessorize their kids' new bike with "training wheels." They suppose that their little boys and girls will learn to ride without ever falling off or skinning their knees. But this is a wrong notion. It takes children longer to ride with training wheels than without. Of course they will learn eventually. But training wheels are no help. They're a hindrance. They give your child a false sense of security. As long as they are attached to the bike, he'll fail to develop a proper sense of balance. He won't really learn to ride his bicycle till you take them off.

If you want your child to learn to ride quickly and well, run behind him, on a quiet play street or in an empty playground, holding onto the back of his saddle. After a few times he'll get the idea and will learn to balance. Then let him try by himself. He may fall off once or twice. He is not likely to damage himself severely. But he will develop a healthy respect for his new machine. If he's not old enough to learn to ride, don't give a him a bicycle. Get him a tricycle.

The following are basic rules you should teach your child along with his riding lessons:

1. Obey all traffic signs, rules, and lights.
2. Stay far to the right of the center of the road. Never ride against traffic or on the left side of the road.
3. Use proper hand signals for stopping and making turns. They are identical to those used by motorists.
4. Stop for pedestrians. They have the right of way.
5. Never give another child a "ride" on your bicycle.
6. Never "tailgate" and ride close behind a car, bus, or truck.
7. Ride single file, when riding with a friend. Never ride side by side.
8. Don't weave in and out of traffic. No stunt riding.
9. Carry books and bundles in a basket attached to your bike and not under your arm.
10. Walk your bike across busy intersections.
11. Keep both hands on handlebars.
12. Maintain and oil your bike regularly. Check air in tires, check your bell, brakes, chains, spokes, lights and rear guard reflectors. Learn how to fix a punctured tire.

How safe is your child? Protect him or her with the tips included in my booklet, "Safety Rules for Parents and Children." For your copy, send 20 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope to Arnold Arnold, Dept. B, c/o The Post-Crescent.

Methodist women assemble

Six area women have returned from Cincinnati, Ohio, where they attended the First National Assembly of United Methodist Women. Over 8,000 women gathered to celebrate the establishing of their new organization. They were joined by many visitors from overseas United Methodist churches.

Theme was "Many Gifts, One Spirit," which was evidenced in the varied experiences offered ranging from a televised Bible study received in hotel rooms to the mass Communion service shared Sunday morning.

The program included drama, liturgy, song — many of which had been composed especially for the occasion — dance, in-depth discussion groups, opportunities for dialogue with missionaries and nationals from around the world.

Bible study, an evening of celebration and an ecumenical day when hundreds of persons from other denominations joined the group for dialogue were also included.

Those attending from the area were Mrs. Vernon Tubbs, Seymour; Mrs. Erwin Wickstrom, Wittenburg; Mrs. Marvin Schroeder, Greenville; Mrs. Edward Krueger and Mrs. Tom Rannells, Appleton, and Mrs. Irene Armstrong, Neenah.

Smet-Dakins

SHERWOOD — Patricia Ann Smet became the bride of Dennis Dean Dakins Thursday during a wedding celebration at Sacred Heart Catholic Church. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Smet, route 1, Menasha, and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dakins, route 4, Kaukauna.

Matron of honor Mrs. Robert Schaefer, Kaukauna, was accompanied by Ginny Killian, Mary Jo Smet, Mrs. Norman Van Wychen and Sandra Smet, bridesmaids.

Robert Schaefer, Kaukauna, was best man. Completing the bridal party were Ray Blair, Robert Dakins, Ray Gruenstern, Dave Gerow, Joseph Smet and Mark De Broux.

The former Miss Smet is employed at Zwicker Knitting Mills, Appleton. Her husband is with Combined Locks Paper Mill, Combined Locks. They will make their home in Kaukauna.

Hendricks-Spotts

OSHKOSH — Newman Center Chapel at the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh (UWO) was the setting for the recent wedding of Helen Marie Hendricks and Kent Thomas Spotts.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Harwood Hendricks, 316 Francis St., Brillion, and Mr. and Mrs. William Spotts, route 1, Reedsville.

Honor attendants, Paula Hendricks and Gary Spotts, were accompanied by John Hendricks and Dennis Spotts.

The new Mrs. Spotts is attending UWO where she is majoring in commercial art. Her husband is a musician in Zackary.

Declarer is duped by brilliant discard

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

How good were the players of yesteryear? Some of them were pretty hot stuff, judging from the records that have survived. About 40 years ago, for example, Hans Jellinek and Karl Schneider of Austria were the most feared combination in Europe. With good reason, as we can see from this Jellinek exploit.

Opening lead — ♠ Q

West opened the queen of spades, and dummy won with the ace. Declarer returned the singleton club from dummy, and Jellinek played the ace of clubs from the East hand.

Jellinek returned his remaining spade, and South won with the king. Declarer cashed the king of clubs in order to get rid of dummy's last spade. Then, heaving a sigh of relief, he led his own last spade and ruffed in dummy.

Jellinek calmly overruffed with the king of trumps! That's right, not the jack, but the king.

He then returned a trump and sat back. South naturally supposed that West held the jack of diamonds. He led out the ace and queen of diamonds and thought that West was revoking when he discarded a spade on the second round of trumps.

South makes the contract if East overruffs normally with the jack of diamonds. Declarer must finesse through East for the king of diamonds, and ordinary care is enough to see him through.

For example, suppose East ruffs the third spade with the jack of diamonds and returns a club to make dummy ruff. Declarer leads the ten of trumps from dummy for a finesse. Then he takes the top hearts and ruffs a heart. Next he ruffs his last club with dummy's last trump. This puts the lead in dummy at the twelfth trick and East's two last trumps are caught in the middle.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes. You hold: S- A 6 4 H- K 10 7 5 4 D- 10 9 8 7 C- 3. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid four hearts. The jump to game shows at least four trumps, a singleton or void suit and not more than nine points in high cards — good offensive strength but poor defense and poor support for a slam.

Farm Progress Days

It's time to start thinking metric

BY EDITH BOCK
Post-Crescent staff writer

FOND DU LAC — Get a head start. Look for metric weights and measures in the market, on canned and packaged foods, patterns, and measuring equipment such as cups, tapes and meter sticks, was the advice to homemakers Thursday at Farm Progress Days near here.

"Start thinking metric as you work with foods, patterns and materials. Get and use some of the new metric equipment," Louise Young, University of Wisconsin Extension professor of home management, urged.

Metrification isn't going to be all that difficult, she maintained. "It's much simpler than our present system of measure. It makes international trade and travel easier for us. There is some cost connected with the changeover, but it will be less expensive in the long run."

Miss Young said Congress had been expected to pass a bill making the metric system "predominate but not exclusive," within the next two months.

The resignation Wednesday of Vice President Agnew, she said, may delay action, "but people are moving to get a head start."

Counting metric uses already familiar to Americans, Miss Young listed foreign cars tooled up in the metric system and news that General Motors and Ford are preparing some of their plants. Camera lenses and film sizes are in metric measures. The Olympic track courses and swimming pools come in metric units. Prescription drugs and many diets are in metric units. Dress patterns and many food labels both provide systems.

Basic information for easy personal use, Miss Young said, is the relationship between customary measures and the four metric units. "Learn the metric prefixes later."

A meter, basic unit for length, is a little more than a yard, actually 1.1 yards or 3 3 feet.

For volume, the basic metric unit is the liter, a little larger than the quart, and the milliliter is about 1/5 of a teaspoon.

"We're anxious to have a standard cup with decmalized units for easier measuring," Young explained. She said the customary cup measures 237 milliliters but that a 250 milliliter cup has been recommended. The 13 milliliter difference isn't likely to ruin a recipe, she said. "How carefully do you measure anyway? Cooking isn't all that precise."

The average cake recipe using the 250 milliliter cup will result in about one-fourth cup more batter, she said.

The gram, about .035 of an ounce, is the basic metric unit for mass and weight, but the kilogram, about 2 2 pounds, is the more familiar unit.

Temperatures are expressed in degrees celsius, the familiar centigrade, with the scale running from zero to 100, freezing to boiling.

"You'll have a handy conversion table to use with your range. Bake at 177 or 180 will be 350 degrees on the range temperature setting."

U.S. cooks and homemakers measure ingredients. Europeans do more weighing, Young said. But the change to metric isn't expected to affect the U.S. habit much. It won't mean throwing out old recipes, cookbooks and cooking utensils.

The American National Standards Institute in cooperation with the American Home Economics Association has developed a set of standard quantities and sizes for measures and for cooking and baking utensils. They will make the transition easy, said Young.

She won her audience Thursday by inquiring the kilometers per hour they traveled to get to Farm Progress Days on the Tom Dooley farm, west of Fond du Lac.

The question brought a laugh. Rain on Wednesday resulted in mud on Thursday that closed some parking areas and forced incoming traffic to a crawl. The three-quarter mile trip from the highway to the grounds took 40 minutes at mid-morning.

Despite the traffic back-up, however, people bound for Farm Progress Days kept coming. Well over 100,000 were expected to have visited the grounds, viewed the exhibits and attended special programs by the time the grounds closed Thursday afternoon.

Ann Landers

Set rules at your house

Dear Ann Landers: I am a nervous wreck because of my husband's three young children. Thank God their mother will let us have them only one month out of the year.

The boys are eight and nine, the girl is five. They are permitted to run wild at home—no hours for sleeping or even eating. They snack all day and when mealtime comes they aren't hungry. I get upset when they nibble at a lamb chop and take one bite out of a steak and leave it. With the price of meat today it drives me crazy.

My husband says we can't retrain these kids and we shouldn't try. But, Ann, the fighting and yelling and eating habits are taking years off my life, even if they stay only a month. Any suggestions?—Wrecksville

Dear W.: Your husband's attitude is a cop-out dear. Those kids are old enough to understand English. Tell them what the rules are in your house and insist that they abide by them. And don't be surprised if they like the new setup. Discipline is a special kind of love.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have a retirement home we started long ago for this place and [illegible]

Dear Ann Landers: The man I went with for two years and devoted my whole life to, told me last night that he wants his ring back and he'd "see me around."

This is the second time it has happened and it's all because of his cousin. She was in several of my classes in high school and we never got along. She has been undercutting me with Vic at every turn. Last year she told Vic some vicious lies about me and created real trouble between me and Vic's mother. He took a ring back then and I nearly had a nervous breakdown. We patched it up and all was going well. The wedding date was set for Christmas, and then his cousin started up her old tricks again. Last night he said, "Either you are lying or she is, and I think it's you." Please, Ann, help me get him back. I can't face my friends and family with the news that I've been dumped a second time.—Crying My Eyes Out

Dear Eyes: You need this guy like a giraffe needs a strep throat. A man who has so little confidence in you would make a rotten husband. Put your eyes back in your head and look elsewhere.

Is alcoholism ruining your life? Know the danger signals and what to do. Read the booklet "Alcoholism—Hope And Help," by Ann Landers. Enclose 35 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to P.O. Box 3346, Chicago, Ill. 60654.

Planks hold soil around base of trees

When the original grade of a lot is changed for house construction or landscaping, the ground level around the base of retained trees should be maintained to assure adequate air and nutrient supply.

Either a raised bed or a well can be built around the trunk. Two two by six or two by eight-inch planks of western wood, depending on depth, are set on four four by four-inch posts.

Even if western cedar or other decay resistant lumber is used, the wood should be preservative-treated because of continued contact with moisture.

Flavor trick

Chicken bouillon used instead of water when cooking rice gives savory flavor to the dish. Just enough difference to turn an ordinary dish into an exciting one.

Indians want own police

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Wisconsin Indians may seek to form their own police forces and courts because they are dissatisfied with law enforcement administered by the state and counties, the Wisconsin Council on Criminal Justice was told Wednesday.

Jon A. McCluskey, an Indian criminal justice planner for the council, said that while Wisconsin has taken over law enforcement on Indian lands under federal law, the Great Lakes Tribal Council has said it will support any tribe that wishes to take over its own law enforcement.

He said that if Wisconsin is asked to stop its policing on Indian lands, jurisidiction would go to the federal government which could allow the Indians to undertake their own enforcement.

McCluskey said widespread concern exists among Wisconsin Indians over "lack of sensitivity of white police officers" toward them. He also said reservations usually are at least half an hour travel time removed from county or local police help.

McCluskey also said differences in interpreting treaty rights have led to "explosive" relations between Indians and Department of Natural Resources (DNR) officials.

"The Indian communities fully assume that they ought to have total hunting and fishing rights and control over Indian lands," he said. "The DNR finds this attitude totally unacceptable. The result is an explosive atmosphere."

Marinette official charged with keeping copy machine funds

MARINETTE, Wis. (AP) — Roy H. Willmann, 57, Marinette County register of deeds, was charged Monday with embezzling more than $500 in fees collected from the public for use of the copy machine in his office.

Willmann, who had held office since January, 1951, resigned Monday as register of deeds and county abstractor.

He was bound over for arraignment in Circuit Court Oct. 19.

The county installed the machine in his office in 1968 and set a fee of 10 cents per copy for its use by the public.

The charge alleged that Willmann had kept all the fees since the middle of 1968.

Assessment cuts almost $1 million

BY FRANK CHURCH
Post-Crescent staff writer

The tax assessments on a total of 58 Appleton properties were lowered $998,325 by the board of review this week. City Clerk Elden Broehm called it a record.

A total of 72 objections were filed before and while the board was holding hearings this week, after City Assessor George Schwarzbauer had finished with the first of a three-year program to reassess the entire city.

"I'm very gratified the whole thing went as smoothly as it did," said the assessor, relaxing today after the board sessions were wrapped up Thursday.

The dollar value of assessment reductions cannot be compared with previous years, the assessor advised, because all city property is being assessed at full value this year, compared with the 38.4 per cent of full value assessed last year.

Old valuations of properties that weren't reassessed this year — roughly one-third of the city — were multiplied by 2.7027 to bring to them up to at least theoretical full value.

"Up until this year, a lot of people weren't aware that they might have been over-assessed in the past," said Schwarzbauer.

In other words, when taxpayers read that their properties were valued at only a fraction of their market values, it didn't have the impact that the full value figures have now.

Schwarzbauer said he expects the city will be "loaded with taxpayer protests" when tax bills are mailed out this year and taxpayers read their full value assessments.

With the reductions, the city's assessed valuation now stands at $558,470,200. That compares with only $198,550,800 last year.

Major assessment reductions were granted to the H. C. Prange Co. ($223,350 on five separate properties); Pacon Corp., 415 S. Oneida St. (total of $80,000); Elks Lodge 337, 129 S. Appleton St. ($48,225); Knights of Pythias Lodge 113, E. Lawrence St. ($34,075); Super Bowl, County Trunk OO, ($150,600), Allis Chalmers, 401 E. South Island St., ($150,000).

Reductions in assessments for real estate improvements led the field, with $656,600 Next in line were reductions for land valuations, which were dropped $253,950. Last was personal property valuation reductions, which were $87,775.

The total reductions of $998,325 compares with total figures of $37,200 last year and $90,750 the year previous. In those two years, total property value changes were 24 and 38, respectively.

Before the board of review began meeting, Schwarzbauer mailed out more than 6,000 notices to property owners who had had their assessments changed. Most of them were revised upward.

Schwarzbauer said today, however, that only 13 of the 58 assessment reductions awarded by the board of review came from areas that were reassessed. The others came from areas that simply had their old assessments multiplied by the 2.7027.

Board Chairman Harry Kositzke agreed with Schwarzbauer that the jump in assessments from partial to full value might have stunned some property owners who had not been aware of their assessments in the past.

In a related development Thursday, the finance committee agreed to recommend the city seek a replacement for resigning property assessor Carl Rechner Jr. Schwarzbauer asked the committee to consider raising the salary for the post from the present $8,000, which he called "substandard."

Schwarzbauer is authorized to have three full-time property assessors to help him carry out the citywide reassessment.

In his letter to the committee, Schwarzbauer indicated it might be difficult to attract a replacement at the current low salary.

Migrant program extension sought

A combined task force from the First United Methodist Church and the Mexican-American community has met to discuss the continuation of a day care extension program for migrant preschool children and families.

The proposed program calls for two two-hour sessions weekly with separate programs for mothers and children.

Mothers would have classes in crafts, sewing, nutrition and home nursing while children would continue the nursery activites begun last summer.

Leaders have asked for assistance with transportation to and from the Bear Creek and Shiocton areas. Cars and/or drivers are needed from 7 to 9 a.m. and 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Also needed are instructors in crafts for Christmas gifts and other items, as well as people to work with the children.

The leaders are Mrs. Jean Rannells, Mrs. Susan Chase and Mrs. Carol Galloway.

Oooooom-pah!

It took a lot of breath but Todd Weyman got a sound out of the upright bass horn, to the delight of his classmates at Franklin School and Tom Scanlon, Einstein Junior High tuba player. The band conducted a demonstration for the elementary pupils as part of an educational program to tell the boys and girls of the program choices available to them in the middle school. Town, city still apart on water pact

BY ARLEN BOARDMAN
Post-Crescent staff writer

GRAND CHUTE — The chance of the town's new water supply district buying water from Appleton appears to be all but dried up, despite outward signs of a willingness by both sides to cooperate.

The major obstacle seems to be over the question of which party would have the final authority to determine whether the service would be expanded to serve the anticipated rapidly growing service area of the new town water district.

Town board members, acting as the interim water commission, directed the town legal counsel Thursday night to require that the exclusive right to determine expansion be in the hands of the town water commission. The town wants assurances that water will be provided to additional areas when needed.

City Atty. David Geenen, with whom Town Atty. Don Herrling would be conferring, said the city can't give those assurances. He said the city couldn't afford to forfeit its authority to decide on who gets its water and how much.

Both Geenen and Ira Livingston, town chairman, said they didn't believe that their respective municipalities should be put at the mercy of the other for water supply. Geenen said the city could be "put out of business" if a sudden large water need developed in the town, and Livingston said the town didn't want to hamstring town growth by relying on the city.

The town formed the water district, initially to serve the western Grand Chute area bordered by Spencer Street, Wisconsin Avenue, Casaloma Drive and the city limits, last May. Among the first decisions the commission must make is whether to dig wells or buy water from the city.

Feeling that they were pressed for time, the commissioners agreed to await the results of a city-urged state feasibility study on extending city water service. The Sept. 1 deadline the town set for a decision slipped by, but the City Council finally endorsed the service agreement idea last week, shortly after receiving the state report.

The town's engineers, Donohue and Associates, Sheboygan, now have said they can't wait past Nov. 1 for a decision because they must dig a test well soon, if the water district is to go to its own wells instead of city water.

Livingston said he was writing the mayor and City Council to suggest a

Concentrated apple action starts tonight

BY MAUREEN BLANEY
Post-Crescent staff writer

Though the entire month has been declared National Apple Month, the next nine days, starting tonight, will provide a concentrated dose of apple action for area residents.

Joining in the spirit, Mayor James Sutherland has proclaimed Oct. 13 to 21 as Applefest Week and called upon "citizens to join in its observance through participation in its many enjoyable and beneficial activities."

The mayor noted that Applefest includes activities for all ages and includes beautification and community fellowship. Applefest is for everyone, he proclaimed.

Besides the numerous activities such as the Pat Boone show, the Pierce Park carnival and the contests and games, a number of events are planned to help residents celebrate "autumn our way" by becoming involved in community activities.

Duplicate bridge at the YMCA will begin at 7:30 p.m. today with Applefest the central theme. The game is open to anyone, according to Murna Weller, director, and if partners are needed, players are asked to contact her before the game. Apple desserts and prizes will be featured.

Appleton High School-East homecoming parade will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday with the Applefest prince and princess as a main attraction. Karen Hietpas, Kimberly, and Grant Strebe, Appleton, will ride in the parade down College Avenue.

At 1:30 p.m., the AHS-East football game will begin against Kimberly at East. The half-time band program, directed by Tom Jacobs, will be dedicated to Applefest.

All day Monday, the Appleton Memorial Hospital Auxiliary will sponsor a benefit bridge game under

Assembly OKs bill for waste recycling districts

MADISON — A multimillion dollar plan for putting the state into the commercial waste recycling business was approved, 64-32, Thursday by the Wisconsin Assembly and was sent to the Senate.

The proposal would divide the state into recycling districts with Outagamie, Winnebago and Fond du Lac counties proposed for the first district to be implemented.

Proponents of the bill hope for final action this month so the first district can be organized before the end of next year.

The Senate is scheduled to recess Oct. 26 and won't go back into session again until Jan. 29. The Senate clerk said the normal procedure would be to refer the bill to the natural resources committee where a recommendation will be made.

A public hearing on the recycling bill was held jointly before the natural resources and Assembly environmental committees.

The clerk doubted whether the Senate would get to the bill for action by Oct. 26 if the legislators followed the normal calendar. And, he said, the Senate leadership has thus far frowned on taking up bills out of order.

The Outagamie County Board refused to endorse the state program in a vote Wednesday, citing insufficient knowledge about the bill's implications. Winnebago County has gone on record opposing the measure, while Fond du Lac County has not taken any formal stance.

Two other regions would be created by the bill. A center representing Lincoln, Marathon, Wood and Portage counties would be created by 1975. The third district representing Milwaukee, Waukesha, Ozaukee and Washington counties would be in operation by 1976.

Rep. David Berger, D-Milwaukee, said Connecticut is the only other state with a similar program.

The bill calls for a seven-man policy-making board to oversee development of regional waste collection centers whose recycled materials would be sold to industry.

Sponsors of the measure said a study commission which drafted the plan has received many letters of intent from manufacturers to purchase recovered materials.

The plan is described as an ecological means of liberating municipalities from a frequently frustrating search for land that can be used as sanitary landfill dumps.

Although the state would engage in recycling and selling, the bill leaves room for development of private recycling enterprises.

The bill provides $700,000 in the 1973-75 fiscal biennium to get administration of the program under way, and $23 million in bonding authority to develop facilities.

It would clear the way for state acquisition of land under the right of eminent domain, and would allow the state to take charge of municipal or localized waste collection dumps.

The land condemnation feature, and the role of the legislature in policies created by the program, were two of the items which created the most legislative debate.

The bill's closest tests were on 49-47 votes which preserved the condemnation powers and retained state authority over municipal disposal facilities.

The state supervisory board's membership would include two legislators.

The formal title proposed for the agency is the Wisconsin Solid Waste Recycling Authority, but referred to by legislators as the "state recycling authority."

Outagamie to be asked to study possibility of cutting board's size

By DON CASTONIA
Post-Crescent staff writer

The Outagamie County Board will be asked in November to authorize a 30 day study on the feasibility of cutting the size of the board from 42 to 21 supervisors.

The rules subcommittee of the board this morning agreed to sponsor the study resolution at the request of Supv. Charles Wussow, the main proponent of cutting the board size.

His proposal is to double up supervisory districts without altering district lines. If the study would be authorized, the county board would have to act in December. Election of county board members is next spring and candidates can start circulating nomination papers in January.

Wussow said he was bringing his proposal to the rules committee at this time because the committee is dealing with the issue of eliminating conflict between the county executive and the county board.

"There is the constant hassle over the definition of what is administrative and what is policy," Wussow said. "But we must face the fact that the board no longer has the detail work to do. If we're left with only policy decisions, why do we need 42 people? We can get the same work done with 21 and do it more expeditiously."

Supv. Marvin Babbitt, a member of the rules committee, said he agreed with reducing the size of the board, but asked if why not 21? "Why not 14?" he asked. "There are too many lunkheads on this board."

County Board Chairman Russell DeLaHunt suggested that rather than have the rules committee spend time on the issue, he would prefer a special committee. He told Wussow that he would appoint him to that special committee if it was authorized by the board.

Wussow was the primary author of the current district plan which reduced the number of supervisors from 47 to 42 two years ago.

Supv. George Schroeder, rules subcommittee chairman, questioned whether changing the board between census periods was legal. DeLaHunt cited the recently passed organizational law for counties and commented that it might be used

Ready for homecomings

Homecoming activities are in full swing with the floats being readied for the big parades. At left, Sam Parrot gets the finishing touches from Mark Ormson and Linda Schaefer. He will lead the Appleton High School-East parade at 10 a.m. Saturday. At right, the proud Xavier hawk is constructed by freshmen, from left, Katherine Kilgren, William Hawley and Betsy Hahn. He will be in the 4 p.m. parade today shortly before the Hawks battle the Premontre Cadets from Green Bay. The game is at 7 p.m. at Goodland Field. A dance at 9 p.m. Saturday will culminate XHS activities. East's Patriots will face the Kimberly Papermakers at 1:30 p.m. Saturday. The dance will be at 8:30 p.m. (Post-Crescent photos)

Favorable action termed unlikely on full-time personnal director

Hiring of a full-time Outagamie County personnel director has been proposed by a county board member.

Supv. John Hennessy's proposal that the board's personnel committee draft a resolution calling for creation of the new position drew a negative reaction from Supv. Marvin Babbitt of Seymour, chairman of the personnel panel.

"Our committee will act but it won't be very favorable, I can tell you that," Babbitt responded Few counties have personnel directors, he said

Hennessy asked Wednesday that the resolution be referred to the personnel committee. The referral was automatic, not necessitating a vote.

The committee was asked to formulate duties and responsibilities of the proposed office, a job description, qualifications for employment and a salary range.

Under the proposal, the director's salary would be included in the county's 1974 budget Final action would have to come at the November session of the county board.

In submitting his proposal, Hennessy said the count now has nearly 700 employes and payroll and related employe costs constitute the county's biggest single expenditure

"Governmental units and industry with similar size staffs find it desirable and economically beneficial to have the jurisdiction of their work force directly under a full—time person trained for this specific responsibility," Hennessy's proposal stated.

In other business, the board:

—Approved by a 33-5 vote a property committee proposal to contract with Hugh Dega & Associates of Madison for preparation of a master plan for development of the county-owned Barker Access Site at Shiocton. Cost is not to exceed $1,875.

—By a 32-4 vote, approved setting a Nov 8 public hearing on a master plan for development of Mosquito Hill Park near New London. The master plan was drafted by the Environmental Awareness Center of the University of Wisconsin. The 7:30 p.m hearing will be at the courthouse —Referred back to the health committee a proposal that $200,000 be spent remodeling portions of the Health Center for expanded nursing home use. The proposal also will go to the finance committee and will be reported back to the board next month. Referral was asked by Health Committee Chairman George Schoroeder after questions arose regarding financing the renovation.

—By a 26-11 vote, approved exercising an option on 7.11 acres adjoining Northeast Industrial Park land totaling six acres that the county recently purchased for its solid waste shredder plant. The latest purchase will cost $44,437, or $6,250 per acre.

Opposition was led by Supv. Fred Rehfeldt of Appleton who has fought locating the shredder operation in Northeast Industrial Park. "Hold it," Rehfeldt warned. "We went too far, too fast on this thing. The land won't run away; it will stay there.

meeting on the question of expansion authority. He didn't say the possibilities of an acceptable joint arrangement were dead, but he admitted that there were some serious questions about the idea, in addition to the expansion authority question.

He said some people may have a preference for well water over Lake Winnebago water (the cooler temperature being one advantage). Also, he said there was concern whether one municipality wanted to be dependent on another for a service.

Livingston declined to express a personal preference. "I've been staying on the fence; I really haven't been saying anything one way or another."

"I don't mistrust Appleton," he said, "but I've got to remember that they are doing everything for the benefit of Appleton, just as I am for the town."

He expressed concern about "something unseen" in a joint arrangement that could be detrimental to the town.

Geenen said two of the town water commission's three concerns, the extension of a 12-inch main to the Grand Chute boundary at city expense for normal costs and the 25 per cent surcharge level, could be met. Donohue engineer Gene Mortimer suggested the three concerns Thursday night.

Edward Ziegler, one of the three acting water commission members, said he favored going to the city for water, but only with the expansion right assurance.

Herring told the commission Thursday night he believed also it must have the exclusive expansion right. He noted that the town's Butte des Morts Utility District for sewer service had expanded numerous times since it was built.

Those outside the water district already have indicated an interest in getting in, he said.

Armstrong's lawyers want videotaping of court proceedings

MADISON, Wis. (AP) —Lawyers for Karleton Armstrong have requested video-taping of what is expected to be a lengthy sentencing hearing beginning Monday in Dane County Court.

Armstrong pleaded guilty Sept. 28 to second degree murder and arson in connection with the 1970 bombing which killed a researcher at the University of Wisconsin's Army Mathematics Research Center.

The former UW student faces sentencing in both state and federal courts. The state court hearing, predicted defense attorney Melvin Greenberg, will last at least two weeks.

Greenberg suggested in a letter to U.S. District Court Judge James Doyle that the hearing be video-taped for use in federal court sentencing.

U.S. Atty. John Olson replied videotaping "would require this court to spend an excessive amount of time on the case."

Olson said he would have no objection to Doyle reviewing the transcript of the state court hearing.

COLD WEATHER'S RETURN initiates the indoor heating season, and the homeowner's need for a humidifier rises. In some cases, the relative humidity of indoor air drops to below 10%. Installation of the Aprilaire humidifier, as handled by Menasha Sheet Metal, Inc., 314 Racine Street, Menasha, will correct this. Phone number of the firm is 722-3653. (Adv.)

Aid to Wintertime Comfort, Health Is Carefully-Controlled Humidity

Although everyone talks about humidity, he is, technically, discussing relative humidity. There is a difference.

Absolute humidity is simply the amount of water vapor in a given volume of air—by weight. Relative humidity is expressed as a percentage, and it's the per cent of moisture in the air in relation to the amount the air is capable of holding at the same temperature

Air at 70 degrees F. is capable of holding about eight grains of moisture (100 per cent). If it has only two grains, the relative humidity is 25 per cent.

It's a phenomenon of nature that cold air is incapable of holding much water. And the colder it gets, the less water it can hold. Upon entering a home, outside air is heated and its capacity to hold moisture is multiplied. Air at 70 degrees can hold 22 times as much moisture as air at zero. So—it becomes thirsty air. Trying to compensate for its moisture deficiency, it picks up moisture from every available source.

In winter you live in an indoor desert. And it happens as soon as cold weather initiates the indoor heating season. In many cases the relative humidity of the air drops to below 10 per cent—and that's more than twice as dry as Death Valley or The Sahara Desert.

Ultimate in comfort

Aprilaire humidifiers, handled by the W. J. Hartzheim Menasha Sheet Metal, Inc., 314 Racine Street, Menasha, provide the ultimate in winter-time comfort through controlled indoor humidity. The humidifier is totally automatic. There's nothing to carry, fill or spill.

There is an Aprilaire humidifier to compliment each home's heating system, according to Hartzheim.

The average 6-room home can require the evaporation of 12 gallons of water per day. The smallest Aprilaire humidifier will provide this amount. An electric valve turns water on and off as required.

Dry air performs like a thirsty sponge and absorbs moisture from anything that has it to lose. Nose and throat dry out, hair tends to become brittle, skin rough, itchy, flaky. Higher temperatures are required for comfortable warmth.

Other winter-time problems caused by dry air are plaster cracks and shrinkage, furniture glued joints loosen, veneers split or peel, doors and window frames lose their shapes.

Proper humidity indoors prevents these problems. Full information may be had without obligation from Menasha Sheet Metal. Phone 722-3653. (Adv.)

Residents of Kaukauna district seek to detach

KAUKAUNA — The board of education learned this week that a group of Little Chute residents living within the Kaukauna school district has asked Cooperative Educational Services Agency No. 8 to allow them to sever present district ties and join the Little Chute school district.

The petition merely lists legal descriptions of areas to be detached with no maps, and so board members were unable to determine just what area was involved. Some expressed the opinion that it represented people who earlier sought detachment but in a special election were voted down by others in the same area who favored remaining with Kaukauna.

Board member Leo Driessen noted that there appeared to be a "little gerrymandering going on" with those pro-Kaukauna not included in the new area seeking detachment. Board members authorized President Edna Chopin to set up a meeting between representatives of the Kaukauna and Little Chute boards to discuss the matter.

The board also decided to wait until maps were presented showing the exact area seeking detachment before commenting further. A meeting on the petition has been set for 8 p.m. Oct. 30 at the Little Chute High School gym.

After considerable discussion, the board adopted a policy permitting dismissal of a high school band or vocal group member who, without valid reason, fails to comply with orders to play at required school concerts or events. Dismissal from the group would also mean loss of grade and credit.

A petition from parents of children being bussed from Electa Quinney School to Park School for third-grade classes was read. The parents pointed out that the same children were bussed as kindergartners and felt that the board should adopt a policy to transport the same grade in school each year rather than the same group of students.

Board members instructed the Secretary Robert Klister to notify parents that it is too early to determine status of students for the 1974-75 school year but that their suggestion would be considered if bussing continues to be required.

Business Manager Thomas Nytes reported that fuel prices for schools had risen three cents a gallon since the school received its first quotation last month, and he felt costs could continue to rise, making money budgeted for heating purposes unrealistic.

"Original quotation was 12 cents per gallon and it has already jumped to 15 cents, and we still haven't purchased any fuel," said Nytes. He said all tanks were filled last spring, and as yet there has been no need for fuel oil.

The board named Mrs. Chopin a delegate to the state school board convention, with Leo Driessen as alternate.

Woman ordered to stand trial for prostitution

OSHKOSH — The second of four women charged with prostitution in Winnebago County earlier this year has been bound over to Circuit Court for trial.

Illene D. Friedman, 21, Milwaukee, was ordered to stand trial after a closed preliminary hearing in County Court Thursday. Acting Judge James Sarres found probable cause to believe that Friedman had been involved in criminal activity. She has been charged with two counts of prostitution.

The hearing was ordered closed to the public after a motion was presented by Asst. Atty. Gen. Douglas Haag. Haag was substituting for Dist. Atty. William Carver in prosecuting the case for the state. On a motion by defense attorney John F. McNally of Milwaukee, witnesses also were excluded from the courtroom while not giving testimony.

Two men testified at the hearing. According to the complaint against Friedman, the two had paid her $35 each to have sexual intercourse on Aug. 1, 1972. The incident reportedly took place at a small house adjacent to the Horsefeather Bar in the Town of Menasha, where Friedman had been employed as a dancer. The men, both from Sheboygan, had testified to that effect at a June 4 session of the John Doe investigation in Circuit Court here.

No date has been set for Circuit Court proceedings.

Another Milwaukee woman, Rosa Harris, 27, also has been bound over to Circuit Court on a prostitution charge. Her case was adjourned to Nov. 2 after the defense attorney asked for more time. That move came Sept. 21 when Carver filed a repeater allegation against Harris.

A third woman charged with prostitution, Mrs. B.J. Eddy of Appleton, is still being sought on a warrant. She has three times failed to appear in county court for a cheduled preliminary hearing. Mrs. Eddy is the former operator of the Horsefeather.

Beverly Bowie, 21, Milwaukee, is awaiting a preliminary hearing on a charge of prostitution. That was adjourned indefinitely while County Court Judge James V. Sitter decides whether to grant immunity to witnesses who testify.

Ex-Appleton Mayor George Buckley's father dies at 76

Malcolm L. Buckley, 76, Chicago, father of former Appleton Mayor George Buckley, died this morning in Chicago.

He was an engineer and former vice president of Phillips, Getschow Co., Chicago. He was a member of the Chicago Athletic Club, the Long Beach, Calif., Elks Club and other civic and fraternal organizations.

Besides his son, who served as mayor of Appleton from 1966-72, the elder Buckley is survived by his widow, a daughter and four grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are pending in Chicago, where burial will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Little accomplished on joint sewer funding by sewerage panel

KIMBERLY — Inability of legal counsel to attend a meeting of the Heart of the Valley South Branch Sewerage Committee wednesday night resulted in little business being accomplished.

The meeting was called to secure legal answers to questions concerning the funding of the proposed interceptor sewer project involving Kimberly, Combined Locks and the Darboy Sanitary District.

Panel okays bid for lots in Kaukauna

KAUKAUNA — The finance committee voted to recommend to the City Council that a total bid of $1,500 for 11 city-owned lots in the Fourth ward, south of Eleventh Street across from the Golden Venture Apartments be accepted and the lots sold to Robert A. Promer.

Two other bids were received, one offering $1,000 and the second, $1. Sale of the property will hinge on an agreement by the purchaser to undertake improvements to property and building within two years of date of purchase or the property will revert to the city. The purchaser was present at the committee meeting and agreed to stipulations in the sale agreement.

The land was advertised for sale after the city received an offer from Richard Berkers to buy the land for $1 with the understanding he would construct a high rise apartment building on the lots. When Berkers' offer became public, others expressed an interest in purchasing, thus sealed bids were accepted.

City Assessor Wayne Lennert was askde to appraise the land and set a value of $6,500 on the property with the notation that two of the lots were suitable for building while the remainder could be utilized after improvements were made. Most of the land is ravine and a 72-inch strom sewer will have to be installed and a land project initiated before lots can be used for building.

Sanitary sewer and water lines to the property are already installed. Committee members referred the sale agreement to City Attorney Donald Green who will work with Promer on sale restrictions or requirements.

In other action, the committee authorized Mayor Robert La Plante to include $11,600 in his executive budget for council salaries and expenses indicating no change from this year.

Approval was given for the purchase of 15 tickets at a cost of $4 each to the Heart of the Valley Chamber of Commerce industrial dinner.

Reporting on the 1974 budget, La Plante said, he expects to have a rough draft of his executive budget ready by Monday and available by early November.

New life for bingo bill

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Bingo enabling legislation won a new chance Thursday to be enacted before the Wisconsin legislature adjourns.

The bill would create a state board to regulate lottery bingo. It had bogged down in the Senate when it was sent to committee.

It was pulled out of committee Thursday, however on a 20-7 vote and was placed on the calendar of the October session.

After the vote was announced, Sen. Ronald Parys, DMilwaukee, who made the motion, stood and yelled: "Bingo."

Voters approved a constitutional change last spring to allow the legislature to authorize lottery bingo.

The bill would create a board and an executive secretary's post at a yearly salary of $24,756.

An analysis by legislative staff says the bill would mean state expenses th s biennium of nearly $494,000, and tax revenues of $4.1 million.

Kaukauna students to canvass community for booster memberships

KAUKAUNA — The Ghosts Booster Club membership campaign will get a boost from student organizations at the high school this weekend as they distribute informational letters and membership cards in the city.

The following weekend, student volunteers will again canvass the city collecting membership cards and dues. The recommended annual membership fee is $1, but many members exceed this donation. All money collected in the membership drive and in other financial campaigns is used to support student activities at Kaukauna High School and not only athletic programs.

Current project of the club is to supply blazers for students representing Kaukauna High in outside events, from basketball to debate. The blazers are to be orange with a white and black ghose emblem. Material for the blazers has been purchased and two women hired to make the 36 jackets.

NOTICE
ANNUAL LEAF PICK UP

WHERE — Rake leaves into gutter or edge of pavement starting October 15th and ending November 11th. (After November 11th leaves must be placed in containers at the curb on your refuse collection day.)

HOW — In low piles so children cannot be hidden from motorists view, and close to the curb so as not to interfere with traffic

WHEN — City crews will start collecting leaves October 15th North of the river at the East City Limits, as men and equipment are available, and keep circling in a counterclockwise direction as weather conditions permit. Crews will make final cleanup from gutters between November 10th and 17th.

WHAT — Leaves Only — Brush and garden debris will clog our equipment and slow up the collection. Brush and garden debris are to be picked up as usual on your refuse collection days

NOTE — No Special Leaf Pickups Will Be Made as we must concentrate our efforts. Requests for leaves for mulching should be made by calling 739-5304 and will be filled when the crews are in your area on a first-come first-served basis

Nixon plans TV report on nominee

each body should act independently.

The decision came as congressional leaders were warning that Nixon's choice —expected to be made public next week —could face lengthy investigation and questioning.

Unlike the normal confirmation process, which only requires Senate approval, the vice presidential nominee must be confirmed by both House and Senate under the terms of the 25th amendment, which was adopted in 1967.

The House procedure will be for hearings on the nomination by the Judiciary Committee, headed by Rep. Peter W. Rodino, D-N.J.

Police don't know motives of gun battle

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) —About 100 shots were fired in a wild gunbattle Thursday night as 60 policemen tried to flush an estimated six snipers from a marshy area on Pontiac's South Side.

The snipers later escaped, police said.

Only one person was wounded in the hail of bullets that police said started flying after Roy McGhee, 23, of Pontiac, was fired on as he drove near the Bagley School.

A bullet struck him in the knee but doctors at Pontiac General Hospital said the wound was not serious.

When police went into the area to tow McGhee's car away, more firing ensued and a heavy concentration of Pontiac police, state police, Oakland County sheriff's deputies and West Bloomfield Township police responded.

One police source estimated the people in the swamp fired about 40 to 50 shots, with the police firing 50 to 60.

The men in the swamp apparently escaped unharmed, leaving police puzzled as to the motive for the shootout.

Swinging wedding ends with groom, five others arrested after melee

LANSING, Ill. (AP) — Michael Hosty had a swinging wedding reception Saturday.

It was so swinging that it took 40 policemen from six of Chicago's southern suburbs, the county, the state and Munster, Ind., to calm things down.

The reception started out calm and pleasant, but at some point in the evening the 20-year-old groom got into a fist fight with a guest, police said.

Before long 100 guests and members of the wedding were on the street in front of the reception hall, swinging away.

Fungus find

Arthur Iczkowski, Milwaukee, holds up a prize mushroom he found during a recent hunt on a farm in the Waukesha County community of Eagle. The variety is known as a "Kozi-Broda," Polish for goat's beard. It is described as "excellent to eat" and weighs about 15 pounds. (AP Wirephoto)

News in brief

Labor opposes Connally, Reagan

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) —Labor leaders promise "as strong a fight as we had against Clement Haynsworth" if President Nixon nominates John B. Connally or Ronald Reagan for vice president. AFL-CIO leaders here for their biennial convention said Thursday they can live with almost any of the others prominently mentioned in speculation — particularly New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and former Secretary of State William P. Rogers. Nixon's nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. to the Supreme Court was strongly opposed by labor and rejected by the Congress.

NEW YORK (AP) —CBS's "All in the Family" series was the nation's most widely watched show in the third week of the new TV season, according to the A.C. Nielsen ratings made public Thursday. Second was NBC's "Sanford and Son." None of the season's new series were counted among the nation's 20 most popular shows. The highest rated of the new shows — NBC's "Girl with Something Extra" —tied for 28th with an ABC made-for-TV movie.

CHICAGO (AP) —The defense fund for Spiro T. Agnew, established by insurance tycoon W. Clement Stone, is still accepting contributions. A spokesman for Stone said Thursday that calls were still coming in from persons who wanted to give money. The former vice president reportedly asked on Wednesday that money be refunded to any contributors asking for it. The fund spokesman said that any money not returned, and the new donations, would be used to help defray Agnew's legal costs.

WASHINGTON (AP) —Egil Krogh Jr., former boss of the White House plumbers, has been charged with giving false testimony to the original Watergate grand jury. A federal grand jury Thursday charged that Krogh lied under oath when asked about the activities of E. Howard Hunt and G. Gordon Liddy.

WASHINGTON (AP) —Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban told Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger last week about an Arab military buildup. But Eban did not appear to be apprehensive in the New York conversation two days before the latest Mideast hostilities began. The Israelis at the time considered the buildup a defensive mobilization.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House is expected to give final congressional approval today to landmark restraints on presidential war-making powers. However, a certain veto by President Nixon awaits the bill. Backers said they would be watching today's vote for an indication of whether the veto can be overridden.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate-House conferees have dropped specific overseas troop reductions from the weapons authorization bill. But conferees retained a provision requiring reductions in U.S. force in Europe by the percentages by which U.S. NATOallies fail to offset balance of payments trade deficits with the United States.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration plans to announce today its mandatory fuel allocation program covering heating oil, kerosene, jet and diesel fuel. However, the House Rule Committee Thursday voted against postponing action on legislation imposing a more extensive program.

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — President Ferdinand E. Marcos granted amnesty today to three Filipino college students who hijacked a Philippines Air Lines jet to Hong Kong on Thursday. The young men, 19 to 21 years old, were talked into returning to Manila with the plane. They met with Marcos, and PAL president Benigno Toda Jr. said they complained about "certain abuses of the military" in their hometown on Mindanao, the southern island where the armed forces are battling Moslem insurgents. Toda said Marcos had ordered his military commanders to act on the youths' complaints.

BUENOS AIRES (AP) —Supporters of Juan D. Peron drove around downtown Buenos Aires and congregated in the Plaza Mayo during the night, getting ready for their 78-year-old leader's inauguration today as president of Argentina. His third wife, Isabel, will be installed as vice president. Peron was expected to salute the crowd from the balcony of the Casa Rosada — the Pink House — but he planned no inaugural address.

Fighting...

Another council session was scheduled this afternoon, but neither the United States, supporting Israel, nor the Arabs' Soviet and Chinese backers were expected to give ground.

Egyptian Foreign Minister Mohamed H. el-Zayyat told the council that Israeli bombing had killed 500 Egyptian civilians in the Nile Delta, where Israel has admitted attacking three air bases. Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban replied that the Arabs started the fighting, and he said the side that begins a war is responsible for all casualties on all sides.

Egypt and Syria claimed they brought down a record 112 Israeli planes on Thursday, bringing their total claimed kills in the first six days of the war to 409 planes. The Israeli air force is estimated to have a total of 488 planes, with 367 of them combat aircraft.

Neither Israel nor the Arabs have given any figures on their own losses, but American intelligence sources in Washington gave these estimates for the three countries in the first five days of battle:

Israel —75 fighter planes, 600 tanks 1,500 to 2,000 dead and wounded.

Egypt — 80 aircraft, 47 of them fighters, more than 200 tanks and 5,000 to 8,000 dead and wounded.

Syria —85 aircraft, up to 650 tanks, 5,500 to 6,000 dead and wounded.

Damascus Radio said today that "Israeli pilots have become so demoralized that they often bail out the moment they reach Syrian skies," and it claimed the Israeli commanders were chaining the pilots to their plane seats. The Syrian news agency distributed a photograph of a burned corpse wrapped in chains.

"Utter nonsense," said an Israeli military spokesman.

Israel also reported about 35 to 40 Katyusha rockets were fired by Palestinian guerrillas in southern Lebanon at eight Jewish settlements. It said one person was wounded but no serious damage was reported.

Israel caught off guard; even Eben surprised

WASHINGTON (AP) — When Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban conferred with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger last Thursday about the troubled Middle East he referred to an Arab military buildup along the Suez Canal and the Golan Heights.

But Eban did not appear to be alarmed or even apprehensive as the two men talked in Kissinger's New York hotel suite. They agreed to meet again in November, after the Israeli elections, to search for a means toward a negotiated settlement with the Arabs.

Over the preceding several days, in fact, the United States had asked the Israelis whether they were certain that the buildup was a defensive mobilization. The reply, in effect, was "yes."

Suddenly, late Friday, the Israeli assessment underwent a radical reversal. The tipoff was a withdrawal of Russian technicians and dependents from Cairo and Damascus. Jerusalem was then certain that Egypt and Syria were primed to attack.

State Department sources say there is good reason to believe that before the Russians pulled out they attempted to persuade Cairo to hold back.

If there was any doubt that Israeli intelligence was caught off guard analysts at the Pentagon point to two facts: the long time it took Israel to mobilize after the Arabs struck and the civilian losses in the settlements along the Golan Heights.

Had Israel been prepared the Army would have been ready to fight and the settlements made more secure, the analysts say.

The United States makes no bones about it being taken by surprise as well.

"We were surprised, Israel was surprised," is the succinct way Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana put it to a reporter. Mansfield has been briefed by the White House.

Less than 24 hours before the Arabs attacked, Kissinger was moving through a series of meetings with foreign ministers from Southeast Asia, Latin America, Africa and the Middle East.

One of them was with Mohammed Hassan el-Zayyat of Egypt. Like Eban, he indicated that he would like to talk to Kissinger in November about the prospects for a negotiated settlement of Israel's despute with the Arabs.

Senior U.S. officials are convinced that the Egyptian minister was not aware then of the attack to come so soon afterward.

Kissinger remained in New York to work on a broadly philosophic speech that emphasized U.S. relations with the Soviet Union. Joseph J. Sisco, the assistant secretary of state for Near Eastern and South Asian affairs, had a date to play golf.

Kissinger was concentrating his attention on Europe and the trip he was to make to London, Bonn and possibly Rome beginning this weekend, and on his sixth visit to China toward the end of the month.

A frantic alarm from the Israelis activated Washington at about 6 p.m. Friday.

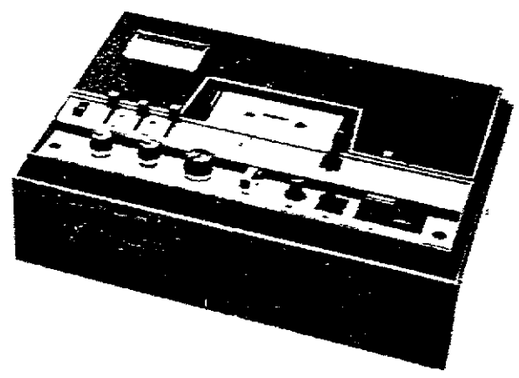
HAVE YOU WAITED FOR OPEN REEL PERFORMANCE FROM A CASSETTE TAPE DECK?

Here Is What Noted Stereo Critic Julian Hirsch Had To Say About The Advent Model 201 Cassette Deck:



"The Advent 201 easily met its specifications, and established itself—at least for now—as the best cassette recorder we know of."

"It is difficult to restrain our enthusiasm for the Advent 201. The unit came with a demonstration tape that had been dubbed onto Crolyn tape by that specific machine from a Dolby "A" master tape. The sound quality, especially with the finest playback amplifiers and speakers, was literally awesome, as was the total absence of hiss or other background noise."

"Summarizing, the Advent 201 is a tape deck of superlative quality. It is difficult to imagine how its sonic performance could be substantially improved ..this is the one that sets the standard for cassette recorders."

We don't usually get carried away with equipment reviews, but this one's as different as it sounds. We urge you to come in and put Advent's amazing new cassette machine to your own critical listening test.

Doering Dodge to start business on W. Wisconsin

Royal Dodge Sales, 1610 W. Wisconsin Ave., has been purchased by Doering Motor Co., West Allis, and the name is being changed to Doering Dodge, according to Joseph Doering Jr., president of Doering Motor.

George Conway, most recently president of Williams Motors, Hartford, has been appointed general sales manager.

The local dealership has been owned by a division of the Chrysler Corp. since 1968, and prior to that, it was Appleton Motor Co.

Doering Motor has one other dealership in West Allis. The firm was founded by Joseph Doering Sr., now chairman of the board, and will celebrate its 50th anniversary next year.

Forum

Mrs. Eugene Wichman, route 3, Appleton, a leader for the past 23 years with the Wide Awake Forward 4-H Club, will represent Outagamie County Extension 4-H at the 1973 4-H leaders forum Oct. 21-27 in Washington, D.C. Mrs. Wichman is secretary of the Outagamie County 4-H Leaders Association.

The Golden Rule 4-H Club of the Town of Osborn near Seymour has been named the Outagamie County winner of the 4-H June Dairy Month Promotion Activity on the basis of a book that related the club's dairy month plans.

The promotion activity is designed to increase dairy product sales and consumer acceptance of dairy products during June. It also provides an opportunity for youth to speak out clearly for milk and its products and to uphold and promote its nutritional value.

OSHKOSH — The annual recognition dinner for junior 4-H leaders, graduates and key award recipients in Winnebago County will be at 7:15 p.m. Monday at the Castaway here.

FREEDOM — New officers were installed recently by the Smile Awhile 4-H Club here.

They are Dennis Van Asten, president; Doug Newhouse, vice president; Amy Woods, secretary; Cathy Bombinski, treasurer; Jerry Wildenberg, reporter; and Tim Ebben, sergeant-at-arms. Activity committee members are: Lynn Wildenberg, chairman, and Karen and Vicki Vanden Bosch, Amy Ebben, Jeanne Schuh and Mary Weyenberg.

Club members will make signs with the message, "Smile Awhile 4-H Welcomes You to Freedom," for placement at the town lines. A costume party is planned for Oct. 31 at the Merle Van Asten residence.

NEW LONDON — A leaders recognition dinner at 7:45 p.m. Saturday in the high school commons will climax National 4-H Week activities for Waupaca County 4-H leaders. Many leaders will be recognized for their work with youth throughout the county and a "Friend of 4-H Award" will be presented to a person outside the organization who has supported it.

SHERWOOD — The Wide Awake 4-H Club will be the host for the junior leaders' meeting at 8 p.m. Monday in Sacred Heart School Hall.

Julie Porter was elected president of the Go-Getters 4-H Club last week. Other new officers are: Chris Schreiber, vice president; Margie Rupple, secretary; Penny Cahoe, treasurer; and Mary Ogilvie, reporter.

The club has planned a skating party from 1:30 to 4 p.m. Sunday at the Fox Valley Roller Rink.

Exception

The Wisconsin Agri-Business Council, representing both individual farmer producers and agricultural businesses, has taken "strong exception" to the proposed Environmental Protection Agency guidelines for feedlot runoff.

"It is our belief that the proposed rules would practically eliminate small livestock operations in Wisconsin," Russel R. Weisensel, executive director of the Wisconsin Agri-Business Council, Inc., said in a recent letter to the EPA. (See related story elsewhere in farm pages.)

Costs to farm families to construct concrete holding lagoons for the feedlot runoff, as specified in the proposed rules, would make it economically impossible for farmers to build such structures, Weisensel said. "The cost to the consumer by forcing livestock and dairy industries out of the state would be tremendous," he added.

Darren Sattler, route 1, Chilton, recently won the quality lamb contest in the 1973 Quality Meats Contest at the Northeastern Wisconsin Junior Livestock Show.

His Suffolk lamb received champion honors over 32 other carcasses. This carcass had one-tenth inch of backfat, a loin eye of 2.2 square inches and graded 2.4 for cutting ability and high choice quality.

Reserve Champion lamb carcass was shown by Mark Suehs, route 1, Manawa. This Hampshire carcass had a loin eye measurement of 2.2 square inches, one tenth inch of backfat and a cutability grade of 2.2 and low choice quality.

Dinner

Dr. James Crowley of the dairy science department of the University of Wisconsin-Madison will speak at the Calumet County Area Annual Dairy Herd Improvement meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at Brant.

A special production award will be presented and a financial report, the managers report and a resume of the past year also will be given. Members will elect a council member and an alternate council member to fill the expiring terms of Victor Geiser and Lyle Ott, respectively, at the dinner meeting.

CHILTON — A Herd Management Option is available to Dairy Herd Improvement members, according to Richard L. LaCroix, Calumet County agricultural agent. The new program has been approved by the state DHI Committee and is available for a small charge.

Under the program, DHI members must report breeding dates on their monthly test sheets. Based on these breeding dates, the dairyman will receive a monthly report listing: Which cows to breed; which cows to pregnancy check; which cows to dry; which cows are to calve; potential cull cows to watch; and the calving distribution for the herd.

Further information may be obtained from local Dairy Herd Improvement fieldmen.

BLACK CREEK — The 31st annual meeting of the Outagamie Central Dairy Herd Improvement Cooperative will begin with dinner at 7:45 p.m. Tuesday at Romy's Nitingale, route 2.

Two directors will be elected to fill the expiring terms of Lloyd Schuessler and Clarence Marx.

Hubert Hafs, Outagamie County Farm Management agent, will discuss the building of a dairy industry in Kenya, East Africa. He was a provincial animal production officer in the Rift Valley Province, Nakuru, Kenya, from June, 1971, to June, 1972.

COOPERATIVES

THE PEOPLE WAY

that's you . . . and you . . . and you. It's all of us — here, there and everywhere. And PEOPLE — all of us — have some fundamental things in common. For example, we all produce . . . and we all consume.

That's true of all of us — true of the office worker in Milwaukee, the dairy farmer in Chippewa County, the factory worker in the Fox River Valley, the schoolteacher in La Crosse, the orchard worker near Gays Mills. It's always true — each one produces and each one consumes.

COOPERATIVES

that's people too. The same people who are producers and consumers of all the things we can make or do for a more satisfying life. Cooperatives are people who live on farms, in the small towns and in the cities — all across Wisconsin and these United States.

COOPERATIVES are fifty-million of us who have found they can do a lot of things for themselves by joining hands and working together. They help straighten and shorten the line between those who produce and those who consume. They erase the distinguishing rural and urban . . . they put the emphasis simply on PEOPLE.

THE GREAT PARTNERSHIP

that's what people find in their cooperatives. That's where they have found the dignity of equality, where there are no superiors and no inferiors, only people working together — saving, earning, sharing.

Gear output to supply, demand, state farmers told

OSHKOSH — Farm production geared to the law of supply and demand is the word Wisconsin farmers are receiving from Washington these days.

For many it is the first such message in almost a lifetime of production quotas and subsidies aimed at bolstering farm incomes and limiting farm production.

Suddenly, in a world of devalued dollars and rising affluence, agricultural commodities are one area of international trade in which the U.S. has a competitive advantage.

Implications of the Farm Act, which becomes effective Jan. 1, 1974, were detailed this week in a two-day meeting here. Attending were the Wisconsin Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) committee, the five district managers of the state, the state ASCS executive director, specialists and a federal ASCS representative"

"ASCS evaluation of the foreseeable future is no different than other segments of agriculture," said William McKerrow, state ASCS chairman.

"We believe the demand is there to allow increase in agricultural production and for sales that will benefit the farmer, the economy and the consumer.

"We don't anticipate any oversupply that would depress prices. It will be a farmer's market for some time to come," he added.

McKerrow said the act emphasizes the need to gear up farm production generally. It is expected to eliminate the approximate $2.2 million spent annually in farmer incentive payments

There will be none paid in 1974, he said, unless prices drop below target levels.

Another provision allows for "a little sharing by the government in the farmer's annual gamble with the weather." If the weather brings disaster-level production, considered at 60 per cent of normal, the act provides for disaster payments.

Meanwhile, a rising world demand for a better diet and a willingness and ability to pay for it will provide a market for almost unlimited U.S. farm production, McKerrow predicted.

ASCS, which has administered subsidy programs, presumably will continue its Rural Environmental Assistance and Water Bank programs, both of which are still to be funded.

McKerrow said food shortages in the U.S. in recent months are largely a matter of price. Supplies in the marketplace are and have been adequate, he said. Prices are high enough now to make production profitable and haven't gone too high to generate consumer rebellion.

He said the only prospect for shortage he sees is in the area of milk production. Production has decreased 8 per cent in the past eight months when dairy farmers turned to more profitable crops

Milk production "can go down that fast in eight months, but it can't come back quite that fast, although feeding will help the situation." He said feed costs, exorbitantly high in recent months, are moderating.

U.S. food prices in recent months probably were affected to some degree by a "sudden awareness on the part of the consumer that maybe food supplies are less plentiful than they have been," McKerrow said. That's the way supply and demand works.

There will be a lag before production can get into gear, he admitted. Beef production requires about 30 months from decision to market, but the country already has six per cent more cows and bred heifers than it had a year ago.

Grain production increases will be felt with next year's harvests. If the price of chickens continues to drop, supplies will be curtailed by farmers who will turn to alternative crops when chicken raising is no longer profitable.

ASCS committee members and specialists took to radio during their second day here to deal with some of the questions.

Food costs have leveled off, but "if they ever go back to what they were, farmers will be forced out of business," they pointed out.

If the cost of bread is rising, it's not due to the cost of wheat which generally has peaked, they said. A loaf has only five to eight cents worth of wheat anyway. "It's ridiculous to blame the grain market for the cost you pay for bread and cereals," a committee member said.

The U.S. is the world's biggest producer of food and it does it more efficiently than any committee members pointed out. It regularly exports a quarter of its production without any shortage at home. "The country's food surplus is its greatest weapon."

Commenting on the U.S. sale of wheat to Russia, one ASCS specialist said three times that amount regularly is exported annually to Japan and that European countries have raised their purchases as well.

Revisions sought in EPA proposed feedlot guidelines

Post-Crescent Madison bureau

MADISON — Alarmed Wisconsin agricultural interests have turned to the state Legislature for a bipartisan appeal for amendment to the proposed guidelines of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency for the feedlots category under the federal water pollution control program

Sponsors of a resolution that would ask Washington for revisions are Sen. Walter Chilsen, R-Wausau, and Rep. David O'Malley, D-Waunakee, chairmen of the state Senate and state Assembly committees on agriculture.

They said they are making the appeal on behalf of virtually all of the milk, meat and egg producers in the state who would be required to spend "prohibitive amounts of money" to comply with the rules as recently promulgated by the EPA. The proposed rules require that by 1977, the water runoff from a feedlot containing dairy cattle, beef cattle, hogs or poultry shall be positively prevented from entering streams, except in emergency circumstances.

The legislators strongly implied that Wisconsin producers had been misled by EPA statements at hearings held earlier that the rules would apply only to dairy herds of more than 700, beef herds of more than 1,000, swine herds of more than 2,500 or other "significant" contributions to pollution.

But the proposed rules as now written do not establish such definitions or make any attempt to define what constitutes a discharge from a feedlot that is a significant contributor to pollution, they complained

The statement says the originally suggested herd limitations would be acceptable in Wisconsin, but that the federal rules also should be written to "direct that in all cases enforcement shall be carried on in a reasonable manner to avoid the dislocation of present producers and to provide for survival and revitalization of the small farmer."

Life in country gains popularity

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The city job has taken many a Wisconsin farm boy out of the country, but it hasn't taken the country out of the boy

That is the conclusion of two University of Wisconsin rural sociologists. Profs. Donald E. Johnson and William L. Flinn

The country "value system," variously called "agrarianism" or "Jeffersonian agriculture," holds that city life is artificial and that country living is natural and brings one closer to God, they said

"Many people believe this ideology is dead," they added "But it's not dead in Wisconsin."

The movement from cities to suburbs in the 1940s and 1950s is partly explained by this ideology, Johnson said.

"More recently, the movement of people to the smaller villages and open areas with a corresponding decline in the growth of the two largest cities in Wisconsin has been promoted by the feeling that rural areas are becoming more desirable places to live and raise families," he said

Atlanta forward Jim Washington found a lofty perch in the first quarter of the NBA game Thursday night against the Lakers Los Angeles guard Gail Goodrich (25) was driving in for a layup as Washington tried to break it up. The Atlanta pursuer was called for a foul. LA's Bill Bridges (37) looks on. The Hawks posted a 129-102 victory.

A's defend world title against Mets

OAKLAND (AP) — Hard throwing left-hander Ken Holtzman finds himself in the same position today as he was a year ago—scheduled to pitch the opening World Series game for the Oakland A's against the National League champions.

This time the New York Mets oppose him Saturday at the Oakland Coliseum and the former Chicago Cubs hurler says, "I pitched against them a lot of years and they gave me a lot of trouble But I feel super about getting the chance to pitch against them again."

Holtzman beat Cincinnati 3-2 in last year's opener and in his latest outing, he went 11 innings to beat Baltimore 2-1 in the third game of the American League playoffs The defending world champion A's wrapped up their second straight pennant Thursday as right-hander Jim Hunter blanked the Orioles 3-0 in the finale of their best-offive playoff series. "I was getting tired but no way I'm coming out of that ball game," declared the 27-year-old Hunter who posted a 21-5 regular season record and beat Baltimore twice in the playoffs. "I was just trying to keep the ball low," he said of his five-hit shutout performance "They didn't get a home run off me in two games, isn't that a switch?"

During the regular season, the Orioles slammed eight homers from Hunter offerings but still he was 3-0 against them. The A's, who blew a 4-0 lead on Wednesday and lost 5-4, took a 1-0 lead in the third inning of the decider. Ray Fosse was safe on an error by Brooks Robinson who slipped while fielding a grounder Dick Green laid down a perfect sacrifice bunt and Joe Rudi singled the runner home. In the fourth with two out, Gene Tenace, the hero of the 1972 World Series, singled. Little Vic Davalillo tripled off the 375-foot sign in right center and Jesus Alou singled him home. That was plenty of insurance for Hunter as the A's won the series three games to two.

Doyle Alexander, the Orioles' 23-year-old right-hander, started the game, but left after Alou's hit, and Jim Palmer made only his second relief appearance in four years. Palmer, the Baltimore ace who was blasted out in the second inning Wednesday, shut out the A's the rest of the way Thursday.

The A's go into the World Series with three 20 - game pitching winners—Hunter, Holtzman, 21-13, and Vida Blue, 20-9. Williams said Blue would face the Mets on Sunday and Hunter would go on Tuesday when the clubs play game No 3 in New York's Shea Stadium.

As the champagne corks popped in the A's quarters, Hunter said that until the playoffs he didn't think this season was as good as 1972 when he was 21-7.

"But beating Baltimore twice in the playoffs was better than all of last year," commented the man who pitched two victories in the 1972 World Series.

Happiness is winning pennant

Third baseman Sal Bando left and catcher Ray Fosse rush to the mound toward Jim Catfish Hunter after he pitched the Oakland Athletics to a 3-0 victory over the Baltimore Orioles at Oakland Thursday The A s now enter the World Series against the New York Mets and the first game is scheduled to be played in Oakland Saturday. Badgers feel pressure

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Bill Marek, Wisconsin's sensational sophomore, put it simply:

"We'll have to play the game of our lives," Marek said, reflecting the tension evident Thursday as the Badgers completed major preparations for Saturday's clash here with Ohio State, the nation's top ranked college football team

"We were a little uptight for the first time this year," Coach John Jardine said "I sensed we were feeling a little pressure"

"They didn't catch the ball the way they usually do," he said "This is whe you can tell that they're tense I just hope we get the bugs out of our system and relax a little before game time."

The Badgers may be nervous but they are unlikely to be awed, especially on their home field before an expected sellout crowd of 77,000 They took on second ranked Nebraska at Lincoln two weeks ago, and the Cornhuskers had to score in the last three minutes to win 20-16

After losing their first three games by a total of eight points, the Badgers piled up 630 yards last week to defeat Wyoming 37-28 as Marek rushed for a school record 226 yards and fellow sophomore Ken Starch added 184 Wisconsin is averaging 300 yards rushing per game

Marek and Ohio State sophomore Archie Griffin rank ninth and eighth, respectively among the nation's runners Marek with 120 yards per game and 5.6 yards per carry and Griffin with 125.3 per game and 8.6 per carry.

"Griffin is tough and runs extremely hard," Jardine said. "His big plays have come on the option pitch where he goes one on one with a defensive back With his speed and ability, he can get by that person and make the longer gainer"

Jardine's principal concern is Ohio State's option attack, with sophomore quarterback Cornelius Greene keeping, passing or pitching to Griffin on a sweep Greene is averaging 7.3 yards per carry

"Outside is where they can hurt you the most, although the quarterback can go inside well if you spread out on him," Jardine said "We've got to control the line of scrimmage We can't give them daylight where they can use their speed to great advantage"

"Greene is a better running quarterback than anyone we've seen so far this year," UW defensive line coach Dick Teteak said. "Ohio State runs the option much better than Nebraska and they go outside like Colorado."

Badger practices this week have emphasized sharpening their passing attack and pass defense, riddled for 246 yards and three touchdowns last week.

Old faces, new attitude for Bucks

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Two offseason happenings in California may have done more for the Milwaukee Bucks' chances of a National Basketball Association crown than anything they accomplish in the long regular season they open in Phoenix tonight.

One was Wilt Chamberlain's defection from the Los Angeles Lakers to the San Diego Conquistadors of the rival American Basketball Association Without the 7-foot-1 Chamberlain, the Lakers no longer shape up as the team the Bucks have to beat in the Western Conference playoffs next March.

The Bucks, despite a wasted draft and questionable front court depths, are solid favorites to repeat as Midwest Division champions

Golden State has supplanted the Lakers as favorites in the conference's other division, the Pacific And while Golden State upset Milwaukee in the opening round of last season's playoffs, the Bucks beat the Warriors five times out of six, often lopsidedly, in the regular season

Guard Jon McGlocklin said the Bucks should have beaten Golden State—and would have, with a better attitude

"To me, we're a better team than they are, but they played harder as a team," McGlocklin said. "They were smarter in the playoffs We weren't nearly as smart, or as hungry"

Perhaps more important than Chamberlain's departure is the improvement of Curtis Perry, who polished his game in a highly competitive California summer league. He led the league in rebounding, which is not particularly surprising, but markedly developed what had been a suspect shooting eye.

Perry may be sidelined for the West Coast road trip because of a sprained ankle suffered in the third exhibition game.

"Perry was playing terrific ball before he got hurt," Costello said "He's had big nights in the past, but never on a consistent basis. He was shooting better than he ever had before"

Should Perry continue to perform that way, the Bucks would have no weak links in their starting lineup. The other forward, Bob Dandridge, never has looked better, according to Costello.

Trade rumors denied

GREEN BAY — Laying to rest rumors that had defensive back Ken Ellis being traded to the Dallas Cowboys, for Craig Morton, Devine declared following Thursday's practice. "There is absolutely nothing to that report.

"I haven't talked with the Dallas people at all The last time I talked to the Cowboys, Tom Landry and that was back in training camp while the Cowboys were still at Thousand Oaks, Calif.

"We haven't talked trade with anyone with regard to Kenny and, I might add, I don't intend to"

Devine revealed that he and Ellis, the only Packer playing out his option, "talked about a lot of things when we had a meeting in my office Tuesday, but there is nothing further to report at this time"

In another personnel report, the Packer coach informed, "Bill Lueck is coming a little better than we had expected, so I'd have to say that there's still a reomte possibility he will play against the Chiefs" Lueck suffered stretched knee ligaments in the first quarter of the Giant game last Sunday"

It was learned Thursday that the New York Giants embarrassed earlier this week by quarterback Randy Johnson's walkout, had expressed interest in trading for Jerry Tagge. They were informed, however, that Tagge was not available

Staggers lives up to reputation

BY LEE REMMEL
Post Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — When the Packers claimed Jon Staggers from the Pittsburgh Steelers on waivers just prior to the 1972 season, Dan Devine made a prediction

Before the season is over, Devine forecast, Jon will have won games for us

In the meantime at the day the Packer coach was forgiven

Staggers has had made a habit of galloping to the rescue for Devine's Missouri Tigers during his college days began to fulfill the prediction in Game Four

Making a falling catch of a pass which had glanced off the hands of Bear defensive back Jim Seymour nastily arose from the turf and carried it for a touchdown that homed Green Bay an eventual 20-17 victory over the Bears

Later, in Game Five he returned a punt 85 yards—longest runback of the NFL season—for another TD to trigger a 23-10 victory over the Oilers in Houston's Astrodome

In the interim, his teammates have come to expect such heroics from the highly resourceful Virginian, who gets the next chance to exercise his "big play" talents against the Chiefs in Milwaukee Sunday afternoon

The day following Sunday's last-second squeaker over the Giants in New Haven, Conn., Charlie Hall took admiring note of Staggers' flair for the dramatic while recounting his contributions to the winning cause

"That guy is amazing," he said "Do you realize he touched the ball only four times Sunday and gained 73 yards? And he's doing that kind of thing all the time"

Hall could have added that three of those four efforts had been involved in the production of 10 of the 16 Packer points The first, a 20-yard reverse, produced a touchdown and a 7-7 first quarter tie with the Giants, in company with Chester Marcol's conversion

Then, in the closing minutes Staggers 21-yard punt return acquired critical field position at the Green Bay 39 And on first down, he pulled in a 12-yard pass—as a secondary receiver—to give the Packers a first down at the Giants 49 Three plays later, Marcol kicked the decisive field goal.

Although there are those who would call him "Mr Clutch," a title heretofore reserved for Los Angeles Lakers guard Jerry West, Staggers modestly declines the label.

"I just do what I can do" said the dapper ex-Steeler, who has to be one of the biggest $100 bargains (the waiver price) in NFL history "I don't worry about what I can't control"

A man who is inclined to ponder the mysteries and vicissitudes of life he added, "That's sort of my philosophy of life right at this time The things I can control, I try and control them And I try not to get frustrated about the things I can't control

"What are you doing but creating frustration if you try to control the things you can't control?" he asks "And when you're frustrated, you kind of lose the peace you should have, which makes you less effective as a player and as a person"

That, it was suggested, cannot be the total explanation for his big play success.

"I would like to think that I work hard," Staggers replied "If I'm not the primary receiver on a play, I still try to get open just as though I were going to be You never know

"And I've always had the attitude, even when I was a rookie with the Steelers, that I wanted to be a starter first and a specialist second This was always my concept I wanted to establish myself as a receiver rather than a specialist You're around longer, for one thing

"In the case of the boys on the specialty teams, that's their goal—to play That may be what you're doing now, playing on the specialty teams, but your goal is to play I think that's why everybody is here.

"That, of course, is another thing you can't control The coach decides that, whether you play or not. And if you don't, it's easy to become frustrated."

Blocking is another department in which Staggers is developing something of a reputation, despite his modest dimensions (5-10 and 182 pounds)

"I don't mind doing it because I think it's important that receivers get blocks because of our backs," he said. "With guys like John Brockington and MacArthur Lane, that has to be our game.

"When I go tight sometimes, blocking is a little tough But I'm trying to take care of myself," he chuckled "In other words, I know what I can do and what I can't I'm not a hero"

Rollie Dotsch, the Packers' offensive line coach, would disagree with this last

"Jon isn't very big and he isn't exceptionally fast," says Dotsch, "but he's a winner All he does is win"

Jim Schultz slams 721

"I had a chance to throw a couple of practice balls and it wasn't coming up at all so I moved over about six full boards and for some reason it never missed the pocket from there on in."

These were the words of Jim Schultz after he blasted a 721 national honor count in the Super Dozen League at the Super Bowl Thursday night.

Schultz was consistent from the start as he fired games of 246, 240 and 235 for the national total, the first of his 11-year bowling career. His previous high was a 676 hit last season. Jim had 25 strikes in the three games including a string of eight in a row in the second game.

Jim bowls for the Frank and Pat's team and carries an average around the 187 mark.

Roger Blaese came within four pins of a national set when he jolted a 696 series in the Tap-a-Keg League at Sabre Lanes last night. Roger had games of 226 and 257 with the leading count.

In the 41 Bowl Classic League action, Stan Prue hit 672 and Paul Thiel had a 276 game.

ATLANTA (AP) — Defense was the word most often heard in the Atlanta dressing room after the Hawks convincingly throttled the Los Angeles Lakers 129-102 Thursday night.

Lou Hudson's 34 points, 10 of them consecutive in a third period onslaught, powered the unbeaten Hawks to their second straight National Basketball Association victory. It was the only NBA game scheduled Thursday night.

But the conversations always began and ended with that word—defense.

"Our defense went to work in the second half," said Hawks Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons. "We have a better concept of what's happening. We are helping each other out and talking to one another."

"We played good team defense and just kept running," said Hudson, who now has 75 points in two contests.

"It was a total team effort," said Pete Maravich, who chipped in with 26 points and eight assists. "Look at all the great teams of the past. New York, Boston, Los Angeles. They had great defense. That's what makes a winner."

And the new-look Hawks, who forced 36 Los Angeles turnovers, have had that defense two games into the season.

For the Lakers, now 1-1, Gail Goodrich led the attack with 23 points while Jerry West, still not in shape after a prolonged holdout, added 19.

Houk given 3-year pact

DETROIT (AP) —To erase "the thin line between losing and winning."

To rebuild "but not make change for the sake of change."

Those are Ralph Houk's primary aims as he takes over a Detroit Tiger baseball team characterized by many critics as being too old, too slow and on its way downhill.

Houk was named as the new manager of the Tigers on Thursday by General Manager Jim Campbell, agreeing to a team record three-year contract for a team record amount of money.

He replaces Billy Martin, who was fired from the job Sept. 2.

The 54-year-old Houk is coming into a town filled with rabid baseball fans, many of whom still are frothing over the sacking of their hero Martin.

Whether Houk can placate the irritated fans remains to be seen, but it is the enthusiasm of the Detroit crowds "The Major" cited as one of two main reasons he has ended his brief retirement from the game.

"If you win you don't have to worry about anything," he said.

Although the Tigers finished third in the American League East this season—one notch above ex-Yankee Manager Houk's New York squad—he said: "I'm an optimist. I don't go into anything with the thought of losing."

Houk severed 35 years with the Yankee organization when he tearfully resigned as manager after the last game this season—a game against the Tigers. He still had two years remaining on a contract which paid him a reported $75,000 a year.

Fit Player makes bid for victory

VIRGINIA WATER, England (AP) — Gary Player, fit again after illness, is going after the world's top "sudden death" golf prize again.

The 36-year-old South African faced U.S. Open champion Johnny Miller in the semifinals of the Piccadilly World Match Play Tournament today. America's Tom Weiskopf, the defending champion, was paired against Graham Marsh of Australia in the other semifinal.

Player was in impressive form in the first round Thursday, cruising around Wentworth's "Burma Road" course to beat Tony Jacklin of Britain 3 and 2 over 36 holes.

The South African is a "founder member" of this 10-year-old event, which features eight specially invited golfers in man-to-man confrontation, bidding for a top prize of $25,000 dollars.

Player has competed in every Piccadilly Tournament and has won it four times.

Flyers win NHL opener

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "That's got to be the most pressure ever in one game for me," said wandering goalie Bernie Parent.

But Parent, playing for his fourth team in three years, was equal to the occasion Thursday night. He turned back 28 Toronto shots in leading Philadelphia to a 2-0 victory over the Maple Leafs in the Flyers' National Hockey League opener.

It was the only NHL game played Thursday night.

Parent was the original Flyers goalie when the team was formed in 1967. He was then traded to Toronto but jumped the Leafs for the Philadelphia Blazers of the rival World Hockey Association.

After walking out on the Blazers, Parent came back to the Flyers this year, who had traded goalie Doug Favell to Toronto for the rights to Parent.

Terry Crisp got the first goal before the sellout crowd of 17,007 when he slammed a 25-foot shot past Favell at 12:52 of the first period.

Bill Barber added the other goal at 14:28 of the final period when he slid a 50-foot screened shot past Favell.

Alice Ahrens jolts 603

Alice Ahrens smashed the first honor series of her career Thursday in the Nite Owls League at Super Bowl by rolling a 603 series.

She followed a 197 opener with back-to-back 203 lines. Carol Wendt posted a 202 game.

Jan Plantekow smashed a 210-590 in the Koffee Kuppers at Sabre Lanes. Jeanette Schroeder rolled a 222 and Sally Schroth 200.

Marsha Griesbach clouted a 254 game and 578 series in the Hortonville Women's League. Bev Sommer rolled a 201-531 and Berdine Collar 206.

Leaders in Hahn's Women's League were Eunice Dietzen with 205-562, Pat Lutz 228-535, Grace Hansel 529, Jan Koerner 214 and Mary Wheeler 211.

Audrey Lathrop hit 559, Ruth Schmidt 210 and Nancy Larsen 205 in the Alley Cat loop at 41 Bowl.

Pacesetters in Hahn's Navy League were Donna Kassube with 542, Dee Kohl 207-539, Marion Lappen 527, Pat Sloan 230 and Carol Remter 204.

Lois Bressers rolled a 535 series and Sharon Sonnleitner 205 line in the Crispy Critters at Sabre Lanes.

Judy VerHoeven posted a 202 and Audrey Valentyne 201 in the Kimberly Ladies at Jerry's Lanes.

St. Mary, Xavier in state test

A field of 22 teams, including Xavier and St. Mary Central, will take part in the first state tennis meet for girls in the WISAA's history at Wayland Academy, Beaver Dam, Saturday beginning at 9 a.m.

Singles players for Xavier, coached by Brother William, are Barbara Lichtfuss (No. 1) and Anne Heezen (No. 2). Paula Baisden and Kathy Mauthe make up the Hawks' doubles squad.

For the Zephyrs, piloted by Patty Konkol, the singles entrants are Nancy Schipferling (No. 1) and Mary Geske (No. 2). Its double team consists of Theresa Noll and Betty Demerath.

St. Mary is 2-3 in conference play and 3-3 overall. Xavier's team has been organized only for a short time.

The tourney will be straight set elimination. Competition for the 84 girls entered will be in No. 1 and No. 2 singles and doubles. The losers in the semi-finals will play for third place. Each match will consist of the best of three (six game) sets.

Other schools entered include; Milwaukee Lutheran, University School, Pius XI, Devine Savior—Holy Angels, Dominican, St. John Cathedral, Wisconsin Lutheran, Racine St. Catheringe, Prairie, Oshkosh Lourdes, Marinette Central, Manitowoc Roncalli, Fond du Lac Springs, Brookfield Academy, La Crosse Aquinas, Wausau Newman, Chippewa Falls McDonell, Eau Claire Regis, Madison Edgewood and Wayland.

Limping Lions sign 2 players

DETROIT (AP) —The limping Detroit Lions swung a pair of deals Thursday to patch-up holes on their injury-riddled squad.

Veteran defensive back Doug Wyatt was obtained on waivers from the New Orleans Saints and former Cincinnati offensive guard Guy Dennis was signed as a free agent.

To make room for the two on their roster, the Lions placed guard Chuck Walton on the injured reserve list and asked waivers on offensive lineman Bob Tatarek.

Ironically, the first test for Wyatt, a 6-foot-1, 195-pound Tulsa graduate, will be against his former teammates as the Lions travel to New Orleans for a National Football League contest with the Saints on Sunday.

Wilt says, ABA forwards better

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wilt Chamberlain, a longtime great player in the National Basketball Association, sees a difference between that league and the American Basketball Association where he now coaches the San Diego Conquistadors.

However, he doesn't find that losing is any different.

Ralph Simpson, in a seemingly unerring display of shooting, scored 34 points and led the Denver Rockets to a 135-111 victory over the Conquistadors Thursday night.

In the night's other ABA contest, Carolina trounced Virginia 133-96.

The defeat was Chamberlain's first after making his coaching debut Wednesday when the Conquistadores turned back San Antonio 121-106.

Following Thursday's game, Chamberlain expressed surprise at the talent in the ABA.

"There's more of it than I imagined," he said. "The ABA forwards are better than those in the NBA, but the centers are not equal to the best of the NBA."

Dwight Lamar, a rookie from Southwest Louisiana, led San Diego with 20 points.

Cougars 133, Squires 96

Jim Chones scored 26 points and controlled the rebounding as the Cougars broke away after a close first quarter. The Squires trailed by only four after the opening period, but Carolina outscored them by 12 points in each of the second and third quarters and turned the game into a rout in the fourth.

"It's no time to let down," Lawrence University football coach Ron Roberts has been warning his team this week about the impending Midwest Conference game with Grinnell College at 1:30 p.m. Saturday in Grinnell, Iowa.

"I imagine they're looking at us with the same optimistic attitude," Roberts noted of Grinnell which has an identical 0-3 league record.

Lawrence has lost to Knox, Monmouth and Coe, three leading teams in the MC. Grinnell's defeats have come to Monmouth, Carleton and Cornell.

Roberts feels the worst part of his schedule is behind him but his worries aren't over. "It's important that we get a win," he said.

Alluding to earlier statements by Big 10 coaches John Pont, Northwestern, and John Jardine, Wisconsin, Roberts said, "It's not hard getting a team up for a tough game but you can't let down for a game you should win. It's hard getting a team up emotionally week after week."

Roberts announced several changes in Saturday's starting lineup for the Pioneers' game. Steve Neuman, 6-3, 215 pound, sophomore from Appleton East, will start at defensive tackle in place of sophomore Carl Oeflein, who suffered a pinched nerve in his neck. "We're beefing up our defense," Roberts said. Neuman, who switcherd from the offensive line to fullback this season, outweighs Oeflein by 25 pounds. Last week, Roberts added 40 pounds to the defense by putting offensive tackle Terry Kent on defense and shifting freshman Gary Weiss to the middle guard.

Joe Berghuis, a freshman from Kimberly, has been shifted to linebacker from his offensive tackle position. Freshman Terry Bolz, 6-0, 190, from Thiensville, will take over Berghuis' tackle berth. "We'd like him to be a little bigger," Roberts said, of Bolz, "but he's done a good job blocking when we've called on him."

Halfback John Davis will move in as fullback and sophomore Joe Troy, Racine, a converted quarterback, will start at halfback. Sophomore Bob Montgomery, Chicago, is expected to see more service at running back, too.

"We had a real good camp and did a lot more hitting," Roberts explained, when asked about a decrease in injuries this season.

Roberts thinks Grinnell has an excellent defense . but the Pioneer offense has not done its job. "They have two excellent receivers in Wally Bowers (son of Grinnell coach Edd Bowers) and Dave Casey who caught about 70 passes last year. There problem has been with their quarterbacks who are freshmen. The opposing teams have put a lot of pressure on them and we hope to do the same.," Roberts said.

Grinnell has been struggling with only 76 yards per game on offense. Lawrence has averaged 126 against opponents who rank first, second and fourth in the conference defensively. The Pioneer defense is last, while Lawrence is two notches better.

"We played our best game of the season and received a fine performance from the defense," Edd Bowers noted after his team's 27-0 loss to Cornell last week. .

Kaukauna '11' stays unbeaten

Kaukauna remained unbeaten in the Valley Frosh League after posting a 27-6 victory over Maplewood (0-3-1). It was the fourth straight win for the Ghosts.

In other games, Wilson (3-0-1) downed Madison (0-4), 20-8, Roosevelt (2-1-1) topped Kimberly (2-1-1), 14-8, Neenah White (1-3) nipped Einstein (2-2), 8-6, and Neenah Red (2-1-1) deadlocked Butte des Morts (1-2-1), 6-6.

A 35-yard run by Tom St. John accounted for Kaukauna's first touchdown. It also scored on a 30-yard pass from Scott Kuchelmeister to Perry Kohn, a 16-yard run by Jay Noon and a 1-yard plunge by Ross Giordana. Randy Mett ran in from two yards out for Maplewood's only TD.

Dave Witthuhn scored on runs of 20 and six yards and Brad Aschauer hit paydirt from a yard out for Wilson.

After Rick Vecker blocked a punt in the first quarter, Jeff Coenen hit Tom Shifker with a 12-yard TD aerial for Roosevelt. The winners also scored on a 1-yard plunge by Rick Heinritz. Del De Bruin ran for the conversion. For Kimberly, Lee Vanden Heuvel sprinted for a 21-yard touchdown on a sweep and Chris Bohne ran for the conversion.

Grif Thurston scored Neenah White's touchdown in the fourth quarter on a 5-yard run and Tom Torgerson ran for the decisive conversion.

Butte des Morts scored in the first period on a 1-yard run by Chuck Coopman. But Neenah's Reds battled back to tie the score on a 1-foot sneak by Chip Cianciola in the final segment.

Fishing hunting outlook

Color is fading in the north central areas, although Wisconsin Rapids and Woodruff still report some colors.

Squirrel hunting is good among oak ridges around Wisconsin Rapids and some grouse are being taken around Woodruff. A 41-pound musky was caught in Lake Tomahawk (Oneida county) last week and walleyes have been active on Mercer, Minocqua and Butternut lakes (Oneida county).

Color is at its peak in the west central region near Black River Falls and has just peaked around Menomonie. Grouse hunting has been slow due to the heavy leaf cover around Black River Falls. Duck hunting success was fair around Eau Claire with mallards and wood ducks the most common species taken, and flocks of geese are still present.

Toward the eastern region, colors are at the peak in Door and Shawano counties, at the 90 per cent level in Manitowoc county, 50 per cent in Outagamie county, and 60 per cent in Waupaca county. Chinook salmon are still hitting at Sturgeon Bay and lake trout should move into the reef areas at any time. Duck hunting has been good around Manitowoc county and hunters took mallard and teal around Waushara county. About 5,000 Canada geese are present in Green Lake county.

LAKE MICHIGAN DISTRICT

Manitowoc county — Salmon are continuing to move into the East Twin river at Two Rivers and the Little Manitowoc river at Manitowoc. Catches have been light, however, fishing activity has been heavy with some large salmon being taken. Duck hunting was excellent on Cato marsh and the Twin rivers north of Two Rivers, a few hunters experiencing full bag limits. Pheasant coloration in the county is about 40 per cent.

Oshkosh Area:

Fond du Lac county — Walleyes are biting on Long Lake. Bass and bluegills are being taken on Mayville lake. Duck and grouse hunting is fair. Color is at its peak in the Kettle Moraine.

Outagamie county — Color has reached about 50 per cent. Northern pike are being caught on the upper Wolf. Duck hunting was fair in the county.

Winnebago county — White bass are still biting on the Fox river in Oshkosh. Lots of Canada geese are in the area. Duck hunting was good the past week. Color is near its peak in Winnebago county.

Wautoma Area:

Green Lake county — The Grand River Marsh Wildlife area at present has a population of 5,000 Canada geese. Duck and goose hunting have been good.

Marquette county — Germania Wildlife area has been open to good duck hunting with fairly heavy hunting pressure. The aspens and birches have passed their peaks in color. The oaks have turned about 50 per cent. Peak coloration is just around the corner.

Waupaca county — Some walleyes are being taken on the Wolf river. There also have been some good catches of white bass. Bow hunting continues good. The color spectrum is about 60 per cent.

Waushara county — Poygan Marsh Wildlife area duck hunting has been fair to good with good takes of mallards and teals.

Marinette Area:

Florence county — Color is past its peak. Hunting is poor for grouse and ducks. Walleye fishing is good on Spread Eagle chain.

Marinette county — Panfish fishing and walleye fishing has been good on Lake Noquebay. Coho and chinook fishing is spotty on Little river, Menominee river and Green bay. Color reached its peak this past weekend. Grouse hunting is poor, bow hunting is picking up.

Oconto county — Browns and rainbows are being taken in Green bay waters off Oconto. Perch fishing has been good on Boulder and Boot lakes. Ruffed grouse success has been fair. Duck hunting was not too good although there have been lots of wood ducks in the area. Color has reached its peak and the trees are losing their leaves rapidly.

Shawano county — Color peaked last weekend. Small game hunters are having fair success with the amount of color.

NORTH CENTRAL DISTRICT

Antigo Area:
The color is past its peak. Hunting is fair. Water levels are back to normal.

Wisconsin Rapids Area:
The color is past its peak. The oaks are still holding leaves and are colorful. Hunting — the best game hunting is squirrels in the Oak ridges.

Top-ranked WISAA schools set for showdown battles

by THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two showdowns this weekend will have heavy bearing on selection of the four teams to compete next month in the fifth annual Wisconsin independent high schools' football playoffs.

The big games pit Wisconsin Rapids Assumption against Stevens Point Pacelli and Milwaukee Pius vs. Milwaukee Thomas More. Each except Thomas More, currently a darkhorse with a 4-2 record, is a leading contender for a berth in the postseason tournament, which Pius won last year by defeating Pacelli 10-0 in the finals.

Assumption and Pacelli, currently ranked second and eighth, respectively, among the state's middle enrollment schools by the Associated Press, clash Saturday at Assumption. Besides a playoff berth, the Central Wisconsin Catholic Conference title is likely to be on the line.

The same stakes prevailed when the teams met the last two years and Pacelli won both encounters. Assumption is 6-0 this year and Pacelli 5-0-1.

Pius, the state's seventh ranked large school team, was held to a 6-6 tie by Waukesha Memorial earlier this month. But the Popes have won their other four starts, including 14-13 last weekend over Milwaukee Marquette to knock the Hilltoppers from the top 10.

Marquette, 4-1 overall and half a game behind Pius in the Milwaukee Catholic league, remains in playoff contention but needs help. The Hilltoppers could get it from Fond du Lac, the state's eighth ranked big school team, which plays Pius Oct. 19.

Bidding strongly for what would be its first playoff berth is Madison Edgewood (4-1-1). Edgewood, which traditionally plays one of the state's toughest schedules, beat Thomas More last weekend. It tied strong Sun Prairie 13-13 and lost to Marquette 18-7 earlier.

Edgewood will wind up its regular season against public school power Madison East, currently ranked No. 3 in the state.

Green Bay Premontre (6-0) and Greendale Luther (5-0) are the only playoff contenders besides Assumption with perfect records. Premontre is the ninth ranked large school team.

A five man committee will meet in Madison Nov. 4 to select the field, using criteria of records, conference standing, comparative scores and strength of schedule.

After selecting the four teams, the committee will schedule semifinals Nov. 9 or 10 and announce sites. The championship game will be at Green Bay Nov. 16.

Rockets upset Kaukauna

KAUKAUNA — Neenah upset defending state and Fox Valley Association champion Kaukauna in WIAA regional volleyball competition here Thursday.

The Rockets swept their three game set from the Ghosts 15-5, 15-9, 15-13 for the victory. Neenah beat Kimberly 15-10, 15-9, 10-15 for a 5-1 record.

Kaukauna swept its series with Kimberly 15-8, 15-2, 15-11 to finish with a 3-3 mark.

The defeat was the first for a Kaukauna team on a regional level in five years. The Ghosts have won four of the last six state volleyball titles, including 1972.

Last night's fights

TORONTO — Ken Buchanan, 144, Scotland, stopped Frankie Otero, 137, Miami, Fla., 6.

DALLAS — Terry Daniels, Dallas, outpointed Bruce Scott, Beaumont, Texas, 10 light heavyweights.

Hortonville cops ECC Meet

RIPON—Hortonville High School's cross country team won its fourth straight East Central Conference Meet on the 2.5-mile Elizabeth Murray Park course here Thursday.

The Polar Bears garnered 41 points and were followed by Ripon 55, Waupaca 73, Winneconne 96, New London 108 and Berlin 157.

Ripon's K.C. Brooks was the fastest finisher with a time of 14:25.

Others in the top 10 in order of finish were Bob Meltz, Winneconne, Gary Kohls, Hortonville, Randy Immel, New London, Tom Rice, Waupaca, Wally Melchior, Hortonville, Dennis Eibert, Ripon, Bill Bergmann, Hortonville, Kelly Taylor, Waupaca, and Dennis Stiebs, Waupaca.

Berlin's top runner was Gary Parker, winner of the No. 16 slot.

The Polar Bear jayvee squad also won for the fourth straight year. It scored 22 points and was trailed by Ripon 38, Waupaca 89, Winneconne 104 and Berlin 126.

Hortonville's Garth Schnieder set the pace with a clocking of 15:46. Others in the top five included; Jeff Darnick and Dave Riedl, Hortonville, and Mike Noviteske and Dale Schilf of Ripon.

AP's Thomas says Packers and Rams will triumph

By BEN THOMAS
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Are the Los Angeles Rams for real?

As the National Football League goes into its fifth weekend, the Rams, in a renaissance under new Coach Chuck Knox, are one of the three teams still unbeaten and untied.

Los Angeles, with a new quarterback in John Hadl, a new coaching philosophy and a highly suspect—in preseason estimates—pass defense, had been relegated to the role of runnerup or lower in the reckoning of the National Football Conference West race.

Instead, the Rams are 4-0, have the best scoring offense in the NFC and one of the better defenses against scoring.

This Sunday the Rams play host to the Dallas Cowboys and face the severest test to date. The Cowboys will be attempting to rebound from their loss to Washington and stay alive in the NFC. The oddsmakers called it a "pick-em" early in the week.

Before going on to this week's Fearless Football Forecast, let's pause—not for station identification—and report that last week's showing was much better: 10 correct, three wrong. That makes it 36-14-2 for four weeks and a .720 average.

Dallas (3-1) at Los Angeles (4-0)—The Cowboy defense played well enough to win at Washington, so said Coach Tom Landry. Expect the Cowboy defense to play equally as well, but the Rams should prevail. RAMS 16, COWBOYS 14.

Minnesota (4-0) at San Francisco (2-2)—The Vikings have proven that they are for REAL. Now Fran Tarkenton and company have a chance to show just how real they are. San Francisco counters with John Brodie, but that won't be sufficient. VIKINGS 28, 49ERS 20.

Oakland (2-2) at San Diego (1-3)—Oakland must win this one if they are to stay in the running in the American Conference West race. They shouldn't have many problems against the Chargers. RAIDERS 35, CHARGERS 21.

Pittsburgh (4-0) at Cincinnati (2-2)—The Pittsburgh offense, directed by Terry Bradshaw, is first in scoring among AFC teams. The Steeler defense is first in keeping the other team from scoring. Don't count on an upset by the injury-riddled Bengals this time. STEELERS 34, BENGALS 14.

Kansas City (3-1) at Green Bay (2-1-1)—The Kansas City Chiefs have lost to the Packers in the Super Bowl and two exhibition games. This is the first regular season clash between the two and Green Bay should win this one, too. PACKERS 21, CHIEFS 17.

Baltimore (1-3) at Buffalo (3-1) — If Buffalo wins this one, then the Bills will have won as many games as they did for all of 1972. O.J. Simpson might even get 200-plus yards against the rebuilding Colts defense. BILLS24, COLTS 16.

Washington (3-1) vs New York Giants (1-2-1) at New Haven—The Giants have never beaten a George Allen-coached team. Now that the Redskins have their first showdown battle with the Cowboys under their belt, there's no reason Allen's string should be snapped. REDSKINS 27, GIANTS 20.

Philadelphia (0-3-1) at St. Louis (2-2)—St. Louis won the first meeting between these two NFC East teams 34-23. The Cards are playing a lot better ball than they were expected to. The Eagles are doing what they usually do best, lose. CARDINALS 31, EAGLES 18.

Detroit (1-2-1) at New Orleans (1-3)—New Saints' Coach John North was once an assistant at Detroit, which is really a non sequiter since the Lions have a new coaching staff and are a much better team that the record indicates. And two straight victories for New Orleans just isn't in the cards. LIONS 31, SAINTS 21.

Chicago (1-3) at Atlanta (13)—Atlanta beat New Orleans 62-7 and Chicago lost to New Orleans 21-16. Does that make the Falcons that much better than the Bears? Well, the oddsmakers say Atlanta by one point. What do they know about it? BEARS 24, FALCONS 15.

New York Jets (-3) at New England (1-3)—The fifth straight road game for the Jets—and 12th in a row including the exhibition season— because of the baseball playoffs. The Jets have lost two quarterbacks and three games. Maybe they won't lose another quarterback this time out, but they should lose another game and Jim Plunkett will have a good day for the Patriots. PATRIOTS 27, JETS 10.

Denver (1-3) at Houston (0-4) — One these days the winless Oilers won't be winless, but probably not Sunday. Denver quarterback Charley Johnson, whose hometown is Houston, needs 217 yards passing to reach the 20,000-yard plateau. He could get it in the Astrodome. BRONCOS 27, OILERS 18.

Miami (3-1) at Cleveland (31)—This marks the fourth appearance for each team in the Monday night game. The Dolphins have never lost in the Coseil-Meredith-Gifford Bowl. Cleveland has a 3-1 record. Bob Griese should keep Miami's Monday mark perfect. DOLPHINS 32, BROWNS 21.

Knox remains calm in face of tough schedule

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The surprising Los Angeles Rams seem headed for a Herculean task the rest of October as they face in succession the Dallas Cowboys, Green Bay Packers and Minnesota Vikings.

But rookie head Coach Chuck Knox remains calm. He said Tuesday that his Rams will approach the Cowboys this Sunday in Memorial Coliseum just as they did the winless Houston Oilers last Sunday.

"This is not a cliche with me," said Knox. "The game we're playing this week is the most important game for us. I felt the same way about Houston last week."

Knox disputed the inference that the Rams, 4-0, are finally meeting a team that will provide an acid test. "We haven't been playing against the wind," he said, noting that Kansas City, a Rams' victim, has a 3-1 record.

Dallas comes off a 14-7 defeat at Washington Monday night, and Knox said he didn't care which team won that game. However, he added, "Dallas has a lot of pride and losing that game gives them more incentive.

How does Knox expect his running attack to work against Dallas?

"We haven't gotten that far yet," he said of preparations which are aided by feeding data from game films to a computer for analysis.

The right facts must be input, said Knox, and the former history and political science student added: "Henry Clay once said statistics are no substitute for good judgment."

Yancey tops Pacific test

INZAI, Japan (AP) —Husky American pro Bert Yancey fired a one-under-par 70 today to maintain a two-stroke lead after the second round of the $300,000 Pacific Masters Golf Tournament.

Yancey's 36-hole total was a seven-under-par 135 on the 7,187-yard, par 71 Sobu Country Club course.

Yancey shot a six-under-par 34-31—65 Thursday to win $2,000 for the best score of the day.

Yancey had one bogey on the front nine and four birdies and two bogeys on the back nine today for a 36-34—70 on the second day of the tournament played under beautiful autumn skies.

Some 3,000 golf fans watched the leading professionals from Japan, the United States, Australia, Thailand, South Korea and New Zealand compete in one of the world's richest golf tournaments.

Two strokes behind Yancey was Lu Liang-Huan of Taiwan with a five-under-par 69-65—137. Lu's score today was 33-35—68. He had a two-under-par 69 on the opening round.

Bill Casper of the United States and Japan's popular pro Masashi "Jumbo" Ozaki and two other Japanese were tied for third position with a two-round total of 138.

Tied for seventh were Lee Elder of the United States and Hsieh Min-Nam of Taiwan with three-under-par 139s.

Defending champion Gay Brewer of the United States had a two-day total of two-overpar 144 to survive the cut of 146 for the final two rounds.

Tom quits Eagles, demands trade

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Defensive end Mel Tom has had enough of the Philadelphia Eagles football team.

Tom quit the National Football League club Thursday after an argument with defensive line coach Jerry Wampfler.

The 240-pound, seven-year veteran discussed the situation with head Coach Mike McCormack, then went to his home in Morristown, N.J., after demanding to be traded.

The run-in occurred after practice Wednesday when Tom claimed Wampfler made "a very personal, degrading statement" about Tom.

Tom said he challenged Wampfler to a fight, but Wampfler declined.

When the dispute started outside the Eagles dressing room, Tom yelled, "Trade me, fire me or fight me." Wampfler tried to calm him down, and they went into the locker room, where they met McCormack.

Drastic changes urged for campaign funding

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MAIDSON — The leader of a task force chosen by Gov. Lucey to advise on reform of the state laws are the use of money in elections made public today a preliminary report urging total reform of the campaign finance system. Major suggestions are limiting individual contributions to candidates, prohibiting money gifts by special interest groups, and encouraging parties and candidates to emphasize small gifts through the lure of state treasury matching funds.

The "working paper," as described by Prof. David Adamany of the University of Wisconsin, a long-time Lucey friend and adviser, proposed to permit substantial total spending by candidates for state elective offices, within a framework of stern auditing, close inspection by a special elections commission and full public disclosure.

Adamany said that "clean, untainted money should be available to wage competitive elections", and said if the general plan he outlined is enacted, it would be unique in this country.

The author of the detailed plan is a teacher on the political science department staff of the University of Wisconsin Madison campus and a loyal political associate of Gov. Lucey in his private capacity. Adamany has made a special study of campaign finance practices and problems in the country and told reporters the time has come for "root and branch reform."

He insisted also that his proposal is "no knee jerk reaction to Watergate" and welcomed criticisms and suggestions for revision of the plan which assumes that the existing control laws of the state which were hailed as pioneering more than half a century ago have been so weakened as to be inoperative in many cases.

Key conclusions of the document that Adamany said will be circulated widely with invitattions for revision or extnesion from all interested persons, within and outside of government and politics, include:

1. There should be literal expenditure limits on candidate spending, but candidates should be permitted to use enough money to "conduct vigorous adversary campaigns that alert the public to the real choices being offered in elections."

But the report suggested as top limits the totals that are now by common assumption of politicians typical of hard-fought and well-organized campaigns. Candidates for governor, for example, could spend up to $200,000 in any primary and $350,000 in any general election.

(Present law, in effect, does not impose limits, as a result of the evolution of the voluntary committee device for raising and disbursing money. Candidates' personal limits are so low that evasion through the campaign committee is now virtually universal practi e.)

2. Other state office candidates would be limited to $300,000 for primary and general elections, state senators to $22,000 for both, and state representatives ot $11,000 to win party nominations and elections.

3. Labor organizations, business groups, professional societies, farmer associations and others that have become more prominently involved in election financing would be prohibited from such involvement, but would be encouraged to promote vote drives, to encourage individual contributions to candidates and parties, and to involve themselves in campaigns in other ways.

4. Congressional campaigns would not be covered in the act, bucause of conflicts with present federal laws and the strong prospect that additional federal legislation will be enacted soon.

5. Individual contributions to candidates would be severely limited, as a means of encouraging politicians to rely more directly on smaller contributions in greater numbers. The proposed individual gift limit for a candidate for governor is $500, for candidates for the legislature $100.

6. Politicians would be encouraged to rely on smaller contributions with a provision in law that the staate would provide public matching grants for such donations of $100 or less made to candidates. But "frivolous candidates," the report said, would be discouraged by a legal threshold of small matchable privaet contributions that would be required before the candidate would claim public funds.

7. If candidates are eligible for matching grants they would be required to deposit all of their campaign resources in accounts administered by the state election commission, which would keep them open for public inspection and also issue periodic disclosure of their contents. All payments from public and private funds for campaign purposes would be legally spent only upon voucher for goods and services rendered.

8. Candidates receiving matching funds would be forbidden to incur debts through loans made for campaign financing, and when candidates have unexpended balances they would be required to return all money in excess of $500 to the donors of such money.

9. The elections commission would be bi-partisan and consist of a nominee of the chief justice of the state supreme court and the one each by the four major party leaders in the legislature.

Prof. Adamany conceded that there are probably constitutional difficulties in attempting to limit the political expressions of private citizens on behalf of or in opposition to a candidate, without the involvement of the candidate. Sudh independent and personal expenditures would be permitted, but the sums involved would be included in calculating the limits imposed on the candidates.

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Open heart surgery can relieve stenosis

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would like more information about mitral stenosis caused by rheumatic disease. Is there any remedy?

I am on medication twice a day but am so jittery at times.

I have been told that something can be done when the condition becomes worse than it now is. A recent ECG did not show any marked change from the last one. I am 67 and retired. —B.J.S.

Rheumatic disease in this case would mean rheumatic fever, which has a long and nasty record for causing valvular heart disease. The strep germs which cause the disease very often inflame one or more of the heart valves, most often the mitral valve.

So that is what happened to you. As the inflammation in the valve healed, it left scar tissue that narrowed the valve. That's the mitral stenosis.

With the valve narrowed, your heart has to work harder to accomplish the same amount of work.

Your medications are to keep your heart rhythm steady and to relax you — one is a mild sedative. There is considerable choice of medication for either purpose, and yours are excellent.

If the stenosis becomes too severe, open heart surgery is possible to open up the mitral valve, but at your age and with no indication that your condition is worsening, I would think it wise just to continue with your present medication.

I would suggest, since you mention being "so jittery at times," that you try to relax and be glad your condition is remaining stable. You might ask your doctor about a tranquilizer to take occasionally when the jitters are severe.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My friend has angina pectoris and high blood pressure. She takes a diuretic every second day and keeps nitroglycerine pills handy for pain. Is there any special diet she should follow? —D.T.S.

Diet is not of major importance in controlling angina pectoris, except that if she is overweight, reduction is essential. Your friend might get considerable benefit, though, from reading my booklet, "How to Handle Angina Pectoris." It's available by mail; send 25 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of The Post-Crescent.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can cortisone cause an enlargement of the face and neck? If so, is there any way to change that? I am 26 and took cortisone for a number of months for allergy. This makes me look like an all-day sucker. —P.

One of the recognized side effects of taking too much cortisone is the so-called "moon face" appearance which may be your trouble. The only solution is to stop the cortisone. However, that must be done gradually rather than abruptly.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is a polyp in the throat, described as a precancerous lesion, the kind of condition that leads to removal of the voice box? What precautions should be taken to prevent this from becoming cancerous? I am living with this fear daily. —R.

If it is located on the larynx and cancer invades the larynx, yes, removal of the larynx, or voice box, may be necessary. There is no way to prevent it from becoming cancerous except to remove it before it has time to do so. I can't tell from your letter whether you still have the polyp or have had it removed. If you still have it, have it removed. If it already has been removed, consult your surgeon for periodic examination to make sure there has been no recurrence.

To learn the major categories of prostate trouble — symptoms, treatment, how to speed recovery — write to Thosteson in care of The Post-Crescent for his booklet, "The Pesky Prostate," enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed (use ZIP code), stamped envelope.

Ellington board okays highway revenue funds

ELLINGTON — The town board of Ellington voted to pay $8,[illegible] of revenue sharing funds on Highway bids and voted to pay $95.73 to the revenue sharing fund from the township fund for interest received from a certificate amounting to $7,351.

It was voted to have the town board make application to the Outagamie Highway Commission for county aid on the cost of replacing a bridge on Midway Road. The replacement cost amounts to about $7,[illegible].

William Stewert presented a request with 124 township signatures suggesting that the town of Ellington make available the services of the Shiocton-Bovina Rescue Squad, which is fully equipped for immediate care for accident and emergency cases. The cost is $100 a run and a public hearing on this issue will be held at a later date.

Ronald Knuth and Tim Singler inquired what the requirements of a private road were to have thw town take over. The requirements from the meeting of March 16, 1970 were studied and they must be approved by the town board.

Building permits were granted by Vernice Lapp, building inspector, to: John Burr, new home; Robert Hile, mobile home; Gerald Lautenschlager, two car garage, Norbert Henry, mobile home; Harry Handel, new home; Anthony Bohman, pole shed; Robert Nussbaum, pole building; Robert Lemke, barn addition, and Kenneth R. Beyer, new home.

Enrollment reaches 5,005 in Kaukauna

KAUKAUNA — Kaukauna school district enrollment including parochial schools is 5,007 with public schools accounting for 3,684 of the total enrollment, according to figures released by School Supt. Julian Bichler.

There are six parochial schools in the district, four within the city. Three city schools are Catholic and one Lutheran. Catholic schools and their enrollments are Holy Cross, 438; St. Mary's, 253 and St. Aloysius, 246. Trinity Lutheran has 131 students.

In outlying areas, St. Francis Catholic, Hollandtown, has 186 enrollment and Sacred Heart Catholic, Sherwood, has 105 enrolled.

Bichler also prepared an enrollment forecast for the public schools for the next five years. The present grade school enrollment in public schools is expected to drop from 2,160 this year to 1,823 in 1978-79. High school enrollment is expected to increase from 1,488 this year t to 1,675 in 1978-79. The anticipated public school figures will vary because of families. It also could change drastically with the closing of any of the parochial schools.

Man seriously injured in crash

The condition of a 60-year-old Appleton man who suffered serious injuries in a two-car accident early today was listed as "guarded" by officials at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Bruce T. Mielke, 1351 W. Wisconsin Ave., was confined to the intensive care unit for treatment of head, arm and internal injuries, which he sustained after being thrown from his car in the 2 a.m. crash at the intersection of Wisconsin Avenue and Mason Street.

The second driver, Thomas C. Brockman, 24, 1826 E. Northland Ave., received only arm injuries.

Police said Brockman was driving north on Mason after stopping for a flashing red light at the intersection and that he did not see the Mielke auto heading west on Wisconsin.

After Mielke was thrown from the car, the vehicle continued north for about 400 feet on Mason, stopping in a yard at 1407 N. Mason St.

Woman hospitalized for injuries suffered in car-truck accident

A 47-year-old woman was taken to Theda Clark Hospital in Neenah for treatment of extensive injuries she received when her car and a semi-trailer truck were involved in an accident at the intersection of Memorial Drive and Prospect Avenue in Appleton about 6:15 a.m. today.

The driver of the car, Mary E. Hahn, 1500 Palisades Drive, Appleton, suffered a broken back, fractured ribs and possible broken pelvis.

Police said the woman was attempting a left turn onto Prospect from the northbound lane of Memorial when she entered the path of the truck, headed south on Memorial and driven by Donald J. Bishopp, 38, of Eleva.

Bishopp was not injured. His vehicle is owned by Netex Pet Foods Inc., Eleva.

White House source of Agnew deal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House suggested the secret bargaining that resulted in Spiro T. Agnew's resignation as vice president and acceptance of a felony conviction, Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson says.

President Nixon approved each major step in the negotiations, Richardson told a nationally televised news conference Thursday.

The plea bargaining was set in motion by White House counsel J. Fred Buzhardt, who telephoned Richardson to suggest he meet with Agnew's lawyers, the attorney general said.

Buzhardt did not indicate whether he was acting for the President, Richardson said. However, Nixon had been informed previously of the investigation of his vice president.

"The President was kept fully informed at all times," Richardson said. "He fully approved each of the major steps that were taken in the course of the negotiations."

Nixon was "concerned as all of us were with the potential consequences of a prolonged and agonizing trial of these issues of fact," Richardson said. The President set no limits on the bargaining, he said.

Richardson said that Nixon was told the substance of the allegations but asked not to be told the details because he felt it inappropriate.

"I wish to urge consideration and compassion. . . for the vice president who has rendered a high service by resigning and relieving the nation of a long and potentially disastrous period of anguish," Richardson said.

The attorney general spoke to reporters the day after Agnew resigned, pleaded no contest to income tax evasion and was placed on probation and fined $10,000.

The Justice Department agreed not to press other charges involving bribery and extortion as part of a deal for Agnew's resignation and no contest plea.

However, a spokesman for the Internal Revenue Service said it is virtually certain IRS will file civil suits to try to collect Agnew's unpaid taxes.

The investigation of Agnew began as part of a federal grand jury probe into alleged political corruption in Maryland.

Richardson said U. S. Atty. George Beall in Baltimore decided on July 3 that the charges against Agnew were so serious that the attorney general must be told.

The bargaining between the Justice Department and Agnew's lawyers began after Buzhardt's telephone call in September. The negotiations broke down in failure, then resumed last Saturday and an agreement was reached Tuesday.

Nixon to name his choice tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon decided today on his choice of a successor to resigned Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and will reveal his selection in a television address to the nation at 9 p.m. CDT, the White House announced.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon reviewed potential candidates Thursday during an overnight stay at Camp David, Md., narrowed the list down to five, and made his final choice Friday morning.

The President will speak from the East Room of the White House before an audience of Congress members, the Cabinet, the Supreme Court, some agency heads and representatives of the diplomatic corps.

Ziegler said Nixon intended to notify the vice presidential nominee "shortly before his address to the nation."

Connally's office in Houston refused to confirm or deny the report.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott returned to the Capitol from a 40-minute meeting with Nixon and said he anticipated a mid-day announcement on an Agnew successor.

Asked whether House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford would be the nominee, Scott said "Watch my head," and then shook his head no.

These officials are said to have felt that the military balance in the Middle East has not yet been upset.

Thursday's intelligence estimates in Washington indicated Israel had lost nearly 600 tanks. That was about a third of its tank force.

Israel's air losses were figured at about 75 planes, or 25 per cent of its jet fighters.

Intelligence sources set Syria's losses over six days as 550 tanks and 85 airplanes. That was nearly half its tank force and a third of its combat fighters.

Egypt is said to have lost 47 of its 55-fighter planes, with 33 other aircraft downed. Some 200 to 250 Egyptian tanks also were estimated to have been lost out of about 2,000.

Shortly after returning from an overnight stay at Camp David, Md. Nixon called Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and House GOP Leader Gerald Ford of Michigan to his office.

The White House said Nixon wanted to discuss the procedures to be followed by the Senate and House in handling the

Conferees agree on weapons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate-House conferees have dropped specific overseas troop reductions from a $21.3-billion compromise weapons authorization bill.

A Senate-approved amendment to reduce overseas forces by 40,000 by next June 30 and by 110,000 by Dec. 31, 1975, was eliminated from the final version of the annual military procurement legislation.

Retained was a reduction in U.S. forces in Europe by the percentages, if any, by which U.S. NATO allies fail to offset balance of payments trade deficits with the United States.

The bill now goes back to both houses for final action on the compromise.

The bill's $21.3 billion total is only $600 million less than requested in President Nixon's budget for weapons systems research, development and procurement.

It provides $1.1 billion for military aid to non-U.S. forces in South Vietnam and Laos, and bans any aid to North Vietnam.

In setting the annual military manpower ceiling, the bill would require by June 30, 1974, cutting 43,000 men from the 2,233,000 budgeted overall active strength of the armed services. The Senate earlier had voted for a 156,100-man cut; the House had proposed a 13,000 reduction.

In major weapons decisions, the conference committee:

—Restored $75 million of the $100 million cut by the Senate from the administration's $473.5 million research and development request for the B1 bomber.

—Restored $330 million cut by the House from a $918.5 million procurement request for the F15 fighter.

—Restored $29.3 million cut by the Senate from advance procurement authorization for the Navy's sea control ships.

—Approved a $70.1 million Senate authorization for additional procurement of the A70 attack plane.

—Denied $30 million in procurement authorization for the A10 attack plane and increased research authorization by $15 million.

The Navy's accelerated development schedule for the Trident submarine and new long range missile, involving $1.5 billio this year, was approved earlier by both the House and Senate and was not at issue in the conference.

Israeli jets hit Syrians

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israel claimed its tank forces backed by warplanes smashed forward inside Syria today as Jewish civilians reoccupied all but one of their settlements in the war-pocked Golan Heights.

The Egyptian command reported its Soviet-supplied jets blasted two Israeli command posts and two radar stations in the Sinai while Egyptian naval forces in the Gulf of Suez destroyed an entire Israeli flotilla.

Neither side reported heavy tank action in the Sinai Desert but Israel said artillery duels resumed at dawn. Egypt claimed its forces were digging in to stay on the eastern bank of the Suez Canal.

Syrian communiques claimed fierce tank battles raged "along the entire front line" but did not pinpoint where the battles were taking place. Israel claimed Thursday night its forces had punched six miles beyond the cease-fire lines, drawn when Israel seized the Golan Heights in the 1967 war, and were battling down the road to Damascus.

Damascus reported Israeli jets were strafing and bombing deep in Syria and claimed a dozen raiding warplanes were shot down in the Damascus area alone. Intelligence sources in Washington expressed belief that the Syrian kill claims were bloated.

The Israeli state radio reported that civilians returned to 26 of the 27 Golan settlements evacuated when hostilities erupted Saturday in the 1,250square-mile area in Israel's northeast corner.

The tank forces were "continuing to smash their way forward," the broadcast said, without saying how far they had advanced.

Israel claimed Thursday that its tanks had crossed the Golan Heights cease fire line with Syria and moved six miles down the road to Damascus.

"Israeli forces in the Golan Heights took up their initiative of attack from yesterday," the first Israeli communique of the day said. "The Israeli air force this morning resumed its extensive support for the land forces."

Israel said nothing about the dawn position of its armored force, resistance by the Syrians or how far the Israelis planned to push toward the Syrian capital, which is 40 miles north of the 1967 cease-fire line.

Syrian communiques ignored the claims of Israeli advances, saying only that ground fighting resumed at the "front line" while its jet fighters and antiaircraft batteries shot down six Israeli planes between 6:30 and 7:10 a.m.

Gen. Haim Herzog, the Israeli state radio's authoritative military commentator, said Thursday night that there remained between the Israelis and Damascus two Syrian defense lines and a "bristling" military complex around Qatana, 16 miles southeast of the city.

As the fourth Arab-Israeli war went into its seventh day, Israel claimed that its missile boats sank two Syrian boats in a battle at the approaches to Tartus, on the Syrian coast. The Israelis said all their boats returned safely.

Syria claimed that its boats sank three Israeli boats and its air defense brought down an Israeli helicopter.

At the United Nations, the Security Council resumed its Middle East debate Thursday night after Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim urged the deadlocked body to do something to end the fighting.

Agnew case mishandled says Clark

DALLAS (AP) — Former U.S. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark has criticized Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson's handling of charges against former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

Clark suggested in a speech to students at Dallas County Junior College on Thursday that Agnew bartered the nation's second highest office to stay out of jail.

The former Lyndon B. Johnson administration official called Richardson's recommendation for leniency an unprecedented move. He noted that U.S. Dist. Court Judge Walter Hoffman said he would have assessed Agnew a prison term had Richardson not asked otherwise.

Clark said people should be sad for the nation, for Agnew and Agnew's family because of the former vice president's conviction on a charge of income tax evasion.

"But can we only give compassion to people who have known power and fame?" he asked.

Calling greed "probably the greatest affliction of this country," Clark asked: "What does it mean when the President of the United States made $200,000 a year from the taxpayers and so arranges his tax return that he pays $800 in taxes one year and $700 another?"

He said former President Harry S Truman gave his presidential papers to the United States because he thought the papers belonged to the people, while Nixon gave his nine-year-old vice presidential papers to the people "for a couple of hundred thousand dollars in tax deductions."

Ammo going to Israelis

WASHINGTON (AP) — Israel's need for artillery shells and antitank ammunition will be met by the United States, but a decision was still being worked out today on sending planes and tanks.

The ammunition was being prepared for emergency transfer to Israel, according to Pentagon sources. Indications pointed to the shipments moving from remote bases in the United States, possibly on Israeli planes.

The situation involving new arms for Israel and other questions concerning the Middle East could be clarified today by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger. He scheduled his first news conference since the war started last Saturday.

Discussions continued into this morning at the White House, State Department and the Pentagon on the issue of providing major American arms to replace Israel's losses.

By late Thursday night, it was learned, the only action taken had been the drafting of contingency plans for transfering planes and tanks to Israel.

One such possibility involved moving U.S. Air Force F-4 Phantom jets to Israel from American bases in Europe. These would be replaced by planes being produced in the United States.

While these contingency plans awaited a final decision, preparations were made to send Israel tons of ammunition as a "quick fix" after it was determined the first six days of fighting had reduced stockpiles to serious but not extremely dangerous levels.

Some officials said sending the shells now also was a response to the continuing shipment of Russian equipment to Egypt and Syria.

It was hoped Moscow would realize that while Washington stands by the Jewish state, the limiting of supplies to ammunition indicated the Nixon administration did not want to open an arms race in the area.

The Soviets, Pentagon sources said, had flown at least 80 AN-12 Cub transport planes to Syria carrying antiaircraft missiles, antitank rockets and other arms.

The shipments to Egypt were fewer, the sources say.

Several factors were weighed by American officials concerning the critical question of providing new planes and tanks to Israel.

No official would discuss the matter publicly.

Kidnapers bargain for release of 51 prisoners

MEXICO CITY (AP) —The kidnapers of an honorary British consul and a wealthy industrialist have demanded $200,000 ransom and safe conduct to North Korea for 51 prisoners in exchange for the hostages' freedom.

There was no immediate response from the government.

In a note to a local television station, a group calling itself the "23 of September Communist League" said Mexican-born British honorary consul Anthony Duncan Williams and industrialist Fernando Aranguren "have been condemned to death" if the demands are not met.

The communique, left Thursday night, set a deadline of 4 p.m. —5 p.m. DCT — today and demanded that the prisoners and money be delivered to the Guadalajara airport 400 miles northwest of the capitalm

Williams and Aranguren were kidnaped Wednesday in different parts of Guadalajara.

Williams' family said his wife received a handwritten message from him late Thursda saying he had been treated well. "I don't believe we will have problems as long as we comply with the wishes of these men," the note said.

The kidnapers also demanded publication on front pages of newspapers and on radio and television broadcasts of a "call to the nation" which they said they would supply.

The communique said a representative of the Cuban Embassy should witness the release of the prisoners, who were said to be in nine jails across the country. The representative is also to certify payment of the ransom and insure that a government representative accompanies the prisoners to Pyongyang, the North Korean capital.

When their arrival in North Korea is confirmed by radio and television, the kidnapers said, the two hostages will be freed.

The demands were similar to those made by kidnapers of U.S. Consul Terrance G. Leonhardy in Guadalajara last May. In that case, the kidnapers demanded and received $80,000 and the release of 30 prisoners who were flown to Cuba. Police later announced the abductors' capture.

'Plumber' Krogh first to be indicted by grand jury in probe of Watergate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The wide-ranging investigation of the special Watergate prosecutor has produced its first indictment — a charge that the former boss of the White House plumbers lied to the original Watergate grand jury.

In a proceeding that lasted barely a minute Thursday before U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica, a grand jury delivered an indictment against Egil Krogh Jr. It charged that on Aug. 28, 1972, Krogh lied under oath when asked about the activities of E. Howard Hunt and G. Gordon Liddy. Krogh, 34, did not appear in court. A spokesman for the prosecutor's office said he probably will be arraigned next week.

Meanwhile, on Capitol Hill, the Senate Watergate committee was told by Frank Mankiewicz, political director of Sen. George McGovern's 1972 presidential campaign, that Republican dirty tricks created "an unparalleled atmosphere of rancor and discord within the Democratic Party."

After hearing Mankiewicz and Rick Stearns, another former McGovern campaign aide, the committee recessed until Oct. 30, when it will continue its probe of political espionage during the 1972 campaign.

Mankiewicz said the purpose of the GOP sabotage effort appeared to be to "create within the Democratic Party such a strong sense of resentment among the candidates and their followers as to make unity of the party impossible once a nominee was selected."

The staff of special prosecutor Archibald Cox has been presenting evidence on the activities of the so-called plumbers unit to a special grand jury empaneled last Aug. 13.

Krogh has pleaded innocent to charges of burglary and conspiracy, returned on Sept. 4, by a Los Angeles County grand jury that investigated the break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

The federal indictment returned Thursday said that Krogh was called before the grand jury investigating the break-in at Democratic National committee headquarters and asked about the activities of Hunt and Liddy while they were on the White House staff.

Krogh was their immediate supervisor.

A government memorandum released at the Pentagon Papers trial disclosed that Hunt and Liddy had engineered a September 1971 break-in at the office of Dr. Lewis Fielding, Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

The new indictment said that Krogh was asked if Hunt and Liddy had made any trips to California while on the White House staff.

It quoted Krogh as saying Hunt had made none and that Liddy had made only one, which was to inspect "some customs matters" related to narcotics enforcement.

Each of the two counts in the indictment carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

A bill went to Congress Thursday to authorize the court to extend the term of the original Watergate grand jury for up to one year if it needs the extra time to complete its business.

In a letter to House Speaker Carl Albert, Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson noted that the grand jury's 18-month term expires Dec. 5, and can be extended only by Congress.

Nixon plans TV report on nominee nomination, which requires majority approval by both bodies.

Atty Gen Elliot L Richardson also was a morning visitor to the White House, but a spokesman said he was not seeing Nixon

Rejecting the notion he must name a "caretaker" vice president, Nixon was said on sources to have narrowed substantially the list of possible Agnew replacements

There are no precedents for putting into operation the untried machinery of the 25th Amendment for replacing a vice president and Senate leaders had been pressing for joint hearings.

But after a conference between speaker Carl Albert, House Republican Leader Gerald Ford and other leaders from both parties, it was decided that each body should act independently

The decision came as congressional leaders were warning that Nixon's income —expected to be made public next week —could face lengthy investigation and questioning

Unlike the normal confirmation process, which only requires Senate approval, the vice presidential nominee must be confirmed by both House and Senate under the terms of the 25th amendment, which was adopted in 1967.

The House procedure will be for hearings on the nomination by the Judiciary Committee, headed by Rep. Peter W Rodino, D-N.J.

Israel caught off guard; even Eben surprised

WASHINGTON (AP) — When Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban conferred with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger last Thursday about the troubled Middle East he referred to an Arab military buildup along the Suez Canal and the Golan Heights.

But Eban did not appear to be alarmed or even apprehensive as the two men talked in Kissinger's New York hotel suite. They agreed to meet again in November, after the Israeli elections, to search for a means toward a negotiated settlement with the Arabs.

Over the preceding several days, in fact, the United States had asked the Israelis whether they were certain that the buildup was a defensive mobilization. The reply, in effect, was "yes."

Suddenly, late Friday, the Israeli assessment underwent a radical reversal. The tipoff was a withdrawal of Russian technicians and dependents from Cairo and Damascus. Jerusalem was then certain that Egypt and Syria were primed to attack.

State Department sources say there is good reason to believe that before the Russians pulled out they attempted to persuade Cairo to hold back.

If there was any doubt that Israeli intelligence was caught off guard analysts at the Pentagon point to two facts: the long time it took Israel to mobilize after the Arabs struck and the civilian losses in the settlements along the Golan Heights.

Had Israel been prepared the Army would have been ready to fight and the settlements made more secure, the analysts say.

The United States makes no bones about it being taken by surprise as well.

"We were surprised, Israel was surprised," is the succinct way Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana put it to a reporter. Mansfield has been briefed by the White House.

Less than 24 hours before the Arabs attacked, Kissinger was moving through a series of meetings with foreign ministers from Southeast Asia, Latin America, Africa and the Middle East.

One of them was with Mohammed Hassan el-Zayyat of Egypt. Like Eban, he indicated that he would like to talk to Kissinger in November about the prospects for a negotiated settlement of Israel's despute with the Arabs.

Senior U.S. officials are convinced that the Egyptian minister was not aware then of the attack to come so soon afterward.

Kissinger remained in New York to work on a broadly philosophic speech that emphasized U.S. relations with the Soviet Union. Joseph J. Sisco, the assistant secretary of state for Near Eastern and South Asian affairs, had a date to play golf.

Kissinger was concentrating his attention on Europe and the trip he was to make to London, Bonn and possibly Rome beginning this weekend, and on his sixth visit to China toward the end of the month.

A frantic alarm from the Israelis activated Washington at about 6 p.m. Friday.

Police don't know motives of gun battle

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — About 100 shots were fired in a wild gunbattle Thursday night as 60 policemen tried to flush an estimated six snipers from a marshy area on Pontiac's South Side.

The snipers later escaped, police said.

Only one person was wounded in the hail of bullets that police said started flying after Roy McGhee, 23, of Pontiac, was fired on as he drove near the Bagley School.

A bullet struck him in the knee but doctors at Pontiac General Hospital said the wound was not serious.

When police went into the area to tow McGhee's car away, more firing ensued and a heavy concentration of Pontiac police, state police, Oakland County sheriff's deputies and West Bloomfield Township police responded.

One police source estimated the people in the swamp fired about 40 to 50 shots, with the police firing 50 to 60.

The men in the swamp apparently escaped unharmed, leaving police puzzled as to the motive for the shootout.

Labor opposes Connally, Reagan

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Labor leaders promise "as strong a fight as we had against Clement Haynsworth" if President Nixon nominates John B. Connally or Ronald Reagan for vice president. AFL-CIO leaders here for their biennial convention said Thursday they can live with almost any of the others prominently mentioned in speculation — particularly New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and former Secretary of State William P Rogers. Nixon's nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. to the Supreme Court was strongly opposed by labor and rejected by the Congress.

NEW YORK (AP) —CBS's "All in the Family" series was the nation's most widely watched show in the third week of the new TV season, according to the A.C. Nielsen ratings made public Thursday. Second was NBC's "Sanford and Son." None of the season's new series were counted among the nation's 20 most popular shows. The highest rated of the new shows — NBC's "Girl with Something Extra" —tied for 28th with an ABC made-for-TV movie.

CHICAGO (AP) —The defense fund for Spiro T Agnew, established by insurance tycoon W. Clement Stone, is still accepting contributions. A spokesman for Stone said Thursday that calls were still coming in from persons who wanted to give money. The former vice president reportedly asked on Wednesday that money be refunded to any contributors asking for it. The fund spokesman said that any money not returned, and the new donations, would be used to help defray Agnew's legal costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Egil Krogh Jr., former boss of the White House plumbers, has been charged with giving false testimony to the original Watergate grand jury. A federal grand jury Thursday charged that Krogh lied under oath when asked about the activities of E. Howard Hunt and G. Gordon Liddy.

WASHINGTON (AP) —Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban told Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger last week about an Arab military buildup. But Eban did not appear to be apprehensive in the New York conversation two days before the latest Mideast hostilities began. The Israelis at the time considered the buildup a defensive mobilization.

WASHINGTON (AP) —The House is expected to give final congressional approval today to landmark restraints on presidential war-making powers. However, a certain veto by President Nixon awaits the bill. Backers said they would be watching today's vote for an indication of whether the veto can be overridden.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate-House conferees have dropped specific overseas troop reductions from the weapons authorization bill But conferees retained a provision requiring reductions in U.S. force in Europe by the percentages by which U.S. NATOallies fail to offset balance of payments trade deficits with the United States.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration plans to announce today its mandatory fuel allocation program covering heating oil, kerosene, jet and diesel fuel. However, the House Rule Committee Thursday voted against postponing action on legislation imposing a more extensive program.

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — President Ferdinand E. Marcos granted amnesty today to three Filipino college students who hijacked a Philippines Air Lines jet to Hong Kong on Thursday. The young men, 19 to 21 years old, were talked into returning to Manila with the plane. They met with Marcos, and PAL president Benigno Toda Jr said they complained about "certain abuses of the military" in their hometown on Mindanao, the southern island where the armed forces are battling Moslem insurgents. Toda said Marcos had ordered his military commanders to act on the youths' complaints

BUENOS AIRES (AP) —Supporters of Juan D. Peron drove around downtown Buenos Aires and congregated in the Plaza Mayo during the night, getting ready for their 78-year-old leader's inauguration today as president of Argentina. His third wife, Isabel, will be installed as vice president. Peron was expected to salute the crowd from the balcony of the Casa Rosada —the Pink House — but he planned no inaugural address.

Fighting...

Another council session was scheduled this afternoon, but neither the United States, supporting Israel, nor the Arabs' Soviet and Chinese backers were expected to give ground.

Egyptian Foreign Minister Mohamed H. el-Zayyat told the council that Israeli bombing had killed 500 Egyptian civilians in the Nile Delta, where Israel has admitted attacking three air bases. Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban replied that the Arabs started the fighting, and he said the side that begins a war is responsible for all casualties on all sides.

Egypt and Syria claimed they brought down a record 112 Israeli planes on Thursday, bringing their total claimed kills in the first six days of the war to 409 planes. The Israeli air force is estimated to have a total of 488 planes, with 367 of them combat aircraft.

Neither Israel nor the Arabs have given any figures on their own losses, but American intelligence sources in Washington gave these estimates for the three countries in the first five days of battle:

Israel — 75 fighter planes, 600 tanks 1,500 to 2,000 dead and wounded.

Egypt — 80 aircraft, 47 of them fighters, more than 200 tanks and 5,000 to 8,000 dead and wounded.

Syria — 85 aircraft, up to 650 tanks, 5,500 to 6,000 dead and wounded.

Damascus Radio said today that "Israeli pilots have become so demoralized that they often bail out the moment they reach Syrian skies," and it claimed the Israeli commanders were chaining the pilots to their plane seats The Syrian news agency distributed a photograph of a burned corpse wrapped in chains

"Utter nonsense," said an Israeli military spokesman.

Israel also reported about 35 to 40 Katyusha rockets were fired by Palestinian guerrillas in southern Lebanon at eight Jewish settlements. It said one person was wounded but no serious damage was reported.

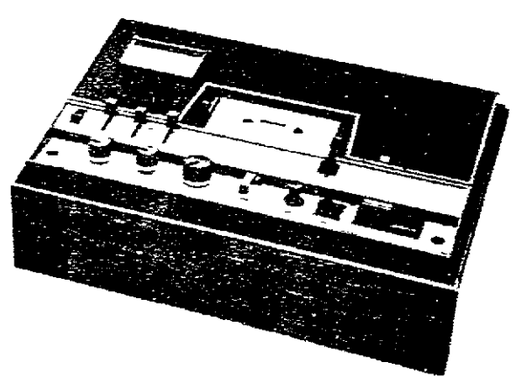
HAVE YOU WAITED FOR OPEN REEL PERFORMANCE FROM A CASSETTE TAPE DECK?

Here Is What Noted Stereo Critic Julian Hirsch Had To Say About The Advent Model 201 Cassette Deck:



"The Advent 201 easily met its specifications, and established itself — at least for now — as the best cassette recorder we know of."

"It is difficult to restrain our enthusiasm for the Advent 201. The unit came with a demonstration tape that had been dubbed on to Crolyn tape by that specific machine from a Dolby "A" master tape. The sound quality [illegible] especially with the finest playback amplifiers and speakers, was literally awesome as was the total absence of hiss or other background noise."

Summarizing, the Advent 201 is a tape deck of superlative quality. It is difficult to imagine how its sonic performance could be substantially improved this is the one that sets the standard for cassette recorders."

We don't usually get carried away [illegible] equipment reviews, but this one's as different as it sounds. We urge you to come in and put Advent's amazing new cassette machine to your own critical listening test.

More charges?

There may be more charges filed as a result of the John Doe probe in Outagamie County, but not involving county matters, acting Circuit Court Judge R. Thomas Cane revealed Thursday.

Cane and Dist. Atty. John Ensley issued a statement on the probe Thursday outlining plans to charge county health center Supt. Eugene Speener with three counts of misconduct in office and calling for a code of ethics for the county to stop certain favor-receiving practices and illegal purchase methods.

The judge, responding to reporters' questions, said other charges were being considered. He would not identify the area where they may come in, only assuring they wouldn't involve county government.

Apparently, the only noncounty government complaint probed in the closed Doe hearing was an allegation by certain members of Operating Engineers Local 139, Appleton, of misconduct by union leaders..

At least three union members have testified since Aug. 8, including two complainants on that day and one near the end of September. The first two witnesses were Charles Strong, of the Clintonville area, and Wilbert Lopas. The third witness was not identified.

Strike deadline set for Monday

WAUPACA — The 98 teachers of the Waupaca Unified District will strike at 6 a.m., Monday, if no significant progress is made in weekend negotiations.

The membership of the Waupaca Teachers Association (WTA) met Thursday to review its present position, and the executive and welfare committees voted 17-1 with one abstension, in favor of the strike if a tentative master contract is not reached before the Monday deadline.

The board of education and WTA bargaining teams will begin mediation at 10 a.m.., Saturday, with Marvin Scherke, mediator for the Wisconsin Employment Relations Commission. Scherke has been asked to bring an alternate from the commission to replace him if he should have to leave before agreement is reached.

According to Thomas Radler, WTA public relations chairman, the issues to be settled as the teachers see them are stated in a flyer to be distributed at the homecoming parade and game today.

Captioned "No Contract —No Work," the flyer reads:

"Recently Supt. Len Brittelli stated in a letter to teachers, 'We have completed one full month of teaching without a contract.' In actuality, we have been without a new contract since April 15.

"The teachers feel that it is time a new contract was settled.

"Many citizens have asked for an explanation of our position.

"We are asking for:

"1 —Just cause (fair dismissal) A teacher should not be dismissed for a petty reason, such as a disagreement with the superintendent or school board.

"The policy wuold require the board or its designate to get out and evaluate a teacher to determine cause for fair dismissal.

"2 —Grievance procedure. We want the right to grieve the infractions concerning wages, hours and conditions of employment which are provided by law and included in the master contract or implemented as new school policies.

"3 —Medical insurance. We are asking the board to pay 100 per cent where it presently pays 85 per cent.

"This does not involve such things as social security.

"Monetarily this amounts to $5.50 per teacher per month.

"4 —Salary. The board has offered $200 added to the present base which would mean a raise of 2.8 per cent. The teachers are asking for $350 added to the present base which would mean a raise of 4.8 per cent.

"The board is asking for a zipper clause. We cannot accept the administration's wish to open (unzipper) the master contract previously agreed to, to change hours, wages and conditions of employment without establishing a method to accomplish this which is acceptable to both sides.

"The board has used this clause in previous news releases to claim that teachers want management of the school.

"We are happy to see that the school board is finally going to bargain around the clock to settle the contract.

"We thank the citizens of Waupaca for making themselves felt on teacher board negotiations. Both sides would be happy to hear from you."

The informational picketing by the WTA, which started Wednesday, is continuing.

Blood drive at Clintonville

CLINTONVILLE — A quota of 115 pints of blood, including a request for seven pints of "O" negative blood, has been set for the Red Cross Bloodmobile's visit here Monday.

Donors may designate blood as a replacement for that used for Orlin Peeters, formerly of Clintonville, who was injured seriously in an auto accident recently. He is a patient at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Appleton.

June Rath, who is reigning as queen over Waupaca High School's homecoming today, gives her escort, Michael Zielke, a helping hand in getting ready for the full-day of activities. Zielke has been confined to Riverside Community Hospital for 10 days following a football injury. The royal couple, limited with participation, hope to attend all of today's activities. Brillion assessments legal

By Janice Johnson
Post-Crescent Correspondent

BRILLION — The board of review, meeting with representatives of the state Department of Taxation and Laird Co. this week, was told that it had a legal assessment roll despite inequities and omissions and would have to work with it if taxes were to be collected.

The meeting was called after the board discovered major omissions and errors in the roll prepared by the James R. Laird Co., Appleton.

The board pointed out that procedures promised by Laird representatives originally had not been followed and that the roll was more nearly correct last year, when it was realized that numerous inequities existed. Aldermen noted that it was difficult to justify spending more than $10,000 of the taxpayers' money for a reassessment and wind up with the situation that now exists.

Duane Hanson, Laird representative, said he hoped no one was "naive enough to see a reappraisal as a panacea."

"I am quite confident in my own mind," Hanson said, "that there are missed properties in Appleton where I live as well as gross inequities, but am realistic enough to know the errors exist because the work is done by humans."

Aldermen are concerned over the number of errors. Five out of six aldermen reported errors in their assessments. Ald. Eugene Buboltz (3rd) noted that if the same rate of error prevailed throughout the community, it would mean about 500 mistakes. He commented that he is still looking for the extra bathroom he was credited with.

Referring to the errors on residential reports, Hanson contended that although the information might be in error in some cases, the final value was within the tolerance. State statutes allow a 12 1/2 per cent variance in assessments.

The major problem, as seen by the board, is not the numerous small mistakes in the residential areas, but complete omissions and the relationship of the assessment of the residential area to the commercial. An example cited was omission of all pattern equipment amounting to $250,000, and all IBM equipment, at another $200,000, at the Iron Works. The omissions were reported to the board by company officials.

Aldermen also contended that visual inspections promised by Laird could not have been made in many cases. Examples cited were a building reportedly sitting on a 15 foot lot and the inclusion of property outside of the city limits.

The key question seemed to be how any confidence could be placed in the fact that there were no additional mistakes in view of the number of errors found in spot checking. These mistakes will not be found unless blocks are pieced together and checked completely by the board. Aldermen noted that the need to eliminate this part of the work was one reason for contracting for the reassessment in the first place. The city has only part-time city officials, and concern was expressed that it would be impossible to make all corrections by the Dec. 15 deadline.

David Price of the Department of Taxation commented that it was "regrettable that this has happened, but we must see it as it is now." He suggested that small errors be overlooked and where assessments are really out of line, they be changed by means of hearing testimony as prescribed by law. "Look at large errors," he said, "but if you start checking large numbers of assessments you are creating a lot of problems for yourself." He added that if the roll is not accepted, no taxes can be collected.

"How can you vote for something you don't believe in," Buboltz asked. "I don't think public officials should swallow their morals. If it's not just, honest, and fair, and if things are missed, it's not right. And you're saying, 'call it fair,' " he charged.

Price noted he was not claiming the figures were good, just that the city must work with them. "As far as the Department of Taxation goes, it still sees assessments as a local function, and the department has limited supervision. If you feel they are grossly improper or gross negligence has been shown, you can choose to proceed with a legal suit."

Hanson said that, based on total parcels, he felt at most there were questions on about 30. "That is only 2.7 per cent of the total," he added.

It was countered that two mistakes alone at the foundry accounted for one-half million dollars.

Ald. Donald Endries (2nd) was concerned with what to tell the taxpayers. "Not many people at the board of review complained because they were comparing homes. What they don't realize is how commercial areas have dropped." Endries noted that this would result in "one heck of a tax rate."

Figures show residential rates at 111.25 per cent of equalized value, commercial at 85.59 per cent, manufacturing at 96.05 per cent and farming at 86.42 per cent. It was understood that all properties would be assessed at 100 per cent or current market value.

Mayor Clarence Wolf charged that sales information used was not current. He noted that inequities between residential and commercial would become even worse next year. Assessments on commercial or perhaps on the edges of the city received high evaluations pushing the figures upward, while businesses downtown were valued extremely low, estimated to be under the 79 per cent of equalized value used last year. "The residential is being penalized severely on this assessment," Wolf commented. "If this is what's happening, we have a very poor assessment."

The circumstances surrounding the signing of the roll also were discussed. It was noted that the roll came late, and there was no opportunity to check it before the board of review. When the board convened it was pointed out by Hanson that the board of review could not be conducted unless the roll was signed. It then was signed by Clerk Wesley Hoeft. Hoeft has since been criticized for his suggestion to proceed with signing.

The reason figures recorded for machinery and tools at the two major industries showed a tremendous increase for one and a major decrease for the other over last year's figures could not be explained by Hanson, who disclaimed any knowledge of the base used for 1973 assessments. He noted that figures were supplied by industry and factored according to guidelines for depreciation.

It had been understood from an earlier meeting with Laird representatives that industries would be in roughly the land and a card system provided on personal and real

Liquor licenses for 2 beer bars in New London to be considered

NEW LONDON — Applications for liquor licenses from Sommer's Place and Gerald's Restaurant, two establishments which currently operate as beer bars, will be acted on when the City Countil meets at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Under a recently enacted state statute, establishments that had operated as beer bars before the age of majority law lowered the minimum age for drinking from 21 to 18 years of age can apply for full liquor licenses and the municipalities may award the licenses.

City Atty. James Lindgren has said both establishments meet requirements for licenses, according to his legal opinion.

In other business, aldermen will discuss, and possibly vote on, a proposal to buy the old Green Bay and Western railway depot on Shawano Street.

The depot is for sale and some aldermen said at the last meeting they would like to buy the landmark, which is estimated to be more than 100 years old. But aldermen also noted that they have no apparent use for the building, so they decided to consider the proposal further Tuesday.

The finance committee is due to come in with recommendations for financing two projects —a sanitary sewer extension to the east in the DeGroff building and possible funds in the 1974 budget for updating the Candeub Fleisig Report.

The sewer project, estimated at over $18,000, was requested because a new industry purchased the building, but needs sewer services. The sewer lines would be extended from the intersection of N. Water and Pearl streets.

Earlier this month, the planning commission recommended that the council include $7,200 in the 1974 budget to update the Candeub Fleisig Report, used by state and federal agencies when the city applies for aids.

Aldermen also are due to discuss a request from a downtown merchant who had asked that the city reconsider its position of having Lincoln and St. John's streets both one-way. The streets, which are one block apart, have been one-way headed north for about two years. The merchant said the traffic flow makes it difficult for traffic from the north to enter his parking lot.

If the finance committee and city clerk can complete preliminary work on the 1974 budget before Tuesday, the line-by-line study of the proposal also may be studied by the council in an all-night session.

After the council studies the preliminary budget, it schedules a public hearing before final passage.

'74 start for bridge at Fremont

BY Virginia Schmidt
Post-Crescent correspondent

FREMONT — Construction of the U.S. 10 bridge in the village is scheduled to begin in the late fall of 1974, providing several government agencies accept the draft drawing and the funding remain available.

Joel Germand, chief design engineer, and John Neidhold, both of the state highway division, presented the draft to the village board for study.

A copy of the draft also was submitted to the state Department of Local Affairs and Development for approval because four residents are being displaced; and to the federal Department of Transportation because public lands, the Wolf River Crossing Park, will be disrupted.

If the relocation order is approved, a meeting will be scheduled with engineers and the village board.

Land acquisition also will begin after plans acceptance. The home of the William Mathwig family already has been moved and is relocated in the Hahn development, route 1. Three homes affected on the east side of the river still remain.

The new access to the relocated Wolf River Crossing Park will be on Water Street, renamed Wolf River Drive. An overpass structure also will be on that street, and some streets will have no access limits.

Sample copies of street closing resolutions were introduced. Some of the streets which will remain permanently closed will be Pine, Market and Lewis, all on the east side of the river.

The installation of the sanitary sewer system is almost completed. P and B Excavating of Appleton, which is installing the collection portion, has only four laterals left to install and will complete the cementing of the manhole bottoms.

R. G. Resin of Tomah, which is installing the lagoon with aeration type treatment, is expected to complete work in about one week.

An extension of the system to property purchased by Radtke Real Estate was discussed.

To receive additional grants and funding for the approximate $8,000 extension, the engineers and the Farm Home Administration would have to submit plans following the same procedure required in 1964 for the present system. No action was taken.

Plans and specifications for the Partridge Park, Inc., sewer system have been completed, the board learned.

Partridge Park, situated in the Town of Fremont, will install its own collection lines, planned for about 110 campsites.

An agreement in principle was achieved by Partridge Park village board last February, for the village to extend the sanitary sewer system to the park for connection.

It was said then that the company would pay for any improvements it demands in proportion to its metered capacity.

The cost to the corporation was not revealed. Users within the village will not be metered. They are assessed a hookup fee and must pay a monthly users' fee.

A building permit was granted to Ed Kelln for construction of a building to be used for a bait shop and for receiving guests at his resort. Kelln said the cost would be about $5,000, not including plumbing and electric work.

The permit was granted in variance to the village ordinance because the building will replace a former structure and is in conforming use with his

'1,200 alcoholics in Waupaca'

BY FERN SMITH
Post Crescent staff writer

WAUPACA — "There is a very serious problem in Waupaca County: That problem is alcoholism, which directly involves 1,200 men and women, each one affecting four other lives," Karl Hammerberg, coordinator of the Waupaca County Referral Center, told the Riverside Community Hospital Auxiliary at a Thursday luncheon

Most people have a "private, preconceived and too often erroneous, notion of an alcoholic," Hammerburg said. "They think of the alcoholic as an unkempt indigent, who sleeps in gutters, waiting for the city clean up crew to come and sweep him away The truth is, he is sick

"We know that most alcoholics still have their jobs, have a mortgage on a nice home, still have their families, a nice car, an income of between $10,000-$20,000 and the average age falls in the mid-30's," he explained. "The woman alcoholic, and 50 per cent are women, is harder to detect in the early stages; she hides out in her home, has ready cash, drinks alone and uses all of her resources to cover up"

Explaining the function and operation of the private agency he heads, Hammerburg said that since February of this year 70 men and women with alcoholic problems have been referred to the agency. Some have been directed to Alcoholics Anonymous, some have been sent for treatment at state and veterans facilities as well as private treatment centers at costs ranging from $600 to $1,450 a month.

Those seeking help have come to the agency on their own and by family, medical, ministerial or court referral. The service is free. Concerned family members, friends, employers can also talk out their problems and receive assistance in solving them at the agency. All matters are held in the strictest confidence.

"We have one big problem in Waupaca County," Hammerburg disclosed.

"There is no hospital in this county which will accept the alcoholic—a problem which you ladies could very ably assist us in solving.

"At present we have to take an alcoholic for detoxification to Bellin Hospital, Green Bay; St. Elizabeth Hospital, Appleton; Theda Clark Hospital, Neenah; Mercy Medical Center, Oshkosh, or St. Michael's Hospital, Stevens Point. A person in acute alcoholism needs proper medical attention, with minimum loss of time to prevent delirium tremens, other physiological complications, or death."

Auxiliary members asked many questions of Hammerburg.

"How can one help in a situation where alcohol is suspected, without seeming to meddle?"

The coordinator responded, "Talk it over with me, or with a member of Alanon, the counterpart of Alcoholics Anonymous. These people have keen insight into such problems and can present you with effective, apt suggestions for being meaningfully involved."

—"Is alcoholism a greater problem in our county than drugs?"

Hammerburg answered, "It is far greater. Alcohol is the socially acceptable drug, but its abuse is evidenced in the high accident rate, the breaking up of families, the loss of jobs and death."

—"Do doctors have a valid reason for not treating the alcoholic?"

To this question, he responded, "Some doctors do treat the alcoholic under other guises, such as heart; bad kidneys, bad liver, although the American Medical Association considers alcoholism an illness, with specific symptoms and effective treatment."

"It should be remembered that the alcoholic needs to be more than dried out. He needs other help such as recognizing that alcohol is his problem, that he will be accepted in his community after he has gone to treatment, that he recognizes his problem and is willing to do something about it. We do try to help him put it all together — and it can start when a doctor tells him frankly that alcoholism is the basic problem."

existing business.

A board of appeals will be appointed at the November meeting for the purpose of hearing appeals, applications and granting variances and exceptions to the village ordinance.

Its membership will consist of five persons with the chairman being appointed by Roger Schmodlt, village preident. The secretary will be the Village Clerk Alice Peters; administrator will be Building Inspector Lynn Draper.

Valley Mortgage, Inc., told the board by letter that soon it will petition to annex the 42 acres of the former Leonard Kloehn property, which they have purchased.

The Fremont Area Chamber of Commerce donated $240 to the village to pay the cost of the temporary sanitary facilities at the Lake Partridge beach this summer. The group has volunteered to sponsor a beach improvement project next summer.

The village received $1,307 as its share of revenue sharing.

The budget hearing is scheduled for 7 p.m. Nov. 13. The preliminary study of the proposed budget revealed that, according to new state regulations, the local tax levy cannot be increased more than $1,177.75 over last year and, therefore, cannot exceed $12,578.25.

Assessments

property. Hanson explained that physical inspections never were made of plants. "Then you're selling something you're not doing," Endries complained. "We could have deleted that part from the contract and perhaps saved $5,000. I can't see spending city money on something we could easily have done ourselves."

Hanson agreed to meet with the board again next Tuesday to go over some of the calculations and methods. Price suggested that the problems could most quickly be solved by going over last year's rolls and proceed with hearings to change the most serious errors. He reported that new legislation to be enacted the first of the year will provide standard specifications and contracts and provide more state supervision of the procedures.

The new legislation will not, however, help to minimize the time that will be required of aldermen to assure a fair and equitable assessment to residents in 1974.

Rights of handicapped explained

CHILTON — "These times maybe termed the 'age of rights' for the developmentally diasabled person," according to Merlin Kurth, executive director for the Wisconsin Association for Retarded Children who addressed the Calumet County Association for Retarded Children at the New Hope Center here.

He cited Wisconsin as a leader in formulating recent legislation guaranteeing rights for handicapped.

The Developmental Disability Act of 1972 made mandatory the establishment of a developmental disability board under Section 1.437 at the county level.

The law states that one-third of the board members must be either developmentally disabled persons or their parents.

In addition to retarded persons, this board would insure rights to those persons with epilepsy, blindness, deafness, autism, cerebral palsy and learning disabilities.

The Calumet County Association for Retarded Children has gone on record supporting the Developmental Disability Board and passed a resolution urging the establishment of a 51.44 board in Calumet County. Kurth highlighted the much-publicized Law 89 which guarantees a public school education to all handicapped persons ages 3-21 at no cost to their parents.

Programs recommended must fit the individial needs of the youngsters or the parents have the right to appeal their child's placement.

Kurth told the parents that there was a bill presently before the legislature to offer protective services and guardian systems t elderly capped persons who are without anyone to offer them protection.

He stressed the continuing need for improved quality services and good professionals and continuing efforts toward elimination of the causes of mental retardation.

Kurth listed high on the list of goals of interest groups the need for continuing public education leading to increased public acceptance of all handicapped persons.

Tax levy drops for 12 district municipalities

NEW LONDON — The 1973-74 school budget that provides for a 32.5 per cent decrease in the tax rate and over a $420,000 drop in the tax levy will provide lower levies for 12 of the 14 municipalities in the district.

Just two towns, Fremont and Wolf River, will have larger levies this year. Fremont's school tax will rise slightly to $1,842, a $142 increase from last year's levy, while Wolf River's levy will increase to $4,161 from the 1972-73 levy of $3,984.

Leading the list of municipalities with decreased levies will be New London, which will pay $119,779 less for school taxes this year than it did in 1972-73. The Waupaca County portion of the city will pay $394,368, nearly a $92,000 drop from last year's $486,086 levy, while the Outagamie County section of the city will be assessed for $166,831 in taxes, a $28,060 drop from last year.

Other district municipalities, their 1973-74 levies and the amount of decrease from last year include:

Town of Dale, $104,751, down $36,537; Dear Creek, $6,325, down $1,126; Greenville, $1,659, down $719; Hortonia, $76,353, down $15,876; Liberty $23,614, down $3,907; Maple Creek, $83,966, down $19,391; Bear Creek, $236, down $21; Caledonia, $103,393, down $1,363; Lebanon, $89,416, down $8,012; Mukwa, $120,548, down $18,212, and Winchester, $15,993, down $2,514.

The increases in Fremont and Wolf River are attributed to increased equalized valuations in those municipalities. Other towns' valuations also increased, but at a slower pace than Fremont and Wolf River.

Legion auxiliary makes plans for autumn events

HILBERT —Plans for the fall projects were made Monday when the Kupsch Brockmann unit of the American Legion Auxiliary met at the village hall.

The annual membership drive is underway and all memberships turned in by Friday will be flown Sunday to Spring Green by Gary Kapitzke in the aerial round-up.

Mrs. Loren Luedeke, unit president, and Mrs. Arthur Pruess attended the area educational conference at Beaver Dam and reported on the meetings. Mrs. Pruess also reported on the state convention last summer at Milwaukee. The unit received a citation at the convention for equaling its last year's membership.

Mrs. Luedeke informed the members that October is Education and Scholarship month. In addition to scholarships given by the local unit, the state organization gives a large number of grants.

Mrs. Erhard Albers and Mrs. Hulda Vollmer will serve on the committee for the annual Veterans Day dinner. The date and place for the event will be selected by the American Legion.

Mrs. Albers also is serving as chairman of the Christmas Gift Shop. This is a statewide project that allows hospitalized veterans to give gifts to their families. The unit has purchased 20 pairs of pillow cases and members are doing handwork on them. All items for the project are to be turned in by Nov. 1.

The annual meeting of the Calumet County Council will be at Sherwood Oct. 24. Mrs. Cyril Halbach was selected as Hilbert's representative at the meeting. Members wishing to attend are to notify Mrs. Gary Kapitzke, secretary, by Oct. 18.

Financial donations were approved for Veterans Day, Christmas Cheer, hospital treats, gift shop. Department President's Special Project, M. Louise Wilson Educational Loan Fund, special hospital projects, Camp American Legion and Hilbert Community Fund.

Chilton man's condition better

Marvin J. Stroobants, 39, route 3, Chilton, was described as "much improved" today at St. Nicholas Hospital, Sheboygan, where he is being treated for injuries sustained in an automobile accident early Tuesday morning in Manitowoc County.

According to a hospital spokesman, Stroobants, plant manager of Chilton Metal Products, suffered a partially severed artery and muscle lacerations, all in his left arm.

The Manitowoc County Sheriff's Department said Stroobants, who was alone, was traveling north on State 57 about 5:35 a.m. Tuesday when he lost control of his auto at the junction with State 32 at the Manitowoc-Sheboygan county line.

The report, which still was incomplete today, said the Stroobants auto entered a one-way divided highway and intersection, went out of control on the right shoulder, struck two highway sign posts, went down into a ditch in the median, came out of the ditch broadside, crossed 32, went into the north ditch of 32, tipped over and came to rest on its top.

The accident occurred in foggy, misty weather. The auto was damaged to the right side and top, but there was no damage estimate.

Stroobants was taken to St. Nicholas Hospital by a Kiel Clinic doctor, the report said.

Police & fire beat

CLINTONVILLE —The volunteer fire department was called about 7:45 p m Thursday after a motorist driving in the alleyway between Bleck's Tavern and the Laundromat struck a gas meter and broke the pipe for the natural gas line going into Bleck's Tavern, 151 S. Main St Firemen were able to shut off the gas line and a crew was called immediately from Wisconsin Gas Co. to repair the damage .

COLD WEATHER S RETURN initiates the indoor heating season, and the homeowner's need for a humidifier rises. In some cases, the relative humidity of indoor air drops to below 10%. Installation of the Aprilaire humidifier, as handled by Menasha Sheet Metal, Inc., 314 Racine Street, Menasha, will correct this. Phone number at the firm is 722-3653. (Adv.)

Aid to Wintertime Comfort, Health Is Carefully-Controlled Humidity

Although everyone talks about humidity, he is, technically, discussing relative humidity There is a difference.

Absolute humidity is simply the amount of water vapor in a given volume of air—by weight. Relative humidity is expressed as a percentage, and it's the per cent of moisture in the air in relation to the amount the air is capable of holding at the same temperature.

Air at 70 degrees F. is capable of holding about eight grains of moisture (100 per cent). If it has only two grains, the relative humidity is 25 per cent.

It's a phenomenon of nature that cold air is incapable of holding much water. And the colder it gets, the less water it can hold Upon entering a home, outside air is heated and its capacity to hold moisture is multiplied. Air at 70 degrees can hold 22 times as much moisture as air at zero. So—it becomes thirsty air. Trying to compensate for its moisture deficiency, it picks up moisture from every available source.

In winter you live in an indoor desert. And it happens as soon as cold weather initiates the indoor heating season. In many cases the relative humidity of the air drops to below 10 per cent—and that's more than twice as dry as Death Valley or The Sahara Desert.

Ultimate in comfort

Aprilaire humidifiers, handled by the W. J. Hartzheim Menasha Sheet Metal, Inc , 314 Racine Street, Menasha, provide the ultimate in winter-time comfort through controlled indoor humidity. The humidifier is totally automatic. There's nothing to carry, fill or spill.

There is an Aprilaire humidifier to compliment each home's heating system, according to Hartzheim.

The average 6-room home can require the evaporation of 12 gallons of water per day. The smallest Aprilaire humidifier will provide this amount. An electric valve turns water on and off as required

Dry air performs like a thirsty sponge and absorbs moisture from anything that has it to lose Nose and throat dry out, hair tends to become brittle, skin rough, itchy, flaky. Higher temperatures are required for comfortable warmth.

Other winter-time problems caused by dry air are plaster cracks and shrinkage, furniture glued joints loosen, veneers split or peel, doors and window frames lose their shapes.

Proper humidity indoors prevents these problems. Full information may be had without obligation from Menasha Sheet Metal. Phone 722-3653. (Adv.)

Marion youth wins Waupaca scholarship for UW farm course

MARION — Brian Hintz, route 2, is the 1973 recipient of the Waupaca County farm short course scholarship. The $350 grant will be used for Hintz' study at the University of Wisconsin-Madison. Classes begin Nov. 20.

He won the scholarship on the merits of his essay, "Financing the Farm."

Hintz has been active in 4-H and the local Future Farmers of America chapter, serving as an officer in both groups and exhibiting dairy cattle, sheep and swine at fairs on the county and state levels.

The scholarship, awarded annually by the Waupaca County Bankers Association, is designed to aid deserving young men in training themselves for positions of responsibility in agriculture and for leadership in rural communities.

Courts

NEW LONDON — Norman Christensen, 22, of 218 1/2 N. Water St., pleaded guilty to a charge of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated when he appeared before Judge Nathan Wiese in Waupaca County Court Branch 2 this week.

Wiese sentenced Christensen to pay a $159 fine or serve 30 days in the county jail and also instructed him to attend the Dynamic Driving Course at Fox Valley Technical Institute.

Christensen was apprehended by New London police Oct. 3 after being involved in an accident at the corner of N. Water and N. Shawano streets.

Boards to seek state aid for Winnebago boat ramp

HARRISON — A resolution applying for state aid to build a public boat ramp on Lake Winnebago where Fairy Springs Road meets the water at Fairy Springs was passed by Harrison Town Board Wednesday night.

The application is being submitted jointly with the Town of Stockbridge for 50 per ce t of the $1,385 estimated cost, with the other 50 per cent to come from Department of Natural Resources funds.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Close again requested something be done about closing Firelane 8 because of after dark noise, profane language, road being used for toilet facilities, hot rodding, unsupervised swimming and general poor condition of the beach road.

Last month a light in the area had been suggested by town constable Michael Sambs as a solution to the problem. However, Close said he felt that this was an invitation for more trouble and "would do more harm than good." He said he was speaking for himself, and not in any official capacity, but felt there were two solutions to the problem—either close the road off entirely, or close it from 9 p.m. "to a reasonable morning hour".

When Close mentioned closing the road entirely, Supv. Gordon Vande Hey interrupted saying "No way. It will never be closed off: over my dead body."

Close said he would like to know the procedure for closing the road and was told by chairman George Schwalbach that a petition signed by six property owners must be filed and it should be legally drawn up by the petitioners' attorney.

Clerk Royal Gillis pointed out that an ordinance had been passed prohibiting parking between 10 p.m. and 5 a.m. on both sides of Lake Park Road within 200 feet north of its intersection with U.S. 10 and on the east and west side extending south of U.S. 10 to Lake Winnebago.

The ordinance, passed by a unanimous vote of the town board July 10, was not published in an official notice until the Sept. 6 edition of a weekly newspaper.

"No Parking Zone" signs are required and violation of the ordinance carries a forfeiture of not less than $1 or more than $100.

It was learned however, that signs are not installed and the only parking tickets available are the $3 type from the county.

Close said he was willing to go along "with anything that will accomplish the result to make it livable—let us have something effective" he said. It was agreed that the problem time is during spring and summer. Later in the meeting, after a group of about 20 persons had left, town officials were divided on whether a light should be installed, although it was pointed out that Sambs, and Calumet County Juvenile Officer William Broehm, favored a light.

The condition of Sportsmen's Park, mentioned last month, again was discussed. Several men felt that residents of the area should report to authorities when they see someone dumping debris in the area. Close claimed weeds hadn't been cut at the park this year.

Mrs. Joyce Bennett again questioned the town board about speed signs on Plank Road along which children must walk or bicycle to McKinley School. Schwalbach said that advance warning signs have been put up and that the board met with the Department of Transportation from Green Bay.

State officials at Green Bay are making a survey to determine the speed limit to be placed on the road. Residents had requested 35 miles an hour.

Supv. Donald Schultz told Mrs. Bennett to contact state officials at Green Bay, advising them of the situation and making a recommendation. Mrs. Bennett said that Schultz's suggestion was the first help she had received.

Copy of a letter from the Department of Revenue to Attorney William Engler, Chilton, advised that there were no limitations on taxes for sanitary districts. The High Cliff Sanitary District has a total of $1,717 and expects to levy a tax on sanitary district residents this year.

Marion school board wins appeal, granted exemption on increases

MARION — The school board of Marion School District held its regular monthly meeting Monday evening in the board room at the elementary school.

Supt. Jerry Quandt announced that the board had won its appeal and that the Marion public school district was among the first 16 in the state to be granted financial exemptions from the state budget limitation on school budget increases by the state superintendent's Cost Control Exemption Appeals Commission.

Marion was authorized to exempt $10,293 of the $39,368 in items it sought to include in its budget. The major exemptions granted are $4,874 for a special federal reading program where federal money was cut off; $4,075 for an increased vocational program where enrollments are growing; $500 for a federal project for gifted children called development of total talent; and $500 for an additional football coach.

Quandt explained that the board had found ways to cut the budget if the exemption had not been granted, but with the money the school would be in better shape.

Under the governor's revised 1973-75 state budget, the state aids to school districts generally were increased significantly, with some schools more than doubling aids. But with the aids increase, the budget bill also set a limitation on public school spending increases for the 1973-74 school year for unified and common districts and calendar 1974 for the joint or city districts.

The law limits the budget increases to $55 per pupil, which means that if there is a change in enrollment, this could affect the budget increase limitation. Of the $55, some $7.50 per pupil is required to go toward the additional local payment of the employer's share of Social Security and teacher retirement premiums, formerly paid by the state.

The budget limit is meant to make sure that new school aids in the budget provide relief to local property taxpayers.

Quandt said that the school district here should receive approximately $650,000 in state aids and the way it looks, the tax levy could be somewhat lower than approved by the annual school meeting in July.

A special meeting will be held prior to Nov. 1 to approve the final budget and set the tax levy.

The board approved a building project in the Capstone Building Construction course at Marion High School as presented by Robert Eggleston, local vocational education co-ordinator (LVEC). An agreement will be made with Kucksdorf Construction Co. of Leopolis and the school to give the students on-the-job training in the construction of a home.

In other action the board agreed to a contract with Mr. and Mrs. William Zimdars, Leopolis, to pay them 10 cents per mile to transport their 3-year-old child to Lakeland School in Shawano. According to recent state legislation all school districts are responsible for providing education for handicapped children ages 3-21.

David Krause, route 2, Tigerton, was hired as maintenance engineer at Marion High School replacing Mike Siedenkrantz, who resigned. The new custodian will begin his duties early in November. There were eight candidates for the position and Krause was selected as the most qualified for the job.

Paul Thompson, who recently purchased the Martin Dahlke farm, is appealing to the Manawa School District to release 55 of his 100 acres to the Marion School District. There are 45 acres of the farm in the Marion district but the house is in the Manawa district. Meanwhile, Thompson is paying tuition at Marion where his four children attend school.

Leonard Morley, elementary supervisor, proposed a new type of report card to be used for grades 1-6. The new grading system will be on sheets of paper and will not be returned to school by the parent. Children will be marked on their ability and not in competition. Grades will be H for highly satisfactory; S for satisfactory; and N for Needs Improvement.

A discussion was held concerning conduct on school buses after complaints had been received by board members about fighting on the buses, swearing and smoking. The school has the right to keep a child from riding the bus if he does not obey the rules which are listed in the handbooks given to pupils at the start of the school year.

Bonnie Fuchs was welcomed as a student representative on the board.

ANNUAL LEAF PICK UP

WHERE — Rake leaves into gutter or edge of pavement starting October 15th and ending November 11th. After November 11th leaves must be placed in containers at the curb on your refuse collection day.)

HOW — In low piles so children cannot be hidden from motorists view, and close to the curb so as not to interfere with traffic

WHEN — City crews will start collecting leaves October 15th North of the river at the East City Limits, as men and equipment are available and keep circling in a counterclockwise direction as weather conditions permit. Crews will make final cleanup from gutters between November 10th and 17th.

WHAT — Leaves Only — Brush and garden debris will clog our equipment and slow up the collection. Brush and garden debris are to be picked up as usual on your refuse collection days.

NOTE — No Special Leaf Pickups Will Be Made as we must concentrate our efforts. Requests for leaves for mulching should be made by calling 739-5304 and will be filled when the crews are in your area on a first-come, first-served basis

Opinion

THE Post-Crescent

No tears here for Agnew

Some of the comments on Spiro Agnew were in the vein that this is a national tragedy in which we all share, or that we should feel sorry for this poor man who is the victim of a dastardly frame-up to get him out of the way for the 1976 presidential campaign. That's baloney.

Agnew's statement that it is "my firm belief that the public interest requires swift disposal of the problems facing me" is a hollow comment which shows neither penitence nor appreciation of the impact of his guilt. In fact, he virtually blames his resignation on the fact that the nation's press somehow is to blame for revealing what apparently has been the amassing of a mound of evidence by the Justice Department that he not only broke the income tax laws but received cash, gifts and other considerations while serving as Vice President as well as when he was governor of Maryland.

The history of the case goes all the way back to his first public office as a member of a zoning commission in Baltimore. Some of the men who benefitted from favorable rulings by that commission became his longtime associates in banking, real estate and construction businesses. He apparently learned early in his public career that he could profit tremendously from the right business connections, and he was still so profiting when he was the Vice President of the United States!

The comparatively light sentence imposed on the Vice President on just one count of lawbreaking will almost certainly intensify the belief of those who claim that individuals in high places are measured in their crimes by a different yardstick of justice than the poor, the unwashed and the like. All Americans, whatever their political leanings, have a right to a feeling of disgust and dismay over the revelations of Agnew's lawbreaking in the face of his constant flaunting of the law and order theme as the salvation of the nation.

The revelation of Agnew's guilt and his resignation will go down in our history as one of the great violations of public trust and honor. At the same time, it could have the beneficial effects of a catharsis for the nation.

Choosing a new Vice President

"Whenever there is a vacancy in the office of the Vice President," the President shall nominate a Vice President who shall take office upon confirmation by a majority of both houses of Congress."

Those words are in the 25th Amendment to the Constitution, adopted by Congress eight years ago and ratified by the required number of states quickly thereafter. The wording sounds clear and simple enough, but the resignation of Vice President Agnew has constitutional scholars, congressmen and parliamentarians confronted by complexities of politics and procedures involved in selecting his successor.

The legislative history of the 25th indicates that vice presidential succession was almost an after-thought. The amendment's primary focus was on succession in the event of a presidential disability. The fact of Agnew's resignation, however, now thrusts the question of succession from the theoretical to the real world. It puts a great responsibility on all of Congress but, particularly, on the Democratic majorities in both houses who are faced with what national party chairman, Robert Strauss, called a "very tricky political situation."

They obviously won't be happy with a nominee who could be a strong candidate for president against them in 1976. On the other hand, they could be criticized for insisting on a "caretaker" nominee who does not have the qualifications for president should the office become vacant before 1976. Such vacancies have occurred eight times in our history.

In view of the onus attached to Agnew's resignation, President Nixon must carefully evaluate the qualifications and the records of potential nominees before making a choice. At the least, they must be carefully checked out to insure that there is nothing, real or even suspect, in their lives to cause another fiasco like the Agnew case.

Our juvenile runaways

One of the tragic and potentially serious characteristics of society in the United States is the juvenile runaway.

The problem came to national attention last summer when police in Houston explained their failure to discover murders —almost 30 —of young boys because they assumed the missing youngsters had run away from home. The 1972 report of the Senate Juvenile Delinquency Subcommittee puts the annual number of runaways at one million. What's the matter with American homes?

In small part, running away from home is sort of a puberty rite, supposed to establish the independence of a young man, in particular, from the authority of his elders and impress them with the fact that he is almost a man. But that motive doesn't seem as important as it may have been in the past. Instead the general disorder and lack of sense of purpose in some homes seems to be the reason. In a way the runaways are testifying in another way to the college student criticism of the typical suburban home a few years ago. There is no cohesion, no cultural continuity, no established moral behavior or regulation beyond the surface appearance.

A great many of the youthful runaways —about half of them are under 15 years of age —fall victims to hardened criminals, become enmeshed in serious crime and find refuge in drugs. Under the circumstances there are doubts that the main burden of dealing with runaways should fall upon the local police forces.

Senator Birch Bayh is chief sponsor of the Runaway Youth Act which would provide federal help to temporary housing shelters for runaways. The Senate bill also would provide funds for research into why youngsters leave home in such numbers.

But some authorities wonder whether providing the shelters will not encourage runaways. This is in line with reasoning that making things unpleasant is more likely to have a beneficial effect than improving conditions.

It may be that American society has overly pampered its young people and unfortunately dispensed with traditions that demand courtesy toward elders and respect for traditional institutions. In so doing it may have done them a considerable disservice in that they no longer comprehend easily their role in society. Despair over this emptiness as much as revolt against what they consider unfair regulations may really be at the bottom of much of the leaving home.

Such children need —and deserve —shelter and an opportunity to pick up the pieces.

State land use authority dead for now

MADISON — The signs are abundant. The noise of the resistance is loud and clear. The pending legislation proposing that the state supersede, in effect, the land use zoning authority now reposing in local governments has generated such widespread resistance as to doom for all practical purposes the measure that the Democratic administration had raised to headline urgency earlier this year.

Gov. Patrick Lucey virtually threw in the towel, at least for this year, in his wide-ranging discussion of legislative issues he regards as vital when the legislature returned for its fall session.

He acknowledged his disappointment, but said he remains hopeful that difficulties about the scope and the mechanics of the new legislation drafted by one of his numerous task forces can be resolved to permit passage of a "meaningful bill" next year.

Knowles disowns idea

Even as Lucey was speaking, it became known that former Gov. Warren Knowles, who had been described earlier as co-author of the plan because he consented to head the study group that wrote the report that led to the suggested legislation, had disowned the product altogether. What the bill provides is not what the task force wrote, he said curtly, and almost surely with highly damaging consequences for the Lucey objective.

There are several lessons in this development. One of them is that the task force device, as it is somewhat ostentatiously described, is sometimes deceptive with respect to the reality of its findings and the acceptability of its recommendations.

The Knowles Commission, as it was known, worked quietly and without much visible difficulty over a period of many months. Its report undoubtedly reflected the conclusions of its members, but here as in other instances, it fell short of representing a public consensus.

That was shown when the convening of the legislature brought such a tide of resistance that even those legislators who are usually respectful and obedient toward the governor's office quickly derailed the ambitious package of propositions proposed by the task force.

Another useful lesson is that many of the interests that turn up to take part in the constitutional lawmaking process of the legislature tend to ignore the sometimes ostentatious and academic labors of the task forces. They know that they are isolated from the body politic and often quite unconsciously tend to take on the ideological coloring of the bureaucrats who are their constant and persuasive companions.

The Knowles Commission report, which it cannot continue to be called after the repudiation of the measure by the former governor, reflects the conviction of the planners who inspired it that local land use zoning is more nominal than real, that the state should intervene to make it real, and that the state should reserve to itself zoning legislation of more than parochial importance and concern.

It requires no especially fertile imagination to list the mighty alignment of forces that view such a goal with fear and resentment, with self-interest also, perhaps, but nevertheless with the resentment and resolution that is more easily translated into political action than the anxious essays of the anonymous civil servants in Madison.

It is also difficult to perceive how the ironing out of "procedural items" can dilute the profound conviction of private owners, investors, yes perhaps even speculators, that somebody in Madison is trying to do them in.

The question also intrudes: why the insistence on assigning such profoundly important and sensitive powers to the Department of Administration, the embodiment of bureaucratic anonymity and isolation, with negligible public accountability, and the ignoring of more plausible and relevant repositories already directly engaged in resource management and planning?

"WHY GO INTO THAT?... IMPEACHMENT OF BOTH THE PRESIDENT AND THE VICE PRESIDENT AT THE SAME TIME WOULD NEVER OCCUR!"

Sydney J. Harris

Many international bodies do exist

(During Mr. Harris' vacation, we are reprinting some of the best columns from his latest collection in book form, "For the Time Being.")

When people tell me that the idea of any sort of "international government" is impossible and unrealistic—even though they may admit that war cannot be avoided on the national level—I am fond of pointing out at as early as the last century, certain aspects of international rule were already set up, to promote the common interests of nations.

First there was the Universal Postal Union. This was followed by the Telegraphic Union, the Metric Union, the International Institute of Agriculture, and many others dealing with public hygiene, transportation, literary and artistic property, the slave trade, legal protection of workers, medical and chemical discoveries, and commercial statistics.

A half-century ago, Leonard Woolf pointed out (as the British journal, New Scientist, recalled recently) that these organizations constituted a true beginning of international government. The international trade union movement, the Inter-Parliamentary Union, and the International Polar Year were further steps to make men in different places parts of one community.

And, since the end of World War II, there have sprung up the Food and Agriculture Organization, the World Health Organization, UNESCO, the World Bank and International Monetary Fund, and many others in diverse fields of interest.

As the New Scientist goes on to enumerate: "The control of nuclear fuels for peaceful purposes, the regulation of broadcasting standards and frequencies, air safety regulations, vaccination regulations for travelers, machinery for the conclusion of tariff agreements . . . all these and many other practical functions of government have been willingly surrendered to international institutions."

It is quite plain, to any open mind, that the technical requirements of modern society are breaking down the barriers between nations in almost every nonpolitical area of activity, and eroding "national sovereignty." Business and industry have likewise found that narrow national interests have less and less meaning in the modern world.

If international co-operation is necessary and desirable in all the other facets of human life, then obviously it is even more imperative in the vital matter of war and peace. If it is important that we vaccinate people against carrying typhus across borders, how much more essential to "vaccinate" nations against the danger of carrying the virus of war across borders? Otherwise, we may find that we have achieved "world government" in everything except the one area that negates all the others and turns their co-operation into just a prelude to international suicide.

Busing simply doesn't work

When the U.S. Supreme Court takes up, as it soon must, the question of school busing, each Justice ought to be required to read —ten times if necessary —an incredibly good socio-legal analysis published in the Indiana University Law Journal for May, 1973.

I have just read it myself for the first time, and it is a bomb. It ought to be excerpted and reprinted wherever common sense still prevails in this land, because it shatters the whole legal concept of busing, using exactly the criteria promulgated by liberals in support of the idea!

One column is not enough to do justice to Jeffrey J. Leech's article, but I shall try. His theme is simple: that busing has slowly developed as the judiciary's method of carrying out the basic sociology of the original 1954 school desegregation case, namely that separate education generated inferiority in black students and otherwise impaired their educational and mental development. Ultimately, in the 1971 Swann (Charlotte, N.C.) case, the Supreme Court approved busing as a legitimate tool to "desegregate" and thereby ameliorate the educational and psychological burdens of black children.

No educational gains

What Leech has done is brilliantly simple. He has studied all available surveys of the impact of busing in cities that have it, and his research assembles a stunning array of "current sociological evidence which indicates that busing to achieve integration may in fact produce no educational gains, may hinder the psychological development of black children, and may intensify racial misunderstanding."

His sociological research emphasizes three categories of busing impact: 1) on achievement levels: 2) on the psychology of black youngsters; and 3) on improved race relations. Each analysis is devastating in its documentation, but space allows only the summaries:

1) Achievement levels: In ten cities, six show mixed or inconclusive results (Sacramento, Hartford, Rochester, Buffalo, Evanston, White Plains) and four show either losses or no significant gains (Ann Arbor, Berkeley, Boston, Riverside). "In every city studies, busing failed to reduce the gap between black and white achievement. In fact, most cities reported that the achievement gap had grown even larger after busing. Scholars who have reviewed the evidence, including Armor, Bell, Edmonds, Glazier and St. John, have concluded that busing has little if any effect on the academic achievement of either black or white children. Thus, the most recent sociological evidence fails to confirm a basic premise underlying the rationale for court-ordered busing, i.e., that it will positively affect the academic performance of minority children."

2) Psychological Effects: "In summary, researchers have found that busing for racial integration significantly lowered black students' educational aspirations in Ann Arbor and Boston, the only two cities which studied this problem. At the same time, the academic self-concepts of black students were significantly lowered in Boston and Evanston, raised in Ann Arbor (males) and not significantly altered in Ann Arbor (females), New Haven and Riverside. Viewing this evidence in its most favorable light, busing for racial integration would appear to lower black students' educational aspirations and have no consistent effect on their academic self-concepts. . . The evidence reveals that the busing experience imparts few psychological benefits to black children and may inflict harmful psychological consequences upon them."

3) Improved Race Relations: "In summary, the busing studies available demonstrate rather conclusively that busing for racial integration has produced little or no improvement in race relations. In fact, the results appear to be to the contrary. In Ann Arbor and Riverside, interracial peer acceptance declined. In Boston, busing heightened racial consciousness and encouraged separatist ideologies. In Buffalo, Evanston and Rochester, disciplinary problems, frequently with racial overtones, threatened termination of the busing programs. In no city did busing appear to increase interracial contact or better racial understanding."

There is still some reason for hope. Leech cites the Mapp case (Chattanooga, Tenn.) as an example where the U.S. Appeals Court weighed the new sociological evidence and found that "induced busing" would have an adverse effect on educational achievement and race relations. This is consistent with the Swann case, which left the door open to anti-busing findings where busing would "significantly impinge on the educational process." Therein lies the hope: that the Nine Justices of the High Court will read the wisdom of Mapp and the wisdom of Leech and, having done so, will use new sociology to redress the injury of the old.

City needs first class wood yard

100 YEARS AGO
Appleton Crescent, Oct. 11, 1873.

The wood fuel question is an important one to all of our readers, especially to those living in town.

Last fall, a combination of circumstances sent the prices kiting, and, in fact, there was means of fixing any standard value — the only means of daily determining it being the necessity of the consumer and the extortionate demands of the seller.

This fall the thing is materially changed. Very many citizens have made arrangements to burn coal, then again the Blast Furnace will probably not enter the market for wood very much before February. Also, there is a much larger quantity on hand, all cut in the woods, waiting for a market.

Those who think they can bring a jag of wood into town and get a double price for it, will find themselves mistaken this time.

We ought to have a first-class, extensive wood-yard in town, conducted reasonably by some reliable man. It would certainly pay handsomely. Then, again, the City Council should without delay provide for a competent wood inspector whose duty it should be to measure wood offered for sale and give certificates of the quantity, thus protecting the purchaser and at the same time doing justice to the seller.

First day 'after' for Agnew like most others

WASHINGTON (AP) —While stunned members of his staff functioned in disarray, Spiro T. Agnew spent his first day after returning to private life working on a speech dealing with events that forced him to resign as vice president.

Sources close to Agnew said late Thursday that there were indications he intends to deliver his personal accounting to the American people in the next few days, but no forum has been selected.

Agnew has received offers of free time from each of the three major television networks but has not accepted any. One offer to appear as a guest on the NBC Today Show was rejected the sources said.

It was a day etched with sadness for the 54-year-old former vice president, who interrupted his concentration on the speech at mid-day to attend the funeral of his half-brother, W. Roy Pollard, in Randallstown, Md. Pollard died Monday after a long illness.

But Agnew ordered "on an urgent stand-by basis" a transcript of the Thursday morning press conference in which Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson explained the government's legal actions against him in the investigation of a political corruption scandal in Maryland.

Richardson said the White House played a key role in the agreement by which Agnew resigned and pleaded no contest to a federal tax evasion charge.

U.S. District Judge Walter E. Hoffman sentenced Agnew to a $10,000 fine and three years probation. After leaving the Baltimore courtroom, Agnew told newsmen he would prepare an address to the nation.

In the speech, Agnew is expected to elaborate on his claim of innocence of a variety of other allegations — bribery, extortion and conspiracy — that were detailed by the Justice Department in an extraordinary 40-page document released at the court session.

Although most of Thursday morning, afternoon and evening were spent in the privacy of his office overlooking the White House, it was the first time Agnew had seen more than half of his staff since Wednesday's resignation.

The Agnew staff, which numbers about 30 persons, was in a state of confusion following the resignation.

The staff members, a few of whom have been with Agnew since his days as a county executive and governor of Maryland have been retained on the vice presidential payroll for an extra 30 days pay under a special Senate resolution.

But all of the WhiteHouse telephone communications to which the key aides had access —including at their homes — were abruptly cut off as a first step in the phasing-out process.

Agnew, himself will keep the Secret Service detail, limousines and certain other services for an indefinite period, probably lasting for several months. In the past, this has been customary for president and vice presidents who leave office.

The White House indicated, however, that Agnew has lost use of his vice presidential aircraft. Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said "I would no expect him to be using military aircraft. He's no longer vice president." unresolved — Agnew's eligibility for a government pension based on his military service and his years as vice president. Government experts were trying to determine the answer.

Agnew's concentration on the address appeared to diminish prospects that he would fly to California for the weekend as had been speculated. Agnew is a close friend and golfing companion of Frank Sinatra and frequently visits the singer's home in Palm Springs.

While there have been some requests for Agnew to continue his original schedule of public appearances, all of those listed for the immediate future apparently have been cancelled.

This included the Saturday night appearance at a Friar's Club dinner in Los Angeles, a "roasting" party for comedian Milton Berle. Agnew's Secret Service unit withdrew its security arrangements and flew back to Washington.

Latest poll shows Nixon rating down

NEW YORK (AP) — Pollsters Louis Harris and Oliver Quayle say President Nixon is accorded an unfavorable rating by 65 per cent of Americans asked about his performance in office.

Harris said Thursday that a survey in late September showed 65 per cent of those polled answering "only fair" or "poor" when asked to rate Nixon's over-all performance.

Another 32 per cent replied "good" or "excellent" while 3 per cent answered "not sure," according to Harris. He said the results equalled an all-time low rating for Nixon recorded in late August.

The Quayle organization's telephone poll of 530 persons showed a 65 per cent unfavorable response, with 35 per cent favorable. The poll was commissioned by NBC News.

NBC also said 67 per cent of those queried in the Quayle poll believed Spiro T. Agnew was right to resign as vice president, while 21 per cent believed Agnew should have stayed in office and 12 per cent said they had no opinion.

At the same time 54 per cent of the Quayle sample rated Agnew's performance in office favorably, with 46 per cent responding unfavorably.

In the Harris poll, based on a national cross-section of 1,457 households, Nixon's rating on "inspiring confidence personally in the White House" was 73 per cent negative, 18 per cent positive — the lowest since Nixon took office.

Harris said 45 per cent of those surveyed denied Nixon is "a man of high integrity" while 40 per cent thought he is. According to Harris, it was the first time the balance had tipped toward unfavorable on that question.

The Harris poll, conducted Sept. 22-25, indicated inflation and Watergate as prime sources of unfavorable attitudes on Nixon.

Large U.S.. trade surplus predicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will roll up a large trade surplus next year and put the dollar on a sound footing, the head of the Export-Import Bank says.

Henry Kearns, in his last week as president of the bank that lends to foreign buyers of American products, said he foresees a 1974 surplus of between $3 billion and $5 billion.

That would be a massive turnaround in the international financial position of the United States, which piled up huge trade deficits the past two years.

Kearns said in an interview that there will be either a small surplus or small deficit in trading accounts this year.

The dollar will make its big recovery when a trade surplus is achieved because "It's just a matter of confidence in my view," he said.

Kearns described export controls as a "bunch of baloney" that the United States should avoid in the future. He said it was a mistake for the nation to control exports of soybeans and other products.

"You can't get in and out of markets," he said. "You have to develop a market, earn it and keep it."

Kearns defended the bank's decision to provide credit for Japanese buyers of U.S. cotton early this year, even though some cotton shortages developed when the sales were made.

"I think it was a ...good deal," he said. "If you want the Japanese market this year and next year and five years from now, you've got to take care of it every year."

No one could have foreseen the shortages when the cotton sales were under discussion, he said.

The Export-Import Bank, also known as the Ex-Im Bank, is a key agency in promoting the sale of American products abroad. Through a variety of methods it helps foreign buyers obtain either Ex-Im or private U.S. bank credit for their U.S. purchases.

Kearns said it would be shortsighted if the bank, under a new leader, decided to provide massive credit to the Soviet Union without getting full disclosure of how much gold and monetary reserves Russia holds.

The bank gets this kind of information on every other economy in the world where credits are extended, he said.

The Soviet Union has never released its gold figures or other monetary reserves.

Swedish aide expects thaw in U.S. relations

By GENE KRAMER
Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Sweden's foreign minister predicts a thaw in relations between his government and the United States but no forgiveness from President Nixon for Swedish attacks on American actions in Vietnam.

"Relations will probably never be 100 per cent perfect with President Nixon because he has taken such a personal, emotional stand toward the present Swedish government" over Nietnam, Foreign Minister Krister Wickman said Thursday in an interview.

"Relations are not good with the President, that's an obvious fact," Wickman continued. "Nixon will never change his opinion on Sweden's stand toward the Vietnam war, nor will the Swedish government change its stand toward Vietnam.

"These are facts, but they belong to history and we on the Swedish side don't regard them as a reason for not having normal diplomatic relations."

Coolness at the top level is the "one exception" to the otherwise good feeling between the Swedish and American people, Wickman said.

He said this was proved by a public opinion poll the Swedish government had taken in the United States last spring. The poll showed that Americans differentiated between criticism of the war in Vietnam and criticism of the United States, he reported.

"With all the close contact between Sweden and the United States, it's rather absurd not to have normal diplomatic relations," he said. "I think this will happen in the not too distant future."

The two countries have not had ambassadors in each other's capitals since 1972. The most recent flareup of ill feeling last December when Swedish Premier Olof Palme compared the U.S. bombing of Hanoi to Nazi atrocities in World War II.

Following this, the State Department told Sweden its new ambassador, Ynge Moeller, would not be welcome.

Wickman said Sweden well understood the Nixon administration's sensitivity because the criticism from Stockholm was the same as Washington was getting from its domestic critics.

Ironically, he said, the U.S.-Swedish falling-out probably occurred in the first place because Sweden is "so United States-oriented."

"Because of our close relations, what happens in the United States is immediately reflected in Sweden," he explained. "We had a Swedish debate over Vietnam that was a reflection of the American debate over Vietnam."

The minister made it clear Stockholm does not intend to stop criticizing Washington as the price of better relations.

"Our contribution to normalization will be to behave as usual on all issues and where our interests coincide we will support American policy, as we are doing on Secretary of State Kissinger's proposal for a world food conference," he said.

Cosmetics will have to list contents

WASHINGTON (AP) —The Food and Drug Administration said today it will require the nation's cosmetics manufacturers to tell women exactly what they are putting on their faces.

The agency said the manufacturers will be required to list on product labels after March 31, 1975, all ingredients except fragrances and flavore.

Commissioner Alexander M. Schmidt said ingredient labeling will help prevent consumer deception, promote comparison shopping and alert consumers to avoid cosmetics containing substances to which they know they are allergic.

A government commission estimated that cosmetics cause 60,000 injuries a year, ranging from rashes to burns, hair loss and eye damage.

The FDA's final order will be published in the Federal Register next Wednesday.

Ingredient labeling, never before mandatory, will apply to labels ordered after March 31, 1974, and all cosmetics labeled after March 31, 1975.

The FDA said the long delay is necessary "for the orderly disposal of all inventories carrying the old labeling."

Ingredients will have to be listed in descending order of predominance, using standard names from the new dictionary published by the Cosmetic, Toiletry and Fragrance Association, a trade organization.

Containers too small for detailed ingredient labels will be allowed to carry a card, tag or tape with the information.

Irish society award presented to Brennan

NEW YORK (AP) — "The time for rehetoric and hot air has come to an end," says Secretary of Labor Peter J. Brennan.

Brennan voiced a strong appeal for renewed support of President Nixon after receiving Thursday from First Lady Pat Nixon the American Irish Historical Society's award as the outstanding American of Irish lineage of 1973.

The Cabinet official asked for recognition of Nixon's efforts toward strengthening world peace and said they should not be overshadowed by the "acts of stupidity" of some individuals linked to the White House.

In an elaborate dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, Mrs. Nixon, the former Patricia Ryan, placed a gold medal suspended on a green ribbon around the neck of the silverhaired Brennan.

Some people say Fine Brandy means putting on the dog.

Wisconsin people say they're barking up the wrong tree.

In Wisconsin they know that Fine Brandy is for drinking. Not just for sniffing.

So instead of putting on a dog, they've been putting J. Bavet into their favorite mixed drinks, as well as savoring it straight.

It's not surprising. J. Bavet is so outrageously smooth, and its flavor is so convivial, it just has to be about the most mixable Fine Brandy around.

One more thing. You'll find (as so many other Wisconsin people have) that our price is just as easy to swallow as our brandy.

Movie review

Pleasing variation

BY BONNIE WAGNER

"Love and Pain and the Whole Damn Thing" (now playing at Marc 1) is largely a variation on "Love Story," but a mostly pleasing one.

Lovely English actress Maggie Smith (who won an Academy Award for her performance in "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie") is frail and bird-like as the ailing spinster who takes a tour of Spain to forget herself, something she is totally failing at until Timothy Bottoms appears.

Bottoms' character is a direct descendant of those young men seen in "The Graduate," "You're a Big Boy Now" and many less worthy efforts. He is lonely, confused and suffers from asthma. He was sent by his father to Spain, where he travels with a group of bike-hiking American students who are learning the language. Nothing could bore him more and he deserts them for a tourist bus on which he meets the English woman who will become his lover.

In the form of these things, he irritates her horribly at first, but she sees he means no harm. They grow to like each other, love each other and to depend on each other. Finally, they run off in a tiny car and trailer to see Spain on their own terms.

Their fledgling romance is beset by all sorts of disasters — the small trailer leaks in the rain, they get on each other's nerves, quarrel — but soon they get on with their idyllic relationship which could only exist in such a film.

Despite a script that is hackneyed and a whole theme that has been worn totally threadbare in the past three years, "Love and Pain" is a remarkable movie. It starts slowly, sketching in the two personalities, letting them come together in their own natural time and style. Bottoms is impressive in his expression of tenderness for his "older woman" and Smith is gorgeous as she responds and learns to enjoy herself.

Two small parts, a bird call expert and a Spanish duke, add mightily to the slim tale. Of course the on-location Spanish scenery speaks for itself.

"Love and Pain" is a thoughtful comedy, both bright and gentle. I recommend it.

A brand new 'Dracula'

8-10 Channels 2-7 — The CBS Friday Night Movies: Dracula is a brand new version of the classic tale of vampires filmed in Yugoslavia and England. It stars Jack Palance as Count Dracula, the dead man whose "life" is supported only by human blood. Although the material is familiar, it is still well handled, in a script that is spare in dialogue and manages to avoid cliche lines. Nigel Davenport nicely underplays the doctor who suspects the truth and Simon Ward (who played Churchill in "Young Winston") is the young man who loses his fiancee to Dracula's fangs.

7-7:30 Channel 5 —Sanford And Son is concerned with a $50 TV set which Fred (Redd Foxx) has bought from a man whose store is a panel truck. Grady (Whitman Mayo), his friend, insists the set really belongs to him, so Fred takes the sneaky way out and sells it to his next door neighbor.

7-7:30 Channels 9-11 — The Brady Bunch proves honesty is the best policy. Greg (Barry Williams) has a date with a dream girl, only her cousin is in town and he has to fix her up. No one wants a blind date, so he cons his younger brother (Christopher Knight) into acting as a sophisticated older fellow from another school and of course, the girl turns out to be a knockout.

7:30-8 Channels 2-7 — Roll Out! is improved over its premiere episode with a funny tale about a soldier whose will requests a New Orleans-type funeral, which he likens to "the Lord sending out a Welcome Wagon."

8-8:30 Channel 5 — It looks as if Nathan (Norman Fell) is finally getting rid of his brother-in-law Harry (Louis Nye) on Needles And Pins because Harry wants to be a producer. So Nathan offers to buy him out, then has trouble raising the money.

8:30-9 Channel 5 — Meanwhile, in Hawaii, there's a girl who is good enough to be on a Little League team, but she too runs into prejudice. This happens on The Brian Keith Show, and it's Brian who has the problem when he becomes coach. Seems he promised the girl (Dawn Lyn) she could play if he were coach.

8:30-9 Channels 9-11 —Adam's Rib is one of two competing shows dealing with the same subject: a girl playing baseball. Amanda and Adam (Blythe Danner and Ken Howard) are both trying to help Katey (Annie McEveety), who is better than any boy, but who has been tossed out by the Commissioner of the Midget League.

Senate sidetracks bingo bill debate

MADISON, Wis. (AP) —The Wisconsin Senate refused on a 15-13 vote to suspend rules Wednesday and take up controversial legislation which would legalize and regulate bingo in Wisconsin.

State Sen. Walter Hollander, R-Rosendale, had moved that the bill be referred to the Joint Committee on Finance but was thwarted when he attempted to remove the bill from that same committee and have it taken up immediately, which requires a two-thirds vote.

Sen. Roger Murphy, R-Waukesha, contended that more than 750,000 Wisconsin voters mandated in an April referendum that bingo be legalized.

The Senate then broke for a 15-minute caucus.

If you want to sell your old car ...

Let's say that you're among the millions planning to buy a new 1974 car in the months ahead and that you also plan to sell the car you now own to raise cash for your down payment.

You have two alternatives: turn in your car to the dealer and take whatever allowance he gives you for it against the price of your new car, or sell the car on your own and keep whatever profit the dealer might have taken on the transaction.

What are the pros and cons of selling your old car on your own? How can you find out how much it's worth and what is the best possible price for it in today's lucrative — if sometimes slippery — used-car marketplace?

Among possible disadvantages of doing the do-it-yourself route are: You'll have to do your own advertising and selling. You'll have to clean up the car yourself to put it into the most presentable condition for sale. And you'll have to find out yourself what is a realistic price for the car, considering its make, model, warranty status, age, mileage, looks and mechanical condition.

But you'll be able to keep the $500 to $600 or even more either a new-car dealer or used-car lot might take in profit on a sale or trade-in.

If you decide to sell the car yourself — as record numbers are doing these days — or if you merely want to be sure you are indeed getting the best possible deal on your old car, below are moves to make before you even discuss a trade-in with the new-car dealer:

Find out the approximate market value of your old car. Do not depend on a single dealer or the man at your local service station to quote you an asking price. Instead, ask several used-car dealers in your area what they would be willing to pay for your car. Also look up the wholesale and retail values of your car in the current issue of "Edmund's Used Car Prices" or ask the car loan department of your bank to check this value in the "Official Used Car Guide," published by the National Automobile Dealers Assn. The price you can expect to get for your car should be about midway between the wholesale and retail prices in such publications, after allowances for your car's appearance, mileage, the like.

Ask the new-car dealer how much the car would cost if you paid cash. Get a written quotation.

Then ask the new-car dealer how much the new car would cost with a trade-in of your old car (again getting a written quotation).

If the true trade-in allowance — the difference between the two quotes — is significantly less than what you could get from a used-car dealer or on the open market, you probably will want to sell the old car on your own and then take the cash deal for your new car.

Note what's important is not the "allowance" off the new car's price the dealer will give you for your old car but the balance you still will have to pay after the trade-in.

Visit other nearby dealers and compare the net deal — after trade-in — by each on the same new car with the same options and same warranty.

Consider the fact that you may have to pay a higher finance charge on your new car if you sell your own car, due to the fact that the dealer makes a profit on the finance charge by, in effect, lending you money at interest over a two-year period.

[illegible] advertising [illegible] the market [illegible] the [illegible] newspapers [illegible] the [illegible] advertisement [illegible] Be sure to [illegible] the [illegible] price for the car [illegible] the [illegible] buyers. [illegible] deal's responsible [illegible] classified ads [illegible] papers for shopping [illegible] the [illegible] buyer.

After you arrange meetings with possible buyers [illegible] their preferences for times. Be courteous but firm [illegible] your car. Do not permit [illegible] test drive [illegible] of the prospective buyer [illegible] you [illegible] driver's [illegible]

Be firm about the price [illegible] is in the [illegible] range. You may come down [illegible] price if the buyer looks right, but [illegible] by indicating the price is flexible.

If a buyer needs time to arrange financing, insist on a binder payment of 5 to 10 per cent of your asking price before you agree to hold it for him. And accept payment only in the form of cash or a cashier's check.

Ariens Co. head named trustee at St. Norbert

DE PERE — Michael Ariens, president of the Ariens Co., Brillion, was named to the Board of Trustees of St. Norbert College Wednesday at a meeting in the Sensenbrenner Memorial Union.

The action brings the college's total board membership to 29 trustees.

Ariens, a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, attended St. Norbert College from 1949 to 1952. He also holds a master's degree in business administration from Indiana University.

Before joining the Ariens Co., he served as administrative assistant to the chairman of the board for the Cummins Engine Co. He held the posts of works manager and vice president of operations at the Ariens Co. prior to assuming the presidency of the outdoor power equipment firm in 1969.

Ariens is a vice president and member of the board of directors of the Calumet County Bank; a member of the board of directors of Calumet County Hospital; a board member of the State Chamber of Commerce, commissioner of the Brillion Housing Authority; and a member of the board of directors of the Outdoor Power Equipment Institute.

Xavier plans fundraising

Three fund-raising activities for scholarships and capital improvement programs have been planned this month by Xavier High School.

Teachers, students, board members and parents plan to go up to Egg Harbor Sunday to pick apples, which will be sold by the bushel at various spots throughout the city.

The Boosters' Club will have a pancake breakfast from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. Oct. 21. The biggest student-sponsored event will be the annual pizza sale. The young people will take orders from Oct. 16-28 and make the pizzas at school Nov. 3, for immediate distribution.

The major fund-raising event of the year will be in May. That is the food festival, sponsored by the Xavier Board with assistance from the Catholic community. Last school year it involved foods from different parts of the world.

The premiere season of The American Film Theatre begins in less than three weeks.

Eight great contemporary plays rescued from the isolation of Broadway and London's West End, transformed into an unprecedented subscription series of eight great new motion pictures, by the world's most luminous writers, directors, stars.

Eight enchanted evenings. Eight marvelous matinees. It all starts October 29th and 30th at a movie theatre near you.

But you must act quickly. Seats are limited. And time is short.

If you haven't mailed in your subscription application, do it today. Each film will be shown only four times: two matinees and two evenings on a Monday and Tuesday each month. Unless you send in your subscription application right away, you may not have a chance to see them for years to come.

Fill out the coupon. Mail it in. Do it today.
